This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

+ Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.

+ Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.

+ Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.

+ Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

About Google Book Search

Google's mission is to organize the world's information and to make it universally accessible and useful. Google Book Search helps readers discover the world's books while helping authors and publishers reach new audiences. APPENDIX.

TERMS OF ADMISSION.

Candidates for admission to the Freshman, or lowest class, are examined in Caesar's Commentaries (5 Books), Sallust, Virgil (Eclogues, and Six Books of the Æneid), Cicero's Select Orations contained in the volume in Usum Delphini, Mair's Introduction to Latin Syntax, the Gospels in the Greek Testament, Dalzel's Collectanea Graeca Minora, or Jacob's Greek Reader, or other Authors equivalent in quantity, together with Latin and Greek Grammar, including Latin Prosody; also, on English Grammar, Arithmetic, Geography, ancient and modern.

Every Student admitted to a class higher than the Freshman, is examined on all the previous studies of the class which he wishes to enter.

An accurate and thorough acquaintance with the studies required for admission is indispensably necessary, in order to receive the full advantage of the College course.

It is found from experience, that Students imperfectly prepared for the classes which they enter, are embarrassed in their future progress—and are seldom able to repair the want of solid preparatory instruction.

To prevent disappointment, it should be distinctly understood, that an accurate and thorough knowledge of preliminary studies is more likely to ensure admission and to enable the student to improve the advantages of this Institution, than a superficial acquaintance with some higher branches of literature and science.

In all cases testimonials of moral character are required; and if the student has been a member of another College he must bring with him a certificate from the President or Faculty, that he is free from censure in that institution.

COURSE OF INSTRUCTION.

The whole course of instruction requires four years; namely, one year in each of the four classes into which the Students are divided.

The Freshman and Sophomore classes are instructed by the Professors, of Ancient and Modern Languages and of Mathematics, aided by the Tutors. The Junior and Senior classes by the President and Professors.

The studies of the several classes are as follows:

FRESHMAN CLASS.

Winter Session.	Summer Session.
Livy,	Horace, (Odes,)
Xenophon's Anabasis,	Æschines de Corona,
Roman Antiquities,	Latin and Greek Exercises,
Latin and Greek Exercises,	Algebra completed.

SOPHOMORE CLASS.

Winter Session.	Summer Session.
Horace, (Satires and Epistles,)	Cicero de Officiis, de Amicitia, et de Senectute,
Demosthenes de Corona,	Homer's Iliad,

Descriptive Geometry,	Mechanics, (Renwick's,)
Differential Calculus, (Young's,)	Cicero de Oratore,
Cicero de Oratore,	Sophocles,
Euripides,	Natural Theology, (Paley's,)
Philosophy of Mind,	Civil Architecture.

SENIOR CLASS.

Winter Session.	Summer Session.
Belles Lettres,	Moral Philosophy,
Logic,	Natural Philosophy, continued,
Political Economy,	Chemistry,
Natural Philosophy,	Constitution of the United States.
Astronomy,	General Review of Studies.
Latin Rhetorical Works,
Aristotle's Art of Poetry.

Instruction in the French, Spanish, German and Italian languages is given at the option of the Student, without extra charge.

All the classes have Bible recitations on the Sabbath, during which day they are also required to prepare a portion of the Greek Testament, to be recited on Monday morning.

All the Students are required frequently to produce original essays. Those of the three lower classes pronounce orations in alphabetical order in the presence of their respective classes. The members of the Senior class deliver orations of their own composition as often as the Faculty may direct.

LECTURES.

In addition to the recitations of the several classes, the following course of lectures are delivered on the principal branches of science and literature, namely, a course

On Moral Philosophy,	By the PRESIDENT,
On Rhetoric and English Literature,	By Prof. J. W. ALEXANDER.
On Astronomy,	By Prof. S. ALEXANDER.
On Chemistry,	By Prof. TORREY.
On Mineralogy,	Do.
On Botany,	By Prof. JÆGER.
On Zoology,	Do.
On Geology,	By Prof. HENRY.
On Mechanical Philosophy,	Do.
On Physics,	Do.
On Architecture,	By Prof. DOD.
On Political Economy,	Do.
On Greek Literature,	By Prof. MACLEAN.

Gentlemen not connected with the College have the privilege of attending the above lectures by making application to the several lecturers.

Other lectures are frequently given at the same hours in which the recitations are heard, and are therefore attended by none except the members of the several classes.

EXAMINATIONS.

Four public examinations take place during the College year: one in the middle, and one at the close of each session. Reports respecting the behaviour, diligence and scholarship of the Students, are sent to the parents or guardians after each examination.

English Grammar, Arithmetic and Geography being required for admission, are not included in the College course of instruction; but in order to secure attention to these studies, indispensably necessary in every situation of life, the classes are examined on them four times a year, and deficiencies, if any exist, are reported to parents and guardians.

LIBRARIES.

The College Library contains eight thousand volumes, and is opened twice every week for the accommodation of the Students. Resident graduates have the privilege of taking out books upon the same terms as under-graduates.

In the Libraries belonging to the two literary Societies there are about four thousand volumes. The total number, therefore, of volumes in the three Libraries is about twelve thousand.

TERMS AND VACATIONS.

The College year is divided into two Terms or Sessions. The Annual Commencement is on the last Wednesday of September: and the Winter Session begins six weeks from that time, and closes on the first Thursday after the second Tuesday in April. The Summer Session begins five weeks after the close of the Winter Session, and ends on the last Wednesday in September.

It is particularly recommended that all the Students, when practicable, spend their vacations at home with their parents or friends; or when this is inconvenient, that they take boarding elsewhere than in Princeton: since it is found that when a number of young persons are collected together without regular occupation or study, the temptations to idleness and dissipation are often too strong to be resisted.

It is highly important that the Students should return to College in time to attend the first recitations or lectures of their respective classes, since an absence of a few days at the time when a new branch of study is commenced, seldom fails to embarrass the whole course, and in some cases it is impossible to make up the loss.

APPARATUS.

The College possesses a valuable set of Philosophical, Astronomical and Chemical Apparatus; a well-selected Mineralogical Cabinet; a Museum of Natural History, and a large collection of Drawings for the illustration of the lectures on Architecture and Astronomy.

The Philosophical Apparatus has lately been enlarged by an importation of instruments from Europe. The Mineralogical Cabinet was originally established by the late Dr. Hosack of New York, and has received an important addition from the liberality of the Hon. Samuel Fowler of this state.

The Museum was founded by the late Elias Boudinot, LL.D. of New Jersey, and has lately been extended by the exertions of Dr. Torrey and Professor Jæger. The former has presented a thousand specimens of plants from the vicinity of Princeton, and the latter has made an extensive Entomological collection.

EXPENSES.

The stated Expenses of the College each session, paid in advance, exclusive of books, clothes, lights, room furniture and travelling expenses, are as follows, viz.

WINTER SESSION.			SUMMER SESSION.
Board 22 weeks,	$55 00 or	$41 25	Board 19 weeks,	$47 50 or	$35 62

There are two Refectories, at one of which Board is furnished at $2 50 per week; at the other for $1 87½ per week.

Thirteen dollars are advanced for fuel; if less be consumed than amounts to this sum, the surplus is returned; if more, the deficiency is charged to the Student.

Those who dispense with the attendance of servants in their rooms, have a deduction of three dollars a session from their bills.

New Students pay five dollars entrance, and thirty-three cents for a copy of the printed laws.

When a Student is dismissed from College for any cause, the whole amount advanced for board, washing and fuel, from the time of dismission, will be refunded to the order of his parent or guardian.

PROVISION FOR YOUNG MEN WHO HAVE IN VIEW THE GOSPEL MINISTRY.

At a meeting of the Board of Trustees, it was resolved that boarding be offered to pious and indigent young men, who have in view the gospel ministry, at the rate of one dollar per week. And that the balance which may be due to the Steward, at the present price of boarding, be paid by the Board out of funds to be provided for that purpose.

PUBLIC EXERCISES.

The ANNUAL COMMENCEMENT takes place on the last Wednesday of September.

On the day preceding the Commencement an Oration is delivered before the two Literary Societies by a graduate member of one of them.

The Orator for the current year is PETER MCCALL, ESQ., of Philadelphia.

On the evening preceding the Commencement, orations are delivered by Junior members of both Societies.

The annual meeting of the Alumni Association of Nassau Hall is held in the College Chapel, on Commencement Day, at nine o'clock, A. M.

Communications for this Society may be addressed to W. C. Alexander, Esq.

RECENT IMPROVEMENTS.

It may be interesting to the friends and graduates of the College, and to those who have subscribed to the Alumni fund, to be informed that in addition to the new College buildings erected within a few years, the literary Societies have erected for their own use two new Halls. These are beautiful buildings of the Ionic order, sixty-two feet long, forty-one feet wide, and two stories high; the columns of the Porticos are copied from those of the Temple on the Ilissus. A Temple in the Island of Teos is a model of the buildings in other respects.

Also the building formerly known as the Refectory has been enlarged and entirely refitted. The suit of apartments in the upper story is now exclusively devoted to the Cabinet of Natural Philosophy and a large lecture room. The rooms on the first floor are occupied by the Museum, the Mineralogical Cabinet and the Chemical Laboratory.

The Halls formerly occupied by the two Societies have been converted into commodious recitation and lecture rooms.

The College grounds have of late been much improved, and a substantial and elegant iron fence has been erected in front of the College green.

APPENDIX.

TERMS OF ADMISSION.

Candidates for admission to the Freshman, or lowest class, are examined in Caesar's Commentaries (5 books), Sallust, Virgil (Eclogues, and Six Books of the Æneid), Cicero's Select Orations contained in the volume in Usum Delphini, Mair's Introduction to Latin Syntax, the Gospels in the Greek Testament, Dalzel's Collectanea Graeca Minora, or Jacob's Greek Reader, or other Authors equivalent in quantity, together with Latin and Greek Grammar, including Latin Prosody; also, on English Grammar, Arithmetic, Geography, ancient and modern.

Every Student admitted to a class higher than the Freshman, is examined on all the previous studies of the class which he wishes to enter.

An accurate and thorough acquaintance with the studies required for admission is indispensably necessary, in order to receive the full advantage of the College course.

It is found from experience, that Students imperfectly prepared for the classes which they enter, are embarrassed in their future progress—and are seldom able to repair the want of solid preparatory instruction.

To prevent disappointment, it should be distinctly understood, that an accurate and thorough knowledge of preliminary studies is more likely to ensure admission and to enable the student to improve the advantages of this Institution, than a superficial acquaintance with some higher branches of literature and science.

In all cases testimonials of moral character are required; and if the student has been a member of another College he must bring with him a certificate from the President or Faculty, that he is free from censure in that institution.

COURSE OF INSTRUCTION.

The whole course of instruction requires four years; namely, one year in each of the four classes into which the Students are divided.

The Freshman and Sophomore classes are instructed by the Professors, of Ancient and Modern Languages and of Mathematics, aided by the Tutors. The Junior and Senior classes by the President and Professors.

The studies of the several classes are as follows:

FRESHMAN CLASS.

WINTER SESSION.	SUMMER SESSION.
Livy,	Horace, (Odes,)
Xenophon's Anabasis,	Æschines de Corona,
Roman Antiquities,	Latin and Greek Exercises,

Natural Philosophy,	Constitution of the United States,
Astronomy,	General Review of Studies.
Latin Rhetorical Works,
Aristotle's Art of Poetry.

Instruction in the French, Spanish, and Italian languages is given at the option of the Student, without extra charge.

All the classes have Bible recitations on the Sabbath, during which day they are also required to prepare a portion of the Greek Testament, to be recited on Monday morning.

All the Students are required frequently to produce original essays. Those of the three lower classes pronounce orations in alphabetical order in the presence of their respective classes. The members of the Senior class deliver orations of their own composition as often as the Faculty may direct.

LECTURES.

In addition to the recitations of the several classes, the following courses of lectures are delivered on the principal branches of science and literature, namely, a course

On Moral Philosophy, ...	By the PRESIDENT.
On Rhetoric and English Literature, . .	By Prof. J. W. ALEXANDER.
On Astronomy, ...	By Prof. S. ALEXANDER.
On Chemistry, ...	By Prof. TORREY.
On Mineralogy, ...	Do.
On Botany, ...	Do.
On Geology, ...	By Prof. HENRY.
On Mechanical Philosophy, . . .	Do.
On Physics, ...	Do.
On Architecture, ...	By Prof. DON.
On Political Economy, ...	Do.
On Greek Literature, ...	By Prof. MACLEAN.

Gentlemen not connected with the College have the privilege of attending the above lectures by making application to the several lecturers.

Other lectures are frequently given at the same hours in which the recitations are heard, and are therefore attended by none except the members of the several classes.

EXAMINATIONS.

Four public examinations take place during the College year: one in the middle, and one at the close of each session. Reports respecting the behaviour, diligence and scholarship of the Students, are sent to the parents or guardians after each examination.

English Grammar, Arithmetic and Geography being required for admission, are not included in the College course of instruction; but in order to secure attention to these studies, indispensably necessary in every situation of life, the classes are examined on them four times a year, and deficiencies, if any exist, are reported to parents and guardians.

LIBRARIES.

The College Library contains about eight thousand five hundred volumes, and is opened twice every week for the accommodation of the Students. Resident graduates have the privilege of taking out books upon the same terms as under graduates.

In the Libraries belonging to the two literary Societies there are about six thousand volumes. The total number, therefore, of volumes in the three Libraries is about fourteen thousand five hundred.

TERMS AND VACATIONS.

The College year is divided into two Terms or Sessions. The Annual Commencement is on the last Wednesday of September: and the Winter Session begins six weeks from that time, and closes on the first Thursday after the second Tuesday in April. The Summer Session begins five weeks after the close of the Winter Session, and ends on the last Wednesday in September.

It is particularly recommended that all the Students, when practicable, spend their vacations at home with their parents or friends; or when this is inconvenient, that they take boarding elsewhere than in Princeton: since it is found that when a number of young persons are collected together without regular occupation or study, the temptations to idleness and dissipation are often too strong to be resisted.

It is highly important that the Students should return to College in time to attend the first recitations or lectures of their respective classes, since an absence of a few days at the time when a new branch of study is commenced, seldom fails to embarrass the whole course, and in some cases it is impossible to make up the loss.

APPARATUS.

The College possesses a valuable set of Philosophical, Astronomical and Chemical Apparatus; a well-selected Mineralogical Cabinet; a Museum of Natural History, and a large collection of Drawings for the illustration of the lectures on Architecture and Astronomy.

The Philosophical Apparatus has lately been enlarged by an importation of instruments from Europe. The Mineralogical Cabinet was originally established by the late Dr. Hosack of New York, and has received an important addition from the liberality of the Hon. Samuel Fowler of this state.

The Museum was founded by the late Elias Boudinot, LL.D. of New Jersey, and has lately been extended by the exertions of Dr. Torrey and Professor Jæger. The former has presented a thousand specimens of plants from the vicinity of Princeton, and the latter has made an extensive Entomological collection.

EXPENSES.

The stated Expenses of the College each session, paid in advance, exclusive of books, clothes, lights, room furniture and travelling expenses, are as follows, viz.

WINTER SESSION.			SUMMER SESSION.
Board 22 weeks,	$55 00 or	$41 25	Board 19 weeks,	$47 50 or	$35 62
Tuition,	20 00	20 00	Tuition,	20 00	20 00

	$109 50	$92 75		$89 50	$74 62

There are two Refectories, at one of which Board is furnished at $2 50 per week; at the other for $1 87½ per week.

Thirteen dollars are advanced for fuel; if less be consumed than amounts to this sum, the surplus is returned; if more, the deficiency is charged to the Student.

Those who dispense with the attendance of servants in their rooms, have a deduction of three dollars a session from their bills.

New Students pay five dollars entrance, and thirty-three cents for a copy of the printed laws.

When a Student is dismissed from College for any cause, the whole amount advanced for board, washing, and fuel from the time of dismission, will be refunded to the order of his parent or guardian.

PROVISION FOR YOUNG MEN WHO HAVE IN VIEW THE GOSPEL MINISTRY.

At a meeting of the Board of Trustees, it was resolved that boarding be offered to pious and indigent young men, who have in view the gospel ministry, at the rate of one dollar per week. And that the balance which may be due to the Steward, at the present price of boarding, be paid by the Board out of funds to be provided for that purpose.

PUBLIC EXERCISES.

The ANNUAL COMMENCEMENT takes place on the last Wednesday of September.

On the day preceding the Commencement an oration is delivered before the two Literary Societies by a graduate member of one of them.

The orator for the current year is the Hon. JAMES IREDILL, Esq. of North Carolina.

On the evening preceding the Commencement, orations are delivered by Junior members of both Societies.

The annual meeting of the Alumni Association of Nassau Hall is held in the College Chapel, on Commencement Day. SAMUEL J. WILKIN, Esq. of New York, delivers the next annual Address.

Communications for this Society may be sent to W. C. Alexander, Esq., Princeton.

RECENT IMPROVEMENTS.

It may be interesting to the friends and graduates of the College, and to those who have subscribed to the Alumni fund, to be informed that in addition to the new College buildings erected within a few years, the literary Societies have erected for their own use two new Halls. These are beautiful buildings of the Ionic order, sixty-two feet long, forty-one feet wide, and two stories high; the columns of the Porticos are copied from those of the Temple on the Illissus. A Temple in the Island of Teos is a model of the buildings in other respects.

Also the building formerly known as the Refectory has been enlarged and entirely refitted. The suit of apartments in the upper story is now exclusively devoted to the Cabinet of Natural Philosophy and a large Lecture room. The rooms on the first floor are occupied by the Museum, the Mineralogical Cabinet and the Chemical Laboratory.

The Halls formerly occupied by the two Societies have been converted into commodious recitation and lecture rooms.

The College grounds have of late been much improved, and a substantial and elegant iron fence has been erected in front of the College green.

APPENDIX.

TERMS OF ADMISSION.

Candidates for admission to the Freshman, or lowest class, are examined in Caesar's Commentaries (5 books), Sallust, Virgil (Eclogues, and Six Books of the Æneid), Cicero's Select Orations contained in the volume in Usum Delphini, Mair's Introduction to Latin Syntax, the Gospels in the Greek Testament, Dalzel's Collectanea Graeca Minora, or Jacob's Greek Reader, or other Authors equivalent in quantity, together with Latin and Greek Grammar, including Latin Prosody; also, on English Grammar, Arithmetic, Geography, ancient and modern.

Every Student admitted to a class higher than the Freshman, is examined on all the previous studies of the class which he wishes to enter.

An accurate and thorough acquaintance with the studies required for admission is indispensably necessary, in order to receive the full advantage of the College course.

It is found from experience, that Students imperfectly prepared for the classes which they enter, are embarrassed in their future progress—and are seldom able to repair the want of solid preparatory instruction.

To prevent disappointment, it should be distinctly understood, that an accurate and thorough knowledge of preliminary studies is more likely to insure admission and to enable the Student to improve the advantages of this Institution, than a superficial acquaintance with some higher branches of literature and science.

In all cases testimonials of moral character are required; and if the Student has been a member of another College he must bring with him a certificate from the President or Faculty, that he is free from censure in that institution.

COURSE OF INSTRUCTION.

The whole course of instruction requires four years; namely, one year in each of the four classes into which the Students are divided.

The Freshman and Sophomore Classes are instructed by the Professors, of Ancient and Modern Languages and of Mathematics, aided by the Tutors. The Junior and Senior Classes by the President and Professors.

The studies of the several Classes are as follows:

Freshman Class.

WINTER SESSION.	SUMMER SESSION.
Livy,	Horace, (Odes,)
Xenophon's Anabasis,	Æschines de Corona,
Roman Antiquities,	Latin and Greek Exercises,
Latin and Greek Exercises,	Algebra completed.

Natural Philosophy,	Chemistry,
Astronomy,	Constitution of the United States,
Latin Rhetorical Works,	General Review of Studies.
Aristotle's Art of Poetry.

All the Classes have Bible recitations on the Sabbath, during which day they are also required to prepare a portion of the Greek Testament, to be recited on Monday morning.

All the Students are required frequently to produce original essays. Those of the three lower classes pronounce orations in alphabetical order in the presence of their respective classes. The members of the Senior Class deliver orations of their own composition as often as the Faculty may direct.

LECTURES.

In addition to the recitations of the several Classes, the following courses of lectures are delivered on the principal branches of science and literature, namely, a course

On Moral Philosophy, ...	By the PRESIDENT.
On Greek Literature, ...	By Prof. MACLEAN.
On Architecture, ...	By Prof. DOD.
On Political Economy, ...	Do.
On Geology, ...	By Prof. HENRY.
On Mechanical Philosophy	Do.
On Physics, ...	Do.
On Rhetoric and English Literature, . .	By Prof. J. W. ALEXANDER.
On Chemistry, ...	By Prof. TORREY.
On Mineralogy, ...	Do.
On Botany, ...	Do.
On Astronomy, ...	By Prof. S. ALEXANDER.

Gentlemen not connected with the College have the privilege of attending the above lectures by making application to the several lecturers.

Other lectures are frequently given at the same hours in which the recitations are heard, and are therefore attended by none except the members of the several Classes.

EXAMINATIONS.

Four public examinations take place during the College year: one in the middle, and one at the close of each session. Absence from these examinations is found to be very injurious to the improvement of a student, and renders him liable to be placed in a lower class. Reports respecting the behaviour, diligence and scholarship of the students, are sent to the parents or guardians after each examination.

English Grammar, Arithmetic, and Geography, being required for admission, are not included in the College course of instruction; but in order to secure attention to these studies, indispensably necessary in every situation of life, the Classes are examined on them four times a year, and deficiencies, if any exist, are reported to parents and guardians.

LIBRARIES.

The College Library contains about eight thousand five hundred volumes, and is opened twice every week for the accommodation of the Students. Resident graduates have the privilege of taking out books upon the same terms as under graduates.

In the libraries belonging to the two literary Societies there are about six thousand volumes. The total number, therefore, of volumes in the three Libraries is about fourteen thousand five hundred.

TERMS AND VACATIONS.

The College year is divided into two Terms or Sessions. The Annual Commencement is on the last Wednesday of September: and the Winter Session begins six weeks from that time, and closes on the first Thursday after the second Tuesday in April. The Summer Session begins five weeks after the close of the Winter Session, and ends on the last Wednesday in September.

It is particularly recommended that all the Students, when practicable, spend their vacations at home with their parents or friends; or when this is inconvenient, that they take boarding elsewhere than in Princeton: since it is found that when a number of young persons are collected together without regular occupation or study, the temptations to idleness and dissipation are often too strong to be resisted.

It is highly important that the students should return to College in time to attend the first recitations or lectures of their respective classes, since an absence of a few days at the time when a new branch of study is commenced, seldom fails to embarrass the whole course, and in some cases it is impossible to make up the loss.

APPARATUS.

The College possesses a valuable set of Philosophical, Astronomical and Chemical Apparatus; a well-selected Mineraogical Cabinet; a Museum of Natural History, and a large collection of Drawings for the illustration of the lectures on Architecture and Astronomy.

The Philosophical Apparatus has lately been enlarged by an importation of instruments from Europe. The Mineralogical Cabinet was originally established by the late Dr. Hosack of New York, and has received an important addition from the liberality of the Hon. Samuel Fowler of this state.

The Museum was founded by the late Elias Boudinot, LL.D. of New Jersey, and has lately been extended by the exertions of Dr. Torrey and Professor Jæger. The former has presented a thousand specimens of plants from the vicinity of Princeton, and the latter has made an extensive Entomological collection.

EXPENSES.

The stated Expenses of the College each session, paid in advance, exclusive of books, clothes, lights, room furniture and travelling expenses, are as follows, viz.

WINTER SESSION.			SUMMER SESSION.
Board, 22 weeks,	$49 50 or	$38 50	Board, 19 weeks,	$42 75 or	$33 25
Tuition,	25 00	25 00	Tuition,	25 00	25 00

	$109 00	$95 00		$89 75	$77 25

There are two Refectories, at one of which Board is furnished at $2 25 per week; at the other for $1 75 per week.

Thirteen dollars are advanced for fuel; if less be consumed than amounts to this sum, the surplus is returned; if more, the deficiency is charged to the Student.

Those who dispense with the attendance of servants in their rooms, have a deduction of three dollars a session from their bills.

New Students pay five dollars entrance, and thirty-three cents for a copy of the printed laws.

When a Student is dismissed from College for any cause, the whole amount advanced for board, washing, and fuel from the time of dismission, will be refunded to the order of his parent or guardian.

PROVISION FOR YOUNG MEN WHO HAVE IN VIEW THE GOSPEL MINISTRY.

At a meeting of the Board of Trustees, it was resolved that boarding be offered to pious and indigent young men, who have in view the gospel ministry, at the rate of one dollar per week. And that the balance which may be due to the Steward, at the present price of boarding, be paid by the Board out of funds to be provided for that purpose.

PUBLIC EXERCISES.

The ANNUAL COMMENCEMENT takes place on the last Wednesday of September.

On the day preceding the Commencement an oration is delivered before the two Literary Societies by a graduate member of one of them.

The orator for the current year is the Hon. WILLIAM L. DAYTON, of New Jersey.

On the evening preceding the Commencement, orations are delivered by Junior members of both Societies.

The annual meeting of the Alumni Association of Nassau Hall is held in the College Chapel, on Commencement day.

Communications for this Society may be sent to W. C. Alexander, Esq., Princeton.

APPENDIX.

TERMS OF ADMISSION.

Candidates for admission to the Freshman, or lowest class, are examined in Caesar's Commentaries (5 books), Sallust, Virgil (Eclogues, and Six Books of the Æneid), Cicero's Select Orations contained in the volume in Usum Delphini, Mair's Introduction to Latin Syntax, the Gospels in the Greek Testament, Dalzel's Collectanea Graeca Minora, or Jacob's Greek Reader, or other Authors equivalent in quantity, together with Latin and Greek Grammar, including Latin Prosody; also, on English Grammar, Arithmetic, Geography, ancient and modern.

Every Student admitted to a class higher than the Freshman, is examined on all the previous studies of the class which he wishes to enter.

An accurate and thorough acquaintance with the studies required for admission is indispensably necessary, in order to receive the full advantage of the College course.

It is found from experience, that Students imperfectly prepared for the classes which they enter, are embarrassed in their future progress—and are seldom able to repair the want of solid preparatory instruction.

To prevent disappointment, it should be distinctly understood, that an accurate and thorough knowledge of preliminary studies is more likely to insure admission and to enable the Student to improve the advantages of this Institution, than a superficial acquaintance with some higher branches of literature and science.

In all cases testimonials of moral character are required; and if the Student has been a member of another College he must bring with him a certificate from the President or Faculty, that he is free from censure in that institution.

COURSE OF INSTRUCTION.

The whole course of instruction requires four years; namely, one year in each of the four classes into which the Students are divided.

The Freshman and Sophomore Classes are instructed by the Professors, of Ancient and Modern Languages and of Mathematics, aided by the Tutors. The Junior and Senior Classes by the President and Professors.

The studies of the several Classes are as follows:

Freshman Class.

FIRST TERM.	SECOND TERM.
Livy,	Horace, (Odes,)
Xenophon's Anabasis,	Xenophon's Memorabilia.
Archæology,	Latin and Greek Exercises,
Latin and Greek Exercises,	Algebra completed.

Aristotle's Art of Poetry.	Geology,
	General Review of Studies.

All the Classes have Bible recitations on the Sabbath, during which day they are also required to prepare a portion of the Greek Testament, to be recited on Monday morning.

All the Students are required frequently to produce original essays. Those of the three lower classes pronounce orations in alphabetical order in the presence of their respective classes. The members of the Senior Class deliver orations of their own composition as often as the Faculty may direct.

LECTURES.

In addition to the recitations of the several Classes, the following courses of lectures are delivered on the principal branches of science and literature, namely, a course

On Moral Philosophy,	By the PRESIDENT.
On Greek Literature,	By Prof. MACLEAN.
On Architecture,	By Prof. DOD.
On Political Economy,	Do.
On Geology,	By Prof. HENRY.
On Mechanical Philosophy	Do.
On Physics,	Do.
On Rhetoric and English Literature,	By Prof. J. W. ALEXANDER.
On Chemistry,	By Prof. TORREY.
On Mineralogy,	Do.
On Botany,	Do.
On Astronomy,	By Prof. S. ALEXANDER.
On Mathematical and Physical Geography,	Do.

Gentlemen not connected with the College have the privilege of attending the above lectures by making application to the several lecturers.

Other lectures are frequently given at the same hours in which the recitations are heard, and are therefore attended by none except the members of the several Classes.

EXAMINATIONS.

Four public examinations take place during the College year: one in the middle, and one at the close of each session. Absence from these examinations is found to be very injurious to the improvement of a student, and renders him liable to be placed in a lower class. Reports respecting the behaviour, diligence and scholarship of the students, are sent to the parents or guardians after each examination.

English Grammar, Arithmetic, and Geography, being required for admission, are not included in the College course of instruction; but in order to secure attention to these studies, indispensably necessary in every situation of life, the Classes are examined on them four times a year, and deficiencies, if any exist, are reported to parents and guardians.

LIBRARIES.

The College Library contains about eight thousand five hundred volumes, and is opened twice every week for the accommodation of the Students. Resident graduates have the privilege of taking out books upon the same terms as under graduates.

In the libraries belonging to the two literary Societies there are about six thousand volumes. The total number, therefore, of volumes in the three Libraries is about fourteen thousand five hundred.

TERMS AND VACATIONS.

The College year is divided into two Terms or Sessions. The Annual Commencement is on the last Wednesday in June: and the first term of the College year begins six weeks from that time, (this year the 8th of August) and closes on Thursday of the week before Christmas, (Dec. 19th.) The Second Term begins six weeks from the last mentioned time and ends on the last Wednesday of June—the day of the Annual Commencement.

It is particularly recommended that all the Students, when practicable, spend their vacations at home with their parents or friends; or when this is inconvenient, that they take boarding elsewhere than in Princeton: since it is found that when a number of young persons are collected together without regular occupation or study, the temptations to idleness and dissipation are often too strong to be resisted.

It is highly important that the students should return to College in time to attend the first recitations or lectures of their respective classes, since an absence of a few days at the time when a new branch of study is commenced, seldom fails to embarrass the whole course, and in some cases it is impossible to make up the loss.

APPARATUS.

The College posesses a vauable set of Philosophical, Astronomical and Chemical Apparatus; a well selected Mineralogical Cabinet; a Museum of Natural History, and a large collection of Drawings for the illustration of the lectures on Architecture, Astronomy and Natural Philosophy.

The Philosophical Apparatus has lately been enlarged by an importation of instruments from Europe. The Mineralogical Cabinet was originally established by the late Dr. Hosack of New York, and has received an important addition from the liberality of the late Hon. Samuel Fowler of this state.

The Museum was founded by the late Elias Boudinot, LL.D. of New Jersey, and has lately been extended by the exertions of Dr. Torrey and Professor Jæger. The former has presented a thousand specimens of plants from the vicinity of Princeton, and the latter has made an extensive Entomological collection.

EXPENSES.

The stated Expenses of the College each session, paid in advance, exclusive of books, clothes, lights, room furniture and travelling expense, are as follows, viz.

FIRST TERM.			SECOND TERM.
Board, 19 weeks,	$42 75 or	$33 25	Board, 21 weeks,	$47 25 or	$36 75
Tuition,	25 00	25 00	Tuition,	25 00	25 00
Room Rent,	6 00	6 00	Room Rent,	6 00	6 00
Fuel,	7 00	7 00	Fuel,	6 00	6 00
Library,	1 00	1 00	Library,	1 00	1 00
Servant,	4 00	2 00	Servant,	4 00	2 00
Washing,	7 00	7 00	Washing,	7 00	7 00
Incidental,	3 50	2 50	Incidental,	3 50	2 50
	$96 25	$83 75		$99 75	$86 25

There are two Refectories, at one of which Board is furnished at $2 25 per week; at the other for $1 75 per week.

Under certain restrictions, Students, with the consent of parents or guardians, are permitted to take their meals in private families, and in this case boarding varies from $2 50 to $3 50 per week.

No Student is permitted to take a room or to lodge out of the College buildings unless all the rooms belonging to the College are occupied.

The sums above stated are advanced for fuel; if less be consumed than amounts to the moneys advanced, the surplus is returned; if more the deficiency is charged to the Student.

Those who dispense with the attendance of servants in their rooms, have a deduction of three dollars a session from their bills.

New Students pay five dollars entrance, and thirty-three cents for a copy of the printed laws.

When a Student is dismissed from College for any cause, the whole amount advanced for board, washing, and fuel from the time of dismission, will be refunded to the order of his parent or guardian.

PROVISION FOR YOUNG MEN WHO HAVE IN VIEW THE GOSPEL MINISTRY.

At a meeting of the Board of Trustees, it was resolved that boarding be offered to pious and indigent young men, who have in view the gospel ministry, at the rate of one dollar per week. And that the balance which may be due to the Steward, at the present price of boarding, be paid by the Board out of funds to be provided for that purpose.

PUBLIC EXERCISES.

The ANNUAL COMMENCEMENT takes place on the last Wednesday of June.

On the day preceding the Commencement an oration is delivered before the two Literary Societies by a graduate member of one of them.

The orator for the current year is ALEXANDER E. BROWN, Esq., of Easton, Pa.

On the evening preceding the Commencement, orations are delivered by Junior members of both Societies.

The annual meeting of the Alumni Association of Nassau Hall is held in the College Chapel on Commencement day.

Communications for this Society may be sent to W. C. Alexander, Esq., Princeton.

TERMS OF ADMISSION.

Candidates for admission to the Freshman, or lowest class, are examined in Caesar's Commentaries (5 books), Sallust, Virgil (Eclogues, and Six Books of the Æneid), Cicero's Select Orations contained in the volume in Usum Delphini, Mair's Introduction to Latin Syntax, the Gospels in the Greek Testament, Dalzel's Collectanea Graeca Minora, or Jacob's Greek Reader, or other Authors equivalent in quantity, together with Latin and Greek Grammar, including Latin Prosody; also, on English Grammar, Arithmetic, Geography, ancient and modern.

Every student admitted to a class higher than the Freshman, is examined on all the previous studies of the class which he wishes to enter.

An accurate and thorough acquaintance with the studies required for admission is indispensably necessary, in order to receive the full advantage of the College course.

It is found from experience, that Students imperfectly prepared for the classes which they enter, are embarrassed in their future progress—and are seldom able to repair the want of solid preparatory instruction.

To prevent disappointment, it should be distinctly understood, that an accurate and thorough knowledge of preliminary studies is more likely to insure admission and to enable the Student to improve the advantages of this Institution, than a superficial acquaintance with some higher branches of literature and science.

In all cases testimonials of moral character are required; and if the Student has been a member of another College he must bring with him a certificate from the President or Faculty, that he is free from censure in that institution.

COURSE OF INSTRUCTION.

The whole course of instruction requires four years; namely, one year in each of the four classes into which the Students are divided.

The Freshman and Sophomore Classes are instructed by the Professors, of Ancient and Modern Languages and of Mathematics, aided by the Tutors. The Junior and Senior Classes by the President and Professors.

The studies of the several Classes are as follows

FRESHMAN CLASS.

Political Economy,	Natural Philosophy, continued,
Natural Philosophy,	Astronomy, continued,
Astronomy,	Chemistry,
Latin Rhetorical Works,	Mineralogy,
Aristotle's Art of Poetry.	Geology,
	General Review of Studies.

All the Classes have Bible recitations on the Sabbath, and also a recitation in the Greek Testament, or on the evidences of Christianity, on Monday morning.

All the Students are required frequently to produce original essays. Those of the three lower classes pronounce orations in alphabetical order in the presence of their respective classes. The members of the Senior Class deliver orations of their own composition as often as the Faculty may direct.

LECTURES.

In addition to the recitations of the several Classes, the following courses of lectures are delivered on the principal branches of science and literature, namely, a course

On Moral Philosophy, ...	By the PRESIDENT.
On Greek Literature, ...	By Prof. MACLEAN.
On Architecture, ...	By Prof. DOD.
On Political Economy, ...	Do.
On Geology, ...	By Prof. HENRY.
On Mechanical Philosophy, ...	Do.
On Physics, ...	Do.
On Chemistry, ...	By Prof. TORREY.
On Mineralogy, ...	Do.
On Botany, ...	Do.
On Astronomy, ...	By Prof. S. ALEXANDER.
On Mathematical and Physical Geography, .	Do.

Gentlemen not connected with the College have the privilege of attending the above lectures by making application to the several lecturers.

Other lectures are frequently given at the same hours in which the recitations are heard, and are therefore attended by none except the members of the several Classes.

EXAMINATIONS.

Four public examinations take place during the College year: one in the middle, and one at the close of each session. Absence from these examinations is found to be very injurious to the improvement of a student, and renders him liable to be placed in a lower class. Reports respecting the behaviour, diligence and scholarship of the students, are sent to the parents or guardians after each examination.

English Grammar, Arithmetic, and Geography, being required for admission, are not included in the College course of instruction; but in order to secure attention to these studies, indispensably necessary in every situation of life, the Classes are examined on them four times a year, and deficiencies, if any exist, are reported to parents and guardians.

LIBRARIES.

The College Library contains about eight thousand five hundred volumes, and is opened twice every week for the accommodation of the Students. Resident graduates have the privilege of taking out books upon the same terms as under graduates.

In the libraries belonging to the two literary Societies there are about six thousand volumes. The total number, therefore, of volumes in the three Libraries is about fourteen thousand five hundred.

TERMS AND VACATIONS.

The College year is divided into two Terms or Sessions. The Annual Commencement is on the last Wednesday in June: and the first term of the College year begins six weeks from that time, (this year the 7th of August) and closes on Thursday of the week before Christmas, (Dec. 18th.) The second Term begins six weeks from the last mentioned time and ends on the last Wednesday of June—the day of the Annual Commencement.

It is particularly recommended that all the Stndents, when practicable, spend their vacations at home with their parents or friends; or when this is inconvenient, that they take boarding elsewhere than in Princeton: since it is found that when a number of young persons are collected together without regular occupation or study, the temptations to idleness and dissipation are often too strong to be resisted.

APPARATUS.

The College possesses a valuable set of Philosophical, Astronomical and Chemical Apparatus; a well selected Mineralogical Cabinet; a Museum of Natural History, and a large collection of Drawings for the illustration of the lectures on Architecture, Astronomy, and Natural Philosophy.

The Philosophical Apparatus has lately been enlarged by an importation of instruments from Europe. The Mineralogical Cabinet was originally established by the late Dr. Hosack of New York, and has received an important addition from the liberality of the late Hon. Samuel Fowler of this state.

The Museum was founded by the late Elias Boudinot, LL.D., of New Jersey, and has lately been extended by the exertions of Dr. Torrey and Professor Jæger. The former has presented a thousand specimens of plants from the vicinity of Princeton, and the latter has made an extensive Entomological collection.

EXPENSES.

The stated Expenses of the College each session, paid in advance, exclusive of books, clothes, lights, room furniture, and travelling expenses, are as follows, viz.

FIRST TERM.			SECOND TERM.
Board, 19 weeks,	$42 75 or	$33 25	Board, 21 weeks,	$47 25 or	$36 75
Tuition,	25 00	25 00	Tuition,	25 00	25 00
Room Rent,	6 00	6 00	Room Rent,	6 00	6 00

Library,	1 00	1 00	Library,	1 00	1 00
Servant's wages,	4 00	2 00	Servants,	4 00	2 00
Washing,	7 00	7 00	Washing,	7 00	7 00
Incidental,	3 50	2 50	Incidental,	3 50	2 50
	$96 25	$83 75		$100 75	$87 25

There are two Refectories, at one of which Board is furnished at $2 25 per week; at the other for $1 75 per week.

Under certain restrictions, Students, with the consent of parents or guardians, are permitted to take their meals in private families, and in this case boarding varies from $2 50 to $3 50 per week.

No Student is permitted to take a room or to lodge out of the College buildings unless all the rooms belonging to the College are occupied.

The sums above stated are advanced for fuel; if less be consumed than amounts to the moneys advanced, the surplus is returned; if more, the deficiency is charged to the Student.

New Students pay five dollars entrance, and thirty-three cents for a copy of the printed laws.

When a Student is dismissed from College for any cause, the whole amount advanced for board, washing, and fuel from the time of dismission, will be refunded to the order of his parent or guardian.

PUBLIC EXERCISES.

The ANNUAL COMMENCEMENT takes place on the last Wednesday of June.

On the day preceding the Commencement an oration is delivered before the two Literary Societies by a graduate member of one of them.

On the evening preceding the Commencement, orations are delivered by Junior members of Societies.

The annual meeting of the Alumni Association of Nassau Hall is held in the College Chapel on Commencement day.

Communications for this Society may be sent to W. C. Alexander, Esq., Princeton.

TERMS OF ADMISSION.

Candidates for admission to the Freshman or lowest class, are examined in Caesar's Commentaries (5 books), Sallust, Virgil (Eclogues, and Six books of the Æneid), Cicero's Select Orations contained in the volume in Usum Delphini, Mair's Introduction to Latin Syntax, the Gospels in the Greek Testament, Dalzel's Collectanea Graeca Minora, or Jacob's Greek Reader, or other Authors equivalent in quantity, together with Latin and Greek Grammar, including Latin Prosody; also, on English Grammar, Arithmetic, Geography, ancient and modern.

Every student admitted to a class higher than the Freshman, is examined on all the previous studies of the class which he wishes to enter.

An accurate and thorough acquaintance with the studies required for admission is indispensably necessary, in order to receive the full advantage of the College course.

It is found from experience, that Students imperfectly prepared for the classes which they enter, are embarrassed in their future progress—and are seldom able to repair the want of solid preparatory instruction.

To prevent disappointment, it should be distinctly understood, that an accurate and thorough knowledge of preliminary studies is more likely to insure admission and to enable the Student to improve the advantages of this Institution, than a superficial acquaintance with some higher branches of literature and science.

In all cases testimonials of moral character are required; and if the Student has been a member of another College he must bring with him a certificate from the President or Faculty, that he is free from censure in that institution.

COURSE OF INSTRUCTION.

The whole course of instruction requires four years; namely, one year in each of the four classes into which the Students are divided.

The Freshman and Sophomore Classes are instructed by the Professors of Ancient and Modern Languages and of Mathematics, aided by the Tutors. The Junior and Senior Classes by the President and Professors.

The studies of the several Classes are as follows:

FRESHMAN CLASS.

First Term.
- Livy,
- Xenophon's Anabasis,
- Archæology,
- Latin and Greek Exercises,
- Algebra, (Davies' Bourdon.)

Second Term.
- Horace, (Odes,)
- Xenophon's Memorabilia,
- Latin and Greek Exercises,
- Algebra completed,
- History.

SOPHOMORE CLASS.

First Term.
- Horace, (Satires and Epistles,)
- Demosthenes de Corona,
- Latin and Greek Exercises,
- Geometry, (Playfair's Euclid,)
- Plane Trigonometry,
- Archæology.

Second Term.
- Cicero de Officiis, de Amicitia, et de Senectute,
- Homer's Iliad,
- Plane and Spherical Trigonometry; with their applications to Mensuration, Surveying, Navigation, &c.,
- Mathematical and Physical Geography.

JUNIOR CLASS.

First Term.

- Rhetoric,
- Analytical Geometry, including Conic Sections, (Young's,)
- Differential Calculus,
- Juvenal
- Euripides,
- Philosophy of Mind,
- Evidences of Christianity.

Second Term.

- Rhetoric,
- Integral Calculus,
- Mechanics,
- Juvenal and Persius,
- Sophocles,
- Natural Theology, (Paley's,)
- Civil Architecture,
- Botany.

SENIOR CLASS.

First Term.

- Moral Philosophy,
- Political Economy,
- Natural Philosophy,
- Astronomy,
- Latin Rhetorical Works,
- Aristotle's Art of Poetry.

Second Term.

- Logic,
- Natural Philosophy, continued,
- Astronomy, continued,
- Chemistry,
- Mineralogy,
- Geology,
- General Review of Studies.

All the Classes have Bible recitations on the Sabbath, and also a recitation in the Greek Testament, or on the evidences of Christianity, on Monday morning.

All the Students are required frequently to produce original essays. Those of the three lower classes pronounce orations in alphabetical order in the presence of their respective classes. The members of the Senior Class deliver orations of their own composition as often as the Faculty may direct.

LECTURES.

In addition to the recitations of the several Classes the following courses of lectures are delivered on the principal branches of science and literature, namely, a course

On Moral Philosophy,	By the PRESIDENT.
On Greek Literature,	By Prof. MACLEAN,
On Geology,	By Prof. HENRY.
On Mechanical Philosophy,	Do.
On Physics,	Do.
On Architecture,
On Chemistry,	By Prof. TORREY.
On Mineralogy,	Do.
On Botany,	Do.
On Astronomy,	By Prof. S. ALEXANDER.
On Mathematical and Physical Geography,	Do.
On English Literature,	By Prof. HOPE.

Gentlemen not connected with the College have the privilege of attending the above lectures by making application to the several lecturers.

Other lectures are frequently given at the same hours in which the recitations are heard, and are therefore attended by none except the members of the several Classes.

EXAMINATIONS.

Four public examinations take place during the College year: one in the middle, and one at the close of each session. Absence from these examinations is found to be very injurious to the improvement of a student, and renders him liable to be placed in a lower class. Reports respecting the behaviour, diligence and scholarship of the students, are sent to the parents or guardians after each examination.

English Grammar, Arithmetic, and Geography, being required for admission, are not included in the College course of instruction; but in order to secure attention to these studies, indispensably necessary in every situation of life, the Classes are examined on them four times a year, and deficiencies, if any exist, are reported to parents and guardians.

LIBRARIES.

The College Library contains about eight thousand five hundred volumes, and is opened twice every week for the accommodation of the Students. Resident graduates have the privilege of taking out books upon the same terms as under-graduates.

In the libraries belonging to the two literary Societies there are about six thousand volumes. The total number, therefore, of volumes in the three Libraries is about fourteen thousand five hundred.

TERMS AND VACATIONS.

The College year is divided into two Terms or Sessions. The Annual Commencement is on the last Wednesday in June: and the first term of the next College year begins the 13th of August and closes on Thursday the 24th of December. The second term begins on Thursday the 4th of February, and ends on the last Wednesday of June—the day of the Annual Commencement.

It is particularly recommended that all the students when practicable, spend their vacations at home with their parents or friends; or when this is inconvenient, that they take boarding elsewhere than in Princeton; since it is found that when a number of young persons are collected together without regular occupation or study, the temptations to idleness and dissipation are often too strong to be resisted.

It is highly important that the students should return to College in time to attend the first recitations or lectures of their respective classes, since an absence of a few days at the time when a new branch of study is commenced, seldom fails to embarrass the whole course, and in some cases it is impossible to make up the loss.

APPARATUS.

The College possesses a valuable set of Philosophical, Astronomical and Chemical Apparatus; a well selected Mineralogical Cabinet; a Museum of Natural History, and a large collection of Drawings for the illustration of the lectures on Architecture, Astronomy, and Natural Philosophy.

The Philosophical Apparatus has lately been enlarged by an importation of instruments from Europe. The Mineralogical Cabinet was originally established by the late Dr. Hosack of New York, and has received an important addition from the liberality of the late Hon. Samuel Fowler of this state.

The Museum was founded by the late Elias Boudinot, LL.D., of New Jersey, and has been extended by the exertions of Dr. Torrey and Professor Jaeger. The former has presented a thousand specimens of plants from the vicinity of Princeton, and the latter has made an extensive Entomological Collection.

EXPENSES.

The stated Expenses of the College each session, paid in advance, exclusive of books, clothes, lights, room furniture, and travelling expenses, are as follows, viz.

First Term.			Second Term.
Board, 19 weeks,	$42 75	or $33 25	Board, 21 weeks,	$47 25	or $36 75
Tuition,	25 00	25 00	Tuition,	25 00	25 00
Room Rent,	6 00	6 00	Room Rent,	6 00	6 00

Incidental,	3 50	2 50	Incidental,	3 50	2 50
	$96 23	$83 75		$100 75	$87 25

There are two Refectories, at one of which Board is furnished at $2 25 per week; at the other for $1 75 per week.

Under certain restrictions, Students, with the consent of parents or guardians, are permitted to take their meals in private families, and in this case boarding varies from $2 50 to $3 50 per week.

No student is permitted to take a room or to lodge out of the College buildings unless all the rooms belonging to the College are occupied.

The sums above stated are advanced for fuel; if less be consumed than amounts to the moneys advanced, the surplus is returned; if more, the deficiency is charged to the Student.

New Students pay five dollars entrance, and thirty-three cents for a copy of the printed laws.

When a Student is dismissed from College for any cause, the whole amount advanced for board, washing, and fuel, from the time of dismission, will be refunded to the order of his parent or guardian.

PUBLIC EXERCISES.

The ANNUAL COMMENCEMENT takes place on the last Wednesday of June.

On the day preceding the Commencement an oration is delivered before the two Literary Societies by a graduate member of one of them.

On the evening preceding the Commencement, orations are delivered by Junior members of the Societies.

The Annual Meeting of the Alumni Association of Nassau Hall is held in the College Chapel on Commencement day.

Communications for this Society may be sent to W. C. Alexander, Esq., Princeton.

TERMS OF ADMISSION.

Candidates for admission to the Freshman, or lowest class, are examined in Cæsar's Commentaries (5 books,) Sallust, Virgil (Eclogues, and Six Books of the Æneid,) Cicero's Select Orations contained in the volume in Usum Delphini, Mair's Introduction to Latin Syntax, the Gospels in the Greek Testament, Dalzel's Collectanea, Graeca Minora, or Jacob's Greek Reader, or other Authors equivalent in quantity, together with Latin and Greek Grammar, including Latin Prosody; also, on English Grammar, Arithmetic, Geography, ancient and modern.

Every student admitted to a class higher than the Freshman, is examined on all the previous studies of the class which he wishes to enter.

An accurate and thorough acquaintance with the studies required for admission is indispensably necessary, in order to receive the full advantage of the College course.

It is found from experience, that Students imperfectly prepared for the classes which they enter, are embarrassed in their future progress—and are seldom able to repair the want of solid preparatory instruction.

To prevent disappointment it should be distinctly understood, that an accurate and thorough knowledge of preliminary studies is more likely to insure admission and to enable the Student to improve the advantages of this Institution, than a superficial acquaintance with some higher branches of literature and science.

In all cases testimonials of moral character are required; and if the Student has been a member of another College he must bring with him a certificate from the President or Faculty, that he is free from censure in that institution.

COURSE OF INSTRUCTION.

The whole course of instruction requires four years; namely, one year in each of the four classes into which the Students are divided.

The Freshman and Sophomore Classes are instructed by the Professors of Ancient and Modern Languages and of Mathematics, aided by the Tutors. The Junior and Senior Classes by the President and Professors.

The studies of the several Classes are as follows:

FRESHMAN CLASS.

First Term.

- Livy,
- Xenophon's Anabasis,
- Archæology,
- Latin and Greek Exercises,
- Algebra, (Davies' Bourdon.)

Second Term.

- Horace, (Odes,)
- Xenophon's Memorabilia,
- Latin and Greek Exercises,
- Algebra completed,
- History,

SOPHOMORE CLASS.

First Term.

- Horace, (Satires and Epistles,)
- Demosthenes de Corona,
- Latin and Greek Exercises,
- Geometry, (Playfair's Euclid,)
- Plane Trigonometry,
- Archæology.

Second Term.

- Cicero de Officiis, de Amicitia, et de Senectute,
- Homer's Iliad,
- Plane and Spherical Trigonometry; with their applications to Mensuration, Surveying, Navigation, &c.,
- Mathematical and Physical Geography.

JUNIOR CLASS.

First Term.

- Rhetoric,
- Analytical Geometry, including Conic Sections, (Young's,)
- Differential Calculus,
- Juvenal,
- Euripides,
- Philosophy of Mind,
- Evidences of Christianity.

Second Term.

- Rhetoric,
- Integral Calculus,
- Mechanics,
- Juvenal and Persius,
- Sophocles,
- Natural Theology, (Paley's,)
- Civil Architecture,
- Botany.

SENIOR CLASS.

First Term.

- Moral Philosophy,
- Natural Philosophy,
- Astronomy,
- Latin Rhetorical Works,
- Aristotle's Art of Poetry.

Second Term.

- Logic,
- Natural Philosophy, continued,
- Astronomy, continued,
- Chemistry,
- Mineralogy,
- Geology,
- General Review of Studies.

All the classes have Bible recitations on the Sabbath, and also a recitation in the Greek Testament, or on the evidences of Christianity, on Monday morning.

All the Students are required frequently to produce original essays. Those of the three lower classes pronounce orations, in the presence of their respective classes. The members of the Senior Class deliver orations of their own composition as often as the Faculty may direct.

LECTURES.

In addition to the recitations of the several Classes, the following courses of lectures are delivered on the principal branches of science and literature, namely, a course

On Moral Philosophy,.....By the PRESIDENT.
On Greek Literature,.....By Prof. MACLEAN.
On Geology,.....By Prof. HENRY.
On Mechanical Philosophy,..... Do.
On Physics,..... Do.
On Architecture,.....
On Chemistry,.....By Prof. TORREY.
On Mineralogy,..... Do.
On Botany,..... Do.
On Astronomy,.....By Prof. S. ALEXANDER.
On Mathematical and Physical Geography ..... Do.
On Rhetoric,.....By Prof. HOPE.
On English Literature,..... Do.
On History,.....By Prof. FORSYTH.

Gentlemen not connected with the College have the privilege of attending the above lectures by making application to the several lecturers.

Other lectures are frequently given at the same hours in which the recitations are heard, and are therefore attended by none except the members of the several Classes.

EXAMINATIONS.

FOUR public examinations take place during the College year: one in the middle, and one at the close of each session. Absence from these examinations is found to be very injurious to the improvement of a student, and renders him liable to be placed in a lower class. Reports respecting the behaviour, diligence and scholarship of the students, are sent to the parents or guardians after each examination.

English Grammar, Arithmetic, and Geography, being required for admission, are not included in the College course of instruction; but in order to secure attention to these studies, indispensably necessary in every situation of life, the Classes are examined on them twice a year, and deficiencies, if any exist, are reported to parents and guardians.

LIBRARIES.

The College Library contains about eight thousand five hundred volumes, and is opened twice every week for the accommodation of the Students. Resident graduates have the privilege of taking out books upon the same terms as undergraduates.

In the libraries belonging to the two literary Societies there are about six thousand volumes. The total number, therefore, of volumes in the three Libraries is about fourteen thousand five hundred.

APPARATUS.

The College possesses a valuable set of Philosophical, Astronomical and Chemical Apparatus; a well selected Mineralogical Cabinet; a Museum of Natural History, and a large collection of Drawings for the illustration of the lectures on Architecture, Astronomy, and Natural Philosophy.

EXPENSES.

The stated Expenses of the College each session, paid in advance, exclusive of books, clothes, lights, room furniture, and travelling expenses, are as follows, viz:

First Term.		Second Term.
Board 19 weeks, at $2 a week,	$38 00	Board, 21 weeks,	$42 00
Tuition,	25 00	Tuition,	25 00
Room Rent,	6 00	Room Rent,	6 00
Fuel,	7 00	Fuel,	7 00
Library,	1 00	Library,	1 00
Servant's wages,	4 00	Servants,	4 00
Washing,	7 00	Washing,	7 00
Incidental,	3 50	Incidental,	3 50
	$91 50		$95 50

A deduction of $3.00 from each of the above bills, is made in favour of those students who dispense with all attendance of servants in their private rooms.

Under certain restrictions, Students are permitted to take their meals in private families, and in this case boarding varies from $2.00 to $3.00 a week. In some cases, select associations of students have been formed, whose expenses do not exceed $1.25 a week; while the arrangements for the purpose are perfectly satisfactory, and by some preferred to every other. Besides these economical arrangements, the College has the control of funds, for the aid of indigent candidates for the ministry.

No student is permitted to take a room or to lodge out of the College buildings unless all the rooms belonging to the College are occupied.

The sums above stated are advanced for fuel; if less be consumed than amounts to the moneys advanced, the surplus is returned; if more, the deficiency is charged to the Student.

New Students pay five dollars entrance, and thirty-three cents for a copy of the printed laws.

When a Student is dismissed from College for any cause, the whole amount advanced for board, washing, and fuel, from the time of dismission, will be refunded to the order of his parent or guardian.

TERMS AND VACATIONS.

The College year is divided into two Terms or Sessions. The Annual Commencement is on the last Wednesday in June: and the first term of the next College year begins the 12th of August and closes on Thursday the 23d of December. The second term begins on Thursday the 3d of February, and ends on the last Wednesday of June—the day of the Annual Commencement.

It is particularly recommended that all the students when practicable, spend their vacations at home with their parents or friends; or when this is inconvenient, that they take boarding elsewhere than in Princeton; since it is found that when a number of young persons are collected together without regular occupation or study, the temptations to idleness and dissipation are often too strong to be resisted.

It is highly important that the students should return to College in time to attend the first recitations or lectures of their respective classes, since an absence of a few days at the time when a new branch of study is commenced, seldom fails to embarrass the whole course, and in some cases it is impossible to make up the loss.

PUBLIC EXERCISES.

The Annual Commencement takes place on the last Wednesday of June.

On the day preceding the Commencement an oration is delivered before the two Literary Societies by a graduate member of one of them.

On the evening preceding the Commencement, orations are delivered by Junior members of the Societies.

The Annual Meeting of the Alumni Association of Nassau Hall is held in the College Chapel on Commencement day.

Communications for this Society may be sent to W. C. Alexander, Esq., Princeton.

CENTENNIAL CELEBRATION.

The next Commencement will be the one hundredth Commencement of this College; and it is believed that the arrangements made for its celebration will be peculiarly acceptable to the graduates and other friends of the institution.

On the day before, the Hon. James McDowell of Virginia will deliver an oration; and a historical sketch of the College will be read by the Rev. Dr. James W. Alexander of New York.

LAW DEPARTMENT.

A Law department in connexion with the College, has recently been organized by the Board of Trustees. The Honorable Joseph C. Hornblower, late Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of New Jersey, and James S. Green and Richard S. Field, Esquires of Princeton, have been appointed Professors, and are preparing to enter upon the duties of their appointment. A building designed for the Library and Lecture room is nearly completed, and the School will be opened for the reception of students at the beginning of the next session of the College.

The object of the Institution is to provide an ample course of legal instruction for gentlemen designed for the bar in any of the United States. This course will embrace the various branches of Public and Constitutional Law, Equity and Common Law, together with such instruction, in the local jurisprudence of particular States as occasion may require.

Instruction will be given by means of recitations, examinations, lectures, and the preparation of legal forms and instruments. It is also proposed to establish a Moot Court, in which questions of law will be discussed by students appointed for that purpose, and opinions delivered by one of the Professors.

The course of studies is so arranged as to be completed in three years, and the students will be divided into classes according to their proficiency; but generally speaking a student will be at liberty to join any one or more of the classes, and to pursue such branches of study as he may select.

There will be two terms or sessions in each year corresponding with the sessions of the College; the first beginning six weeks from the last Wednesday in June, and ending in nineteen weeks or the week before Christmas; the second beginning six weeks after the close of the first and ending in twenty-one weeks, or the last Wednesday in June.

No examination is required for admission, but every student is expected to produce testimonials of good moral character and of sufficient literary and scientific attainments.

The fees are $50 a Session to be paid in advance; for which sum, and without any additional charge, students will have the use of text books, and of the Law and College Libraries: and will also be permitted to attend the College Chapel, and the lectures of the Professors of the College. Good board can be had in Princeton or its vicinity for from two to three dollars a week.

All students who have pursued their studies in the Law School for two years, will be entitled, upon the recommendation of the Law Faculty, to the degree of Bachelor of Laws. But if they have already been admitted to the bar, they will be entitled to such degree after pursuing their studies for one year.

All applications for admission, and communications touching the Law School, may be made to James S. Green or Richard S. Field, of Princeton.

TERMS OF ADMISSION.

Candidates for admission to the Freshman, or lowest class, are examined in Cæsar's Commentaries (5 books,) Sallust, Virgil (Eclogues, and Six Books of the Æneid,) Cicero's Select Orations contained in the volume in Usum Delphini, Mair's Introduction to Latin Syntax, the Gospels in the Greek Testament, Dalzel's Collectanea, Graeca Minora, or Jacob's Greek Reader, or other Authors equivalent in quantity, together with Latin and Greek Grammar, including Latin Prosody; also, on English Grammar, Arithmetic, Geography, ancient and modern.

Every student admitted to a class higher than the Freshman, is examined on all the previous studies of the class which he wishes to enter.

An accurate and thorough acquaintance with the studies required for admission is indispensably necessary, in order to receive the full advantage of the College course.

It is found from experience, that Students imperfectly prepared for the classes which they enter, are embarrassed in their future progress—and are seldom able to repair the want of solid preparatory instruction.

To prevent disappointment it should be distinctly understood, that an accurate and thorough knowledge of preliminary studies is more likely to insure admission and to enable the Student to improve the advantages of this Institution, than a superficial acquaintance with some higher branches of literature and science.

In all cases testimonials of moral character are required; and if the Student has been a member of another College he must bring with him a certificate from the President or Faculty, that he is free from censure in that institution.

COURSE OF INSTRUCTION.

The whole course of instruction requires four years; namely, one year in each of the four classes into which the Students are divided.

The Freshman and Sophomore Classes are instructed by the Professors of Ancient and Modern Languages and of Mathematics, aided by the Tutors, The Junior and Senior Classes by the President and Professors.

The studies of the several Classes are as follows:

FRESHMAN CLASS.

First Term.
- Livy,
- Xenophon's Anabasis,
- Archæology,
- Latin and Greek Exercises.
- Algebra, (Hackley's.)

Second Term.
- Horace, (Odes,)
- Xenophon's Memorabilia,
- Latin and Greek Exercises,
- Algebra completed,
- History,

SOPHOMORE CLASS.

First Term.
- Horace, (Satires and Epistles,)
- Demosthenes de Corona,
- Latin and Greek Exercises,
- Geometry, (Playfair's Euclid,)
- Plane Trigonometry,
- Archæology.

Second Term.
- Cicero de Officiis, de Amicitia, et de Senectute,
- Homer's Iliad,
- Plane and Spherical Trigonometry; with their applications to Mensuration, Surveying, Navigation, &c.,
- Mathematical and Physical Geography.

JUNIOR CLASS.

First Term.

- Rhetoric,
- Analytical Geometry, including Conic Sections, (Young's.)
- Juvenal,
- Euripides,
- Evidences of Christianity.

Second Term.

- Rhetoric,
- Differential and Integral Calculus, (Alexander's.)
- Mechanics,
- Juvenal and Persius,
- Sophocles,
- Natural Theology, (Paley's,)
- Civil Architecture,
- Botany.

SENIOR CLASS.

First Term.

- Philosophy of Mind,
- Logic,
- Natural Philosophy,
- Astronomy,
- Latin Rhetorical Works,
- Aristotle's Art of Poetry.

Second Term.

- Moral Philosophy,
- Natural Philosophy, continued,
- Astronomy, continued,
- Chemistry,
- Mineralogy,
- Geology,
- General Review of Studies.

All the classes have Bible recitations on the Sabbath, and also a recitation in the Greek Testament, or on the evidences of Christianity, on Monday morning.

All the Students are required frequently to produce original essays. Those of the three lower classes pronounce orations, in the presence of their respective classes. The members of the Senior Class deliver orations of their own composition as often as the Faculty may direct.

LECTURES.

In addition to the recitations of the several Classes, the following courses of lectures are delivered on the principal branches of science and literature. namely, a course

On Mental and Moral Philosophy,	By the PRESIDENT,
On Greek Literature,	Prof. MACLEAN.
On Geology,	Prof. HENRY,
On Mechanical Philosophy,	Do.
On Physics,	Do.
On Chemistry,	Prof. TORREY,
On Mineralogy,	Do.
On Botany,	Do.
On Astronomy,	Prof. S. ALEXANDER,
On Mathematical and Physical Geography,	Do.
On Rhetoric,	Prof. HOPE.
On English Literature,	Do.
On Natural Theology, including the outlines of Anatomy and Physiology,	Do.
On History,	Prof. FORSYTH.
On Architecture,	Prof. GIGER,
On Zoology,	Dr. SCHANCK,

Gentlemen not connected with the College have the privilege of attending the above lectures by making application to the several lecturers.

Other lectures are frequently given at the same hours in which the recitations are heard, and are therefore attended by none except the members of the several Classes.

EXAMINATIONS.

FOUR public examinations take place during the College year: one in the middle, and one at the close of each session. Absence from these examinations is found to be very injurious to the improvement of a student, and renders him liable to be placed in a lower class. Reports respecting the behaviour, diligence and scholarship of the students, are sent to the parents or guardians after each examination.

English Grammar, Arithmetic, and Geography, being required for admission, are not included in the College course of instruction; but in order to secure attention to these studies, indispensably necessary in every situation of life, the Classes are examined on them twice a year, and deficiencies, if any exist, are reported to parents and guardians.

LIBRARIES.

The College Library contains about eight thousand five hundred volumes, and is opened twice every week for the accommodation of the Students. Resident graduates have the privilege of taking out books upon the same terms as under graduates.

In the libraries belonging to the two literary Societies there are about six thousand volumes. The total number, therefore, of volumes in the three Libraries is about fourteen thousand five hundred.

APPARATUS.

The College possesses a valuable set of Philosophical, Astronomical and Chemical Apparatus; a well selected Mineralogical Cabinet; a Museum of Natural History, and a large collection of Drawings for the illustration of the lectures on Architecture, Astronomy, and Natural Philosophy.

A full sized Manikin, or modèle d'homme, of the most perfect kind, has just been received from Paris, for the illustration of the Lectures on Natural Theology, and on Anatomy.

EXPENSES.

The stated Expenses of the College each session, paid in advance, exclusive of books, clothes, lights, room furniture, and travelling expenses, are as follows, viz:

First Term.		Second Term.
Board 19 weeks, $2.25 a week,	$42 75	Board, 21 weeks,	$47 25
Tuition,	25 00	Tuition,	25 00
Room Rent,	6 00	Room Rent,	6 00
Fuel,	7 00	Fuel,	7 00
Library,	1 00	Library,	1 00
Servant's wages,	4 00	Servants,	4 00
Washing,	7 00	Washing,	7 00
Incidental,	3 50	Incidental,	3 50
	$96 25		$100 75

A deduction of $3.00 from each of the above bills, is made in favour of those students who dispense with all attendance of servants in their private rooms.

Under certain restrictions, Students are permitted to take their meals in private families, and in this case boarding varies from $2.00 to $3.00 a week. In some cases select associations of students have been formed, whose expenses do not exceed $1.50 a week; while the arrangements for the purpose are perfectly satisfactory, and by some preferred to every other. Besides these economical arrangements, the College has the control of funds, for the aid of indigent candidates for the ministry.

No student is permitted to take a room or to lodge out of the College buildings unless all the rooms belonging to the College are occupied.

The sums above stated are advanced for fuel; if less be consumed than amounts to the moneys advanced, the surplus is returned; if more, the deficiency is charged to the Student.

New Students pay five dollars entrance, and thirty-three cents for a copy of the printed laws.

When a student is dismissed from College for any cause, the whole amount advanced for board, washing, and fuel, from the time of dismission, will be refunded to the order of his parent or guardian.

TERMS AND VACATIONS.

The College year is divided into two Terms or Sessions. The Annual Commencement is on the last Wednesday in June: and the first term of the next College year begins the 10th of August and closes on Thursday the 20th of December. The second term begins on Thursday the 1st of February, and ends on the last Wednesday of June—the day of the Annual Commencement.

It is particularly recommended that all the students when practicable, spend their vacations at home with their parents or friends; or when this is inconvenient, that they take boarding elsewhere than in Princeton; since it is found that when a number of young persons are collected together without regular occupation or study, the temptations to idleness and dissipation are often too strong to be resisted.

It is highly important that the students should return to College in time to attend the first recitations or lectures of their respective classes, since an absence of a few days at the time when a new branch of study is commenced, seldom fails to embarrass the whole course, and in some cases it is impossible to make up the loss.

PUBLIC EXERCISES.

The Annual Commencement takes place on the last Wednesday of June.

On the day preceding the Commencement an oration is delivered before the two Literary Societies by a graduate member of one of them.

On the evening preceding the Commencement, orations are delivered by Junior members of the Societies.

The Annual meeting of the Alumni Association of Nassau Hall is held in the College Chapel on Commencement day.

Communications for this Society may be sent to W. C. Alexander, Esq., Princeton.

LAW DEPARTMENT.

THIS Department is under the direction of the Honorable Joseph C. Hornblower, late Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of New Jersey; James S. Green, Esq., District Attorney of the United States for the State of New Jersey; and Richard S. Field, Esq., Attorney and Counsellor at law.

The object of the Institution is to provide an ample course of legal instruction for gentlemen designed for the bar in any of the United States. This course embraces the various branches of public and constitutional Law, Equity and Common Law, together with such instruction in the local jurisprudence of the particular States as occasion may require.

Instruction is given by means of recitations, examinations, lectures. and the preparation of legal forms and instruments. A Moot Court is holden every week in which questions of law are discussed by students appointed for that purpose, and opinions delivered by one of the Professors.

The course of studies is so arranged as to be completed in three years, and the students are divided into classes according to their proficiency; but generally speaking a student is at liberty to join any one or more of the classes, and to pursue such branches of study as he may select.

No examination is required for admission, but every student is expected to produce testimonials of good moral character, and sufficient literary and scientific attainments.

There are two terms or sessions in each year corresponding with the sessions of the College, the first beginning six weeks from the last Wednesday in June and ending in nineteen weeks or the week before Christmas; the second beginning six weeks after the close of the first, and ending in twenty-one weeks or the last Wednesday in June.

The fees are $50 a session to be paid in advance, for which sum, and without any additional charge, students have the use of text books, and of the Law and College Libraries, and are also entitled to attend the College Chapel and the Lectures of the Professors of the College. Good board can be had in Princeton or its vicinity for from two to three dollars a week.

All students who have pursued their studies in the Law School for two years are entitled upon the recommendation of the Law Faculty to the degree of Bachelor of Laws. But if they have already been admitted to the bar they are entitled to such degree after pursuing their studies for one year.

All applications for admission, and communications touching the Law School may be made to James S. Green or Richard S. Field, of Princeton.

LAW DEPARTMENT.

This Department is under the direction of the Honorable Joseph C. Hornblower, late Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of New Jersey; James S. Green, Esq., District Attorney of the United States for the State of New Jersey; and Richard S. Field, Esq., Attorney and Counsellor at Law.

The object of the Institution is to provide an ample course of legal instruction for gentlemen designed for the bar in any of the United States. This course embraces the various branches of public and constitutional Law, Equity and Common Law, together with such instruction in the local jurisprudence of the particular States as occasion may require.

Instruction is given by means of recitations, examinations, lectures, and the preparation of legal forms and instruments. A Moot Court is holden every week in which questions of law are discussed by students appointed for that purpose, and opinions delivered by one of the Professors.

The course of studies is so arranged as to be completed in three years, and the students are divided into classes according to their proficiency; but generally speaking a student is at liberty to join one or more of the classes and to pursue such branches of study as he may select.

No examination is required for admission, but every student is expected to produce testimonials of good moral character, and sufficient literary and scientific attainments.

There are two terms or sessions in each year corresponding with the sessions of the College, the first beginning six weeks from the last Wednesday in June, and ending in nineteen weeks or the week before Christmas; the second beginning six weeks after the close of the first, and ending in twenty-one weeks or the last Wednesday in June.

The fees are $50 a session, to be paid in advance, for which sum, and without any additional charge, students have the use of text books, and of the Law and College Libraries, and are also entitled to attend the College Chapel and the Lectures of the Professors of the College. Good board can be had in Princeton or its vicinity for from two to three dollars a week.

All students who have pursued their studies in the Law School for two years are entitled upon the recommendation of the Law Faculty to the degree of Bachelor of Laws. But if they have already been admitted to the bar they are entitled to such degree after pursuing their studies for one year.

All applications for admission, and communications touching the Law School may be made to James S. Green or Richard S. Field, of Princeton.

EXAMINATIONS.

Four public examinations take place during the College year: one in the middle, and one at the close of each session. Absence from these examinations is found to be very injurious to the improvement of a student, and renders him liable to be placed in a lower class. Reports respecting the behaviour, diligence and scholarship of the students, are sent to the parents or guardians after each examination.

English Grammar, Arithmetic, and Geography, being required for admission, are not included in the College course of instruction; but in order to secure attention to these studies, indispensably necessary in every situation of life, the Classes are examined on them twice a year, and deficiencies, if any exist, are reported to parents and guardians.

PUBLIC WORSHIP.

Prayers are offered in the College Chapel every morning and evening, when one of the Faculty officiates, and all the Students are required to be present. They are also required to attend worship in the Chapel on Sunday, except such as have permission to attend service in town.

LIBRARIES.

The College Library contains nine thousand volumes, and is opened on the Monday and Tuesday of each week for the accommodation of the Students. Resident Graduates have the privilege of taking out books upon the same terms as Under Graduates. In the libraries belonging to the two literary societies there are about seven thousand volumes. The total number of volumes, therefore, in the three libraries, is about sixteen thousand.

APPARATUS.

EXPENSES.

The stated Expenses of the College each session, paid in advance, exclusive of books, clothes, lights, room furniture, and travelling expenses, are as follows, viz:

A deduction of $3.00 from each of the above bills, is made in favour of those students who dispense with all attendance of servants in their private rooms.

Under certain restrictions, Students are permitted to take their meals in private families, and in this case boarding varies from $2 00 to $3.00 a week. In some cases select associations of students have been formed, whose expenses do not exceed $1.50 a week; while the arrangements for the purpose are perfectly satisfactory, and by some preferred to every other. Besides these economical arrangements, the College has the control of funds, for the aid of indigent candidates for the ministry.

No student is permitted to take a room or to lodge out of the College buildings unless all the rooms belonging to the College are occupied.

The sums above stated are advanced for fuel; if less be consumed than amounts to the moneys advanced, the surplus is returned; if more, the deficiency is charged to the Student.

New students pay a matriculation fee of five dollars and thirty-three cents for a copy of the printed laws.

When a student is dismissed from College for any cause, the whole amount advanced for board, washing, and fuel, from the time of dismission, will be refunded to the order of his parent or guardian.

TERMS AND VACATIONS.

The College year is divided into two Terms or Sessions. The Annual Commencement is on the last Wednesday in June: and the first term of the next College year begins the 9th of August and closes on Thursday the 20th of December. The second term begins on Thursday the 31st of January, and ends on the last Wednesday of June—the day of the Annual Commencement.

It is particularly recommended that when practicable, all the students spend their vacations at home with their parents or friends; or when this is inconvenient, that they take boarding elsewhere than in Princeton; it is found that when a number of young persons are collected together without regular occupation or study, the temptations to idleness and dissipation are often too strong to be resisted.

It is highly important that the students should return to College in time to attend the first recitations or lectures of their respective classes, since an absence of a few days at the time when a new branch of study is commenced, seldom fails to embarrass the whole course, and in some cases it is impossible to make up the loss.

PUBLIC EXERCISES.

The Annual Commencement takes place on the last Wednesd
June.

On the day preceding the Commencement an oration is delivered be the two Literary Societies by a graduate member of one of them. T orator for the current year is Hon. John Thomson Mason, of Md. member of the American Whig Society.

On the evening preceding the Commencement, orations are pronoun by eight members of the Junior Class, four from each Hall.

The Annual Meeting of the Alumni Association of Nassau Hall is h in the College Chapel on Commencement day.

Communications for this Society may be sent to W. C. Alexander, E
Princeton.

APPENDIX.

TERMS OF ADMISSION.

CANDIDATES for admission to the Freshman, or lowest class, are examined in Cæsar's Commentaries (5 books), Sallust, Virgil (Eclogues, and six Books of the Æneid,) Cicero's Select Orations contained in the volume in Usum Delphini, Mair's Introduction to Latin Syntax, the Gospels in the Greek Testament, Dalzel's Collectanea Graeca Minora, or Jacob's Greek Reader, or other Authors equivalent in quantity, together with Latin and Greek Grammar, including Latin Prosody; also, on English Grammar, Arithmetic, the Elements of Algebra (through simple equations), Geography, ancient and modern.

Every student admitted to a class higher than the Freshman, is examined on all the previous studies of the class which he wishes to enter.

An accurate and thorough acquaintance with the studies required for admission is indispensably necessary, in order to receive the full advantage of the College course.

It is found from experience, that Students imperfectly prepared for the classes which they enter, are embarrassed in their future progress—and are seldom able to repair the want of solid preparatory instruction.

To prevent disappointment it should be distinctly understood, that an accurate and thorough knowledge of preliminary studies is more likely to insure admission and to enable the Student to improve the advantages of this Institution, than a superficial acquaintance with some higher branches of literature and science.

In all cases testimonials of moral character are required; and if the Student has been a member of another College he must bring with him a certificate from the President or faculty, that he is free from censure in that institution.

COURSE OF INSTRUCTION.

The whole course of instruction requires four years; namely, one year in each of the four classes into which the Students are divided.

The Freshman and Sophomore Classes are instructed by the Professors of Ancient and Modern Languages and of Mathematics, aided by the Tutors. The Junior and Senior Classes by the President and Professors.

The studies of the several Classes are as follows:

FRESHMAN CLASS.

First Term.
- Livy,
- Xenophon's Anabasis,
- Archæology,
- Latin and Greek Exercises,
- Algebra, (Hackley's.)

Second Term.
- Horace, (Odes,)
- Xenophon's Memorabilia,
- Latin and Greek Exercises,
- Algebra completed,
- Geometry, (Playfair's Euclid), commenced,
- History.

SOPHOMORE CLASS.

First Term.
- Horace, (Satires, Epistles, and Art of Poetry,)
- Demosthenes de Corona,
- Latin and Greek Exercises,
- Geometry, (Playfair's Euclid,) completed,
- Ratio and Proportion (Alexander's,)
- Plane Trigonometry,
- Archæology.

Second Term.
- Cicero de Officiis, de Amicitia, et de Senectute,
- Homer's Iliad,
- Plane and Spherical Trigonometry; with their applications to Mensuration, Surveying, Navigation, &c.,
- Mathematical and Physical Geography.

JUNIOR CLASS.

First Term.

- Rhetoric, (Blair's, together with lectures by Prof. Hope,)
- Analytical Geometry, including Conic Sections, (Young's,)
- Tacitus, (Germania and Agricola)—Plautus,
- Euripides,
- Evidences of Christianity, (Alexander's.)

Second Term.

- Rhetoric,
- Differential and Integral Calculus, (Alexander's,)
- Mechanics,
- Juvenal and Persius,
- Sophocles, (Œdipus Tyrannus,)
- Natural Theology, (Paley's,)
- Civil Architecture,
- Botany.

SENIOR CLASS.

First Term.

- Logic,
- Philosophy of Mind,
- Natural Philosophy,
- Astronomy,
- Chemistry,
- Aristotle's Art of Poetry.
- English Literature,

Second Term.

- Moral Philosophy,
- Natural Philosophy, continued,
- Astronomy, continued,
- Chemistry, continued,
- Mineralogy,
- Geology,
- Anatomy and Physiology.
- Zoology,
- General Review of Studies.

All the classes have Bible recitations on the Sabbath, and also a recitation in the Greek Testament, or on the evidences of Christianity, on Monday morning.

All the Students are required frequently to produce original essays. Those of the three lower classes pronounce orations, in the presence of their respective classes. The members of the Senior Class deliver orations of their own composition as often as the Faculty may direct.

LECTURES.

In addition to the recitations of the several Classes, the following courses of lectures are delivered on the principal branches of science and literature, namely, a course on

Intellectual and Moral Philosophy,	By the PRESIDENT.
Greek Literature,	Prof. MACLEAN.
Geology,	Prof. HENRY.
Chemistry,	Prof. TORREY.
Mineralogy,	Do.
Botany,	Do.
Astronomy,	Prof. S. Alexander.
Mathematical and Physical Geography,	Do.
Rhetoric,	Prof. HOPE.
English Literature,	Do.
Anatomy and Physiology,	Do.
History,	Prof. FORSYTH.
Roman Literature,	Do.
Mechanical Philosophy,	Prof. McCULLOH.
Physics,	Do.
Architecture,	Prof. GIGER.
Zoology,	Dr. SCHANCK.

Gentlemen not connected with the College have the privilege of attending the above lectures by making application to the several lecturers.

Other lectures are frequently given at the same hours in which the recitations are heard, and are therefore attended by none except the members of the several Classes.

EXAMINATIONS.

FOUR public examinations take place during the College year; one in the middle, and one at the close of each session. Absence from these examinations is found to be very injurious to the improvement of a student, and renders him liable to be placed in a lower class. Reports respecting the behaviour, diligence and scholarship of the students, are sent to the parents or guardians after each examination.

English Grammar, Arithmetic and Geography being required for admission, are not included in the College course of instruction; but in order to secure attention to these studies, indispensably necessary in every situation of life, the Classes are examined on them twice a year, and deficiencies, if any exist, are reported to parents and guardians.

PUBLIC WORSHIP.

Prayers are offered in the College Chapel every morning and evening, when one of the Faculty officiates, and all the Students are required to be present. They are also required to attend worship in the Chapel on Sunday, except such as have permission to attend service in town.

LIBRARIES.

The College Library contains nine thousand volumes, and is opened on Monday and Tuesday of each week for the accommodation of the Students. Resident Graduates have the privilege of taking out books upon the same terms as Under Graduates. In the libraries belonging to the two literary societies there are about seven thousand volumes. The total number of volumes, therefore, in the three libraries, is about sixteen thousand.

APPARATUS.

EXPENSES.

The stated expenses of the College each session, paid in advance, exclusive of books, clothes, lights, room furniture, and travelling expenses, are as follows, viz:

First Term.		Second Term.
Board 19 weeks, 2·25 a week,	$42.75	Board, 21 weeks,	$47.25
Tuition,	25.00	Tuition,	25.00
Room Rent,	6.00	Room Rent,	6.00
Fuel,	7.00	Fuel,	7.00
Library,	1.00	Library,	1.00
Servant's wages,	4.00	Servants,	4.00
Washing,	7.00	Washing,	7.00
Incidental,	4.00	Incidental,	4.00
	$96.75		$101.25

A deduction of $3.00 from each of the above bills, is made in favor of those students who dispense with all attendance of servants in their private rooms.

Members of the Senior Class pay each session, in addition to the above, $2.50, to defray the expenses of chemical and philosophical experiments.

Under certain restrictions, and the payment of $1.50 per session, Students are permitted to take their meals in private families, and in this case boarding varies from $2.00 to $3.00 a week. In some cases select associations of students have been formed, whose expenses do not exceed $1.50 a week; while the arrangements for the purpose are perfectly satisfactory, and by some preferred to every other. Besides these economical arrangements, the College has the control of funds, for the aid of indigent candidates for the ministry.

No student is permitted to take a room or to lodge out of the College buildings unless all the rooms belonging to the College are occupied.

The sums above stated are advanced for fuel; if less be consumed than amounts to the moneys advanced, the surplus is returned; if more, the deficiency is charged to the Student.

New students pay a matriculation fee of five dollars, and thirty-three cents for a copy of the printed laws.

When a student is dismissed from College for any cause, the whole amount advanced for board, washing, and fuel, from the time of dismission, will be refunded to the order of his parent or guardian.

TERMS AND VACATIONS.

The College year is divided into two terms or sessions. The Annual Commencement is on the last Wednesday in June; and the first term of the next College year begins the 8th of August and closes on Thursday the 19th of December. The second term begins on Thursday the 30st of January. and ends on the last Wednesday of June—the day of the Annual Commencement.

It is particularly recommended that when practicable, all the students spend their vacations at home with their parents or friends; or when this is inconvenient, that they take boarding elsewhere than in Princeton: it is found that when a number of young persons are collected together without regular occupation or study, the temptations to idleness and dissipation are often too strong to be resisted.

It is highly important that the students should return to College in time to attend the first recitations or lectures of their respective classes, since an absence of a few days at the time when a new branch of study is commenced, seldom fails to embarrass the whole course, and in some cases it is impossible to make up the loss.

PUBLIC EXERCISES.

The Annual Commencement takes place on the last Wednesday in June.

On the day preceding the Commencement an oration is delivered before the two Literary Societies by a graduate member of one of them. The orator for the current year is Hon. David S. Kaufman, M. C. from Texas, a member of the Cliosophic Soceity.

On the evening preceding the Commencement, orations are pronounced by eight members of the Junior Class, four from each Hall.

The Annual Meeting of the Alumni Association of Nassau Hall is held in the College Chapel on Commencement day.

LAW DEPARTMENT.

THIS Department is under the direction of the Honorable Joseph C. Hornblower, late Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of New Jersey; James S. Green, Esq.; and Richard S. Field, Esq., Attorneys and Counsellors at Law.

The object of the Institution is to provide an ample course of legal instruction for gentlemen designed for the bar in any of the United States. This course embraces the various branches of public and constitutional Law, Equity and Common Law, together with such instruction in the local jurisprudence of the particular States as occasion may require.

Instruction is given by means of recitations, examinations, lectures, and the preparation of legal forms and instruments. A Moot Court is holden every week in which questions of law are discussed by students appointed for that purpose, and opinions delivered by one of the Professors.

The course of studies is so arranged as to be completed in three years, and the students are divided into classes according to their proficiency; but generally speaking a student is at liberty to join one or more of the classes and to pursue such branches of study as he may select.

No examination is required for admission, but every student is expected to produce testimonials of good moral character, and sufficient literary and scientific attainments.

There are two terms or sessions in each year corresponding with the sessions of the College, the first beginning six weeks from the last Wednesday in June, and ending in nineteen weeks or the week before Christmas; the second beginning six weeks after the close of the first, and ending in twenty-one weeks or the last Wednesday in June.

The fees are $50 a session, to be paid in advance, for which sum, and without any additional charge, students have the use of text books, and of the Law and College Libraries, and are also entitled to attend the College Chapel and the Lectures of the Professors of the College. Good board can be had in Princeton or its vicinity for from two to three dollars a week.

All students who pursued their studies in the Law School for two years are entitled upon the recommendation of the Law Faculty to the degree of Bachelor of Laws. But if they have already been admitted to the bar they are entitled to such degree after pursuing their studies for one year.

All applications for admission, and communications touching the Law School may be made to James S. Green or Richard S. Field, of Princeton.

APPENDIX.

Terms of Admission.

CANDIDATES for admission to the Freshman, or lowest class, are examined in Cæsar's Commentaries (5 books), Sallust, Virgil (Eclogues, and six Books of the Æneid,) Cicero's Select Orations contained in the volume in Usum Delphini, Mair's Introduction to Latin Syntax, the Gospels in the Greek Testament, Dalzel's Collectanea Graeca Minora, or Jacob's Greek Reader, or other Authors equivalent in quantity, together with Latin and Greek Grammar, including Latin Prosody; also, on English Grammar, Arithmetic, the Elements of Algebra, (through simple equations), Geography, ancient and modern.

Every student admitted to a class higher than the Freshman, is examined on all the previous studies of the class which he wishes to enter.

An accurate and thorough acquaintance with the studies required for admission is indispensably necessary, in order to receive the full advantage of the College course.

It is found from experience, that Students imperfectly prepared, for the classes which they enter, are embarrassed in their future progress—and are seldom able to repair the want of solid preparatory instruction.

To prevent disappointment it should be distinctly understood, that an accurate and thorough knowledge of preliminary studies is more likely to ensure admission and to enable the Student to improve the advantages of this Institution, than a superficial acquaintance with some higher branches of literature and science.

In all cases testimonials of moral character are required; and if the Student has been a member of another College he must bring with him a certificate from the President or Faculty, that he is free from censure in that institution.

COURSE OF INSTRUCTION.

The whole course of instruction requires four years; namely, one year in each of the four classes into which the Students are divided.

The Freshman and Sophomore Classes are instructed by the Professors of Ancient and Modern Languages and of Mathematics, aided by the Tutors. The Junior and Senior Classes by the President and Professors.

The studies of the several Classes are as follows:

Freshman Class.

First Term.

- Livy,
- Xenophon's Anabasis,
- Archæology,
- Latin and Greek Exercises,
- Algebra, (Hackley's,)
- History.

Second Term.

- Horace, (Odes,)
- Xenophon's Memorabilia,
- Latin and Greek Exercises,
- Algebra completed,
- Geometry, (Playfair's Euclid), commenced,
- History.

Sophomore Class.

First Term.

- Horace, (Satires and Epistles,)
- Demosthenes de Corona,
- Latin and Greek Exercises,
- Geometry, (Playfair's Euclid,) completed,
- Plane Trigonometry,
- Archæology.

Second Term.

- Cicero de Officiis, de Amicitia, et de Senectute,
- Homer's Iliad,
- Plane and Spherical Trigonometry; with their applications to Mensuration, Surveying, Navigation, &c.,
- Mathematical and Physical Geography.

Junior Class.

First Term.

- Rhetoric, (Whately and Blair,)
- Analytical Geometry, including Conic Sections, (Young's.)
- Tacitus, (Germania and Agricola,)
- Euripides,
- Evidences of Christianity, (Alexander's.)

Second Term.

- Rhetoric,
- Differential and Integral Calculus, (Alexander's),
- Mechanics,
- Juvenal and Persius,

All the classes have Bible recitations on the Sabbath, and also a recitation in the Greek Testament, or on the evidences of Christianity, on Monday morning.

All the Students are required frequently to produce original essays. Those of the three lower classes pronounce orations, in the presence of their respective classes. The members of the Senior Class deliver orations of their own composition as often as the Faculty may direct.

LECTURES.

In addition to the recitations of the several Classes, the following courses of lectures are delivered on the principal branches of science and literature, namely, a course on

Moral Philosophy,	By the President.
Greek Literature,	Prof. Maclean.
Geology,	Prof. Henry.
Chemistry,	Prof. Torrey.
Mineralogy,	Do.
Botany,	Do.
Astronomy,	Prof. Alexander.
Mathematical and Physical Geography,	Do.
Rhetoric,	Prof. Hope.
English Literature,	Do.
Anatomy and Physiology,	Do.
History,	Prof. Forsyth.
Mechanical Philosophy,	Prof. McCulloh.
Physics,	Do.
Architecture,	Prof. Giger.
Zoology,	Dr. Schanck.
Constitutional Law,	R. S. Field, Esq.

Gentlemen not connected with the College have the privilege of attending the above lectures by making application to the several lecturers.

Other lectures are frequently given at the same hours in which the recitations are heard, and are therefore attended by none except the members of the several Classes.

EXAMINATIONS.

Four public examinations take place during the College year: one in the middle, and one at the close of each session. Absence from these examinations is found to be very injurious to the improvement of a student, and renders him liable to be placed in a lower class. Reports respecting the behaviour, diligence and scholarship of the students, are sent to the parents or guardians after each examination.

English Grammar, Arithmetic, and Geography, being required for admission, are not included in the College course of instruction; but in order to secure attention to these studies, indispensably necessary in every situation of life, the Classes are examined on them twice a year, and deficiencies, if any exist, are reported to parents and guardians.

PUBLIC WORSHIP.

Prayers are offered in the College Chapel every morning and evening, when one of the Faculty officiates, and all the Students are required to be present. They are also required to attend worship in the Chapel on Sunday, except such as have permission to attend service in town.

LIBRARIES.

The College Library contains nine thousand volumes, and is opened on Monday and Tuesday of each week for the accommodation of the Students. Resident Graduates have the privilege of taking out books upon the same terms as Under Graduates. In the libraries belonging to the two literary societies there are about seven thousand volumes. The total number of volumes, therefore, in the three libraries, is about sixteen thousand.

APPARATUS.

EXPENSES.

The stated Expenses of the College each session, paid in advance, exclusive of books, clothes, lights, room furniture, and travelling expenses, are as follows, viz:

FIRST TERM.		SECOND TERM.
Board 19 weeks, 2.25 a week,	$42 75	Board, 21 weeks,	$47 25
Tuition,	25 00	Tuition,	25 00
Room Rent,	6 00	Room Rent,	6 00
Fuel,	7 00	Fuel,	7 00
Library,	1 00	Library,	1 00
Servant's wages,	4 00	Servants,	4 00
Washing,	7 00	Washing,	7 00
Incidental,	4 00	Incidental,	4 00
	$96 75		$101 25

A deduction of $3.00 from each of the above bills, is made in favour of those students who dispense with all attendance of servants in their private rooms.

Under certain restrictions, Students are permitted to take their meals in private families, and in this case boarding varies from $2.00 to $3.00 a week. In some cases select associations of students have been formed, whose expenses do not exceed $1.50 a week; while the arrangements for the purpose are perfectly satisfactory, and by some preferred to every other. Besides these economical arrangements, the College has the control of funds, for the aid of indigent candidates for the ministry.

No student is permitted to take a room or to lodge out of the College buildings unless all the rooms belonging to the College are occupied.

The sums above stated are advanced for fuel; if less be consumed than amounts to the moneys advanced, the surplus is returned; if more, the deficiency is charged to the Student.

New students pay a matriculation fee of five dollars and thirty-three cents for a copy of the printed laws.

When a Student is dismissed from College for any cause, the whole amount advanced for board, washing, and fuel, from the time of dismission will be refunded to the order of his parent or guardian.

TERMS AND VACATIONS.

THE College year is divided into two Terms or Sessions. The Annual Commencement is on the last Wednesday in June: and the first term of the next College year begins the 7th of August and closes on Thursday the 18th of December. The second term begins on Thursday the 29th of January, and ends on the last Wednesday of June—the day of the Annual Commencement.

It is particularly recommended that when practicable, all the students spend their vacations at home with their parents or friends; or when this is inconvenient, that they take boarding elsewhere than in Princeton. It is found that when a number of young persons are collected together without regular occupation or study, the temptations to idleness and dissipation are often too strong to be resisted.

It is highly important that the students should return to College in time to attend the first recitations or lectures of their respective classes, since an absence of a few days at the time when a new branch of study is commenced, seldom fails to embarrass the whole course, and in some cases it is impossible to make up the loss.

PUBLIC EXERCISES.

THE ANNUAL COMMENCEMENT takes place on the last Wednesday in June.

On the day preceding the Commencement an oration is delivered before the two Literary Societies by a graduate member of one of them. The orator for the current year is Hon. A. W. VENABLE, of N. C., a member of the American Whig Society.

On the evening preceding the Commencement, orations are pronounced by eight members of the Junior Class, four from each Hall.

The Annual Meeting of the Alumni Association of Nassau Hall is held in the College Chapel on Commencement day.

Communications for this Society may be sent to W. C. Alexander, Esq., Princeton.

Law Department.

THIS Department is under the direction of the Honorable Joseph C. Hornblower, late Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of New Jersey; James S. Green, Esq., late District Attorney of the United States for the State of New Jersey; and Richard S. Field, Esq., Attorney and Counsellor at Law.

The object of the Institution is to provide an ample course of legal instruction for gentlemen designed for the bar in any of the United States. This course embraces the various branches of public and Constitutional Law, Equity and Common Law, together with such instruction in the local jurisprudence of the particular States as occasion may require.

Instruction is given by means of recitations, examinations, lectures, and the preparation of legal forms and instruments. A Moot Court is holden every week in which questions of law are discussed by students appointed for that purpose, and opinions delivered by one of the Professors.

The course of studies is so arranged as to be completed in three years, and the students are divided into classes according to their proficiency; but generally speaking a student is at liberty to join one or more of the classes and to pursue such branches of study as he may select.

No examination is required for admission, but every student is expected to produce testimonials of good moral character, and sufficient literary and scientific attainments.

There are two terms or sessions in each year corresponding with the sessions of the College, the first beginning six weeks from the last Wednesday in June, and ending in nineteen weeks or the week before Christmas; the second beginning six weeks after the close of the first, and ending in twenty-one weeks or the last Wednesday in June.

The fees are $50 a session, to be paid in advance, for which sum, and without any additional charge, students have the use of text books, and of the Law and College Libraries, and are also entitled to attend the College Chapel and the Lectures of the Professors of the College. Good board can be had in Princeton or its vicinity for from two to three dollars a week.

All students who have pursued their studies in the Law School for two years are entitled upon the recommendation of the Law Faculty to the degree of Bachelor of Laws. But if they have already been admitted to the bar they are entitled to such degree after pursuing their studies for one year.

All applications for admission, and communications touching the Law School may be made to James S. Green or Richard S. Field, of Princeton.

Terms of Admission.

CANDIDATES for admission to the Freshman, or lowest class, are examined in Cæsar's Commentaries (5 books), Sallust, Virgil (Eclogues, and six Books of the Æneid), Cicero's Select Orations contained in the volume in Usum Delphini, Mair's Introduction to Latin Syntax, the Gospels in the Greek Testament, Dalzel's Collectanea Græca Minora, or Jacob's Greek Reader, or other Authors equivalent in quantity, together with Latin and Greek Grammar, including Latin Prosody; also, on English Grammar, Arithmetic the Elements of Algebra, (through simple equations), Geography, ancient and modern.

Every student admitted to a class higher than the Freshman, is examined on all the previous studies of the class which he wishes to enter.

An accurate and thorough acquaintance with the studies required for admission is indispensably necessary, in order to receive the full advantage of the College course.

It is found from experience, that Students imperfectly prepared, for the classes which they enter, are embarrassed in their future progress—and are seldom able to repair the want of solid preparatory instruction.

To prevent disappointment it should be distinctly understood, that an accurate and thorough knowledge of preliminary studies is more likely to ensure admission and to enable the Student to improve the advantages of this Institution, than a superficial acquaintance with some higher branches of literature and science.

In all cases testimonials of moral character are required; and if the Student has been a member of another College he must bring with him a certificate from the President or Faculty, that he is free from censure in that institution.

Course of Instruction.

THE whole course of instruction requires four years; namely, one year in each of the four classes into which the Students are divided.

The Freshman and Sophomore Classes are instructed by the Professors of Ancient and Modern Languages and of Mathematics, aided by the Tutors. The Junior and Senior Classes by the President and Professors.

The studies of the several Classes are as follows:

FRESHMAN CLASS.

First Term.
- Livy,
- Xenophon's Anabasis,
- Archæology,
- Latin and Greek Exercises,
- Algebra, (Hackley's,)
- History.

Second Term.
- Horace, (Odes,)
- Xenophon's Memorabilia,
- Latin and Greek Exercises,
- Algebra completed,
- Geometry, (Playfair's Euclid), commenced,
- History.

SOPHOMORE CLASS.

First Term.
- Horace, (Satires and Epistles,)
- Demosthenes de Corona,
- Latin and Greek Exercises,
- Ratio and Proportion, (Alexander's),
- Geometry, (Playfair's Euclid,) completed,
- Plane Trigonometry,
- Archæology.

Second Term.
- Cicero de Officiis, de Amicitia, et de Senectute,
- Homer's Iliad,
- Plane and Spherical Trigonometry; with their applications to Mensuration, Surveying, Navigation, &c.,
- Mathematical and Physical Geography.

SENIOR CLASS.

First Term.

- Logic,
- Philosophy of Mind,
- Natural Philosophy,
- Astronomy,
- Chemistry,
- Aristotle's Art of Poetry.

Second Term.

- Moral Philosophy,
- Constitutional Law,
- Natural Philosophy,
- Astronomy,
- Chemistry,
- Mineralogy,
- Geology,
- Zoology,
- General Review of Studies.

All the classes have Bible recitations on the Sabbath, and also a recitation in the Greek Testament, or on the evidences of Christianity, on Monday morning.

All the Students are required frequently to produce original essays. Those of the three lower classes pronounce orations, in the presence of their respective classes. The members of the Senior Class deliver orations of their own composition as often as the Faculty may direct.

Lectures.

In addition to the recitations of the several Classes, the following courses of lectures are delivered on the principal branches of science and literature, namely, a course on

Moral Philosophy,	By the PRESIDEDT.
Greek Literature,	Prof. MACLEAN,
Geology,	Prof. HENRY,
Chemistry,	Prof. TORREY.
Mineralogy	Do.
Botany,	Do.
Astronomy,	Prof. ALEXANDER.
Mathematical and Physical Geography,	Do.
Rhetoric,	Prof. HOPE.

Mechanical Philosophy,	Prof. MCCULLOH.
Physics,	Do.
Architecture,	Prof. GIGER.
Zoology,	Dr. SCHANCK.
Anatomy and Physiology,	Do.
Constitutional Law,	R. S. FIELD, ESQ.

Gentlemen not connected with the College have the privilege of attending the above lectures by making application to the several lecturers.

Other lectures are frequently given at the same hours in which the recitations are heard, and are therefore attended by none except the members of the several Classes.

Examinations.

Four public examinations take place during the College year: one in the middle, and one at the close of each session. Absence from these examinations is found to be very injurious to the improvement of a student, and renders him liable to be placed in a lower class. Reports respecting the behaviour, and scholarship of the students, are sent to the parents or guardians after each examination.

English Grammar, Arithmetic, and Geography, being required for admission, are not included in the College course of instruction: but in order to secure attention to these studies, indispensably necessary in every situation of life, the Classes are examined on them twice a year, and deficiencies, if any exists are reported to parents and guardians.

Public Worship.

Prayers are offered in the College Chapel every morning and evening, when one of the Faculty officiates, and all the Students are required to be present. They are also required to attend worship in the Chapel on Sunday, except such as have permission to attend service in town.

Libraries.

The College Library contains nine thousand five hundred volumes, and is opened on Monday and Tuesday of each week for the accommodation of the Students. Resident Graduates have the privilege of taking out books upon the same terms as Under Graduates. In the libraries belonging to the two literary societies there are about eight thousand volumes. The total number of volumes, therefore, in the three libraries, is above seventeen thousand.

Apparatus.

Expenses.

THE stated Expenses of the College each session, paid in advance, exclusive of books, clothes, lights, room furniture, and travelling expenses, are as follows, viz:

FIRST TERM.		SECOND TERM.
Board 19 weeks, 2.50 a week,	$47 50	Board, 21 weeks,	$52 50
Tuition,	25 00	Tuition,	25 00
Room Rent,	6 00	Room Rent,	6 00
Fuel,	7 00	Fuel,	7 00
Library,	1 00	Library,	1 00
Servant's wages,	4 00	Servant's wages,	4 00
Washing,	7 00	Washing,	4 00
Incidental,	4 00	Incidental,	7 00
	$101 50		$106 50

A deduction of $3.00 from each of the above bills, is made in favour of those students who dispense with all attendance of servants in their private rooms.

Under certain restrictions, Students are permitted to take their meals in private families, and in this case boarding varies from $2.00 to $3.00 a week. In some cases select associations of students have been formed, whose expenses do not exceed $1.50 a week; while the arrangements for the purpose are perfectly satisfactory, and by some preferred to every other. Besides these economical arrangements, the College has the control of funds, for the aid of candidates for the ministry.

No student is permitted to take a room or to lodge out of the College buildings unless all the rooms belonging to the College are occupied.

The sums above stated are advanced for fuel; if less be consumed than amounts to the moneys advanced, the surplus is returned; if more, the deficiency is charged to the Student.

New Students pay a matriculation fee of five dollars and thirty-three cents for a copy of the printed laws.

When a Student is dismissed from College for any cause, the whole amount advanced for board, washing, and fuel, from the time of dismission will be refunded to the order of his parent or guardian.

Terms and Vacations.

The College year is divided into two Terms or Sessions. The Annual Commencement is on the last Wednesday in June, and the first term of the next College year begins the 12th of August and closes on Thursday the 23d of December. The second term begins on Thursday the 3d of February, and ends on the last Wednesday of June—the day of the Annual Commencement.

It is particularly recommended that when practicable, all the students spend their vacations at home with their parents or friends; or when this is inconvenient, that they take boarding elsewhere than in Princeton. It is found that when a number of young persons are collected together without regular occupation or study, the temptations to idleness and dissipation are often too strong to be resisted.

It is highly important that the students should return to College in time to attend the first recitations or lectures of their respective classes, since an absence of a few days at the time when a new branch of study is commenced, seldom fails to embarrass the whole course, and in some cases it is impossible to make up the loss.

Public Exercises.

THE ANNUAL COMMENCEMENT takes place on the last Wednesday in June.

On the day preceding the Commencement an oration is delivered before the two Literary Societies by a member of one of them. The orator for the current year is Rev. B. R. HALL, D. D., of Newburgh, N. Y., a member of the Cliosophic Society.

On the evening preceding the Commencement, orations are pronounced by eight members of the Junior Class, four from each Hall.

The Annual Meeting of the Alumni Association of Nassau Hall is held in the College Chapel on Commencement day.

Communications for this Society may be sent to W. C. Alexander, Esq., Princeton.

Law Department.

This Department is under the direction of the Honorable Joseph C. Hornblower, late Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of New Jersey; James S. Green, Esq., late District Attorney of the United States for the State of New Jersey; and Richard S. Field, Esq., Attorney and Counsellor at Law.

The object of the Institution is to provide an ample course of legal instruction for gentlemen designed for the bar in any of the United States. This course embraces the various branches of public and Constitutional Law, Equity and Common Law, together with such instruction in the local jurisprudence of the particular States as occasion may require.

Instruction is given by means of recitations, examinations, lectures, and the preparation of legal forms and instruments. A Moot Court is holden every week in which questions of law are discussed by students appointed for that purpose, and opinions delivered by one of the Professors.

The course of studies is so arranged as to be completed in three years, and the students are devided into classes according to their proficiency; but generally speaking a student is at liberty to join one or more of the classes and to pursue such branches of study as he may select.

No examination is required for admission, but every student is expected to produce testimonials of good moral character, and sufficient literary and scientific attainments.

There are two terms or sessions in each year corresponding with the sessions of the College, the first beginning six weeks from the last Wednesday in June, and ending in nineteen weeks, or the week before Christmas; the second beginning six weeks after the close of the first, and ending in twenty-one weeks or the last Wednesday in June.

The fees are $50 a session, to be paid in advance, for which sum, and without any additional charge, students have the use of text books, and of the Law and College Libraries, and are also entitled to attend the College Chapel and the Lectures of the Professors of the College. Good board can be had in Princeton or its vicinity for from two to three dollars a week.

All students who have pursued their studies in the Law School for two years are entitled upon the recommendation of the Law Faculty to the degree of Bachelor of Laws. But if they have already been admitted to the bar they are entitled to such degree after pursuing their studies for one year.

All applications for admission, and communications touching the Law School may be made to James S. Green or Richard S. Field, of Princeton.

TERMS OF ADMISSION.

CANDIDATES for admission to the Freshman, or lowest class, are examined in Cæsar's Commentaries (5 books), Sallust, Virgil (Eclogues, and six Books of the Æneid), Cicero's Select Orations contained in the volume in Usum Delphini, Mair's Introduction to Latin Syntax, the Gospels in the Greek Testament, Dalzel's Collectanea Graeca Minora, or Jacob's Greek Reader, or other Authors equivalent in quantity, together with Latin and Greek Grammar, including Latin Prosody; also, on English Grammar, Arithmetic, the Elements of Algebra, (through simple equations), Geography, ancient and modern.

Every student admitted to a class higher than the Freshman, is examined on all the previous studies of the class which he wishes to enter.

An accurate and thorough acquaintance with the studies required for admission is indispensably necessary, in order to receive the full advantage of the College course.

It is found from experience, that Students imperfectly prepared, for the classes which they enter, are embarrassed in their future progress—and are seldom able to repair the want of solid preparatory instruction.

To prevent disappointment it should be distinctly understood, that an accurate and thorough knowledge of preliminary studies is more likely to ensure admission and to enable the Student to improve the advantages of this Institution, than a superficial acquaintance with some higher branches of literature and science.

In all cases testimonials of moral character are required; and if the Student has been a member of another College he must bring with him a certificate from the President or Faculty, that he is free from censure in that institution.

COURSE OF INSTRUCTION.

The whole course of instruction requires four years; namely, one year in each of the four classes into which the Students are divided.

The Freshman and Sophomore Classes are instructed by the Professors of Ancient and Modern Languages and of Mathematics, aided by the Tutors. The Junior and Senior Classes by the President and Professors.

The studies of the several Classes are as follows:

FRESHMAN CLASS.

First Term.

- Livy,
- Xenophon's Anabasis.
- Archæology,
- Latin and Greek Exercises,
- Algebra, (Hackley's,)
- History.

Second Term.

- Horace, (Odes,)
- Xenophon's Memorabilia,
- Latin and Greek Exercises,
- Algebra completed,
- Geometry, (Playfair's Euclid), commenced,
- History,

SOPHOMORE CLASS.

First Term.

- Horace, (Satires and Epistles,)
- Demosthenes de Corona,
- Latin and Greek Exercises,
- Ratio and Proportion, (Alexander's,)
- Geometry, (Playfair's Euclid,) completed,
- Plane Trigonometry,
- Archæology.

Second Term.

- Cicero de Officiis, de Amicitia, et de Senectute,
- Homer's Illiad,
- Plane and Spherical Trigonometry; with their applications to Mensuration, Surveying, Navigation, &c.
- Mathematical and Physical Geography.

JUNIOR CLASS.

First Term.

- Rhetoric, (Whately and Blair,)
- Analytical Geometry, including Conic Sections, (Young's,)
- Tacitus, (Germania and Agricola,)
- Euripides,
- Evidences of Christianity, Alexander's.)

Second Term.

SENIOR CLASS.

First Term.

- Logic,
- Philosophy of Mind,
- Natural Philosophy,
- Astronomy,
- Chemistry,
- Aristotle's Art of Poetry.

Second Term.

- Moral Philosophy,
- Constitutional Law,
- Natural Philosophy,
- Astronomy,
- Chemistry,
- Mineralogy,
- Geology,
- Zoology,
- General Review of Studies.

All the classes have Bible recitations on the Sabbath, and also a recitation in the Greek Testament, or on the evidence of Christianity, on Monday morning.

All the Students are required frequently to produce original essays. Those of the three lower classes pronounce orations, in the presence of their respective classes. The members of the Senior Class deliver orations of their own composition as often as the Faculty may direct.

LECTURES.

In addition to the recitations of the several Classes, the following courses of lectures are delivered on the principal branches of science and literature, namely, a course on

Moral Philosophy,	By the President.
Greek Literature,	Prof. Maclean.
Geology,	Prof. Henry.
Chemistry,	Prof. Torrey.
Mineralogy,	Do.
Botany,	Do.
Astronomy,	Prof. Alexander.
Mathematical and Physical Geography,	Do.
Rhetoric,	Prof. Hope.
English Literature,	Do.
Anatomy and Physiology,	Do.
Mechanical Philosophy,	Prof. McCulloh.
Physics,	Do.
History,	Prof. Moffat.
Architecture,	Prof. Giger.
Zoology,	Dr. Schanck.
Constitutional Law,	R. S. Field, Esq.

Gentlemen not connected with the College have the privilege of attending the above lectures by making application to the several lecturers.

Other lectures are frequently given at the same hours in which the recitations are heard, and are therefore attended by none except the members of the several Classes.

EXAMINATIONS.

Four public examinations take place during the College year: one in the middle, and one at the close of each session. Absence from these examinations is found to be very injurious to the improvement of a student, and renders him liable to be placed in a lower class. Reports respecting the behavior, and scholarship of the students, are sent to the parents or guardians after each examination.

English Grammar, Arithmetic, and Geography, being required for admission, are not included in the College course of instruction; but in order to secure attention to these studies, indispensably necessary in every situation of life, the Classes are examined on them twice a year, and deficiencies, if any exist, are reported to parents and guardians.

PUBLIC WORSHIP.

Prayers are offered in the College Chapel every morning and evening, when one of the Faculty officiates, and all the Students are required to be present. They are also required to attend worship in the Chapel on Sunday, except such as have permission to attend service in town.

LIBRARIES.

The College Library contains nine thousand eight hundred volumes, and is opened on Monday and Tuesday of each week for the accommodation of the Students. Resident Graduates have the privilege of taking out books upon the same terms as Under Graduates. In the libraries belonging to the two literary societies there are about eight thousand volumes. The total number of volumes, therefore, in the three libraries, is nearly eighteen thousand.

APPARATUS.

EXPENSES.

The stated Expenses of the College each session, paid in advance, including Tuition, Room Rent, Fuel, Library, Servant's Wages, Washing and Incidental, are $55.50.

A deduction of $3.00 from the above bill, is made in favour of those students who dispense with all attendance of servants in their private rooms.

The price of Board in the College Refectory, at $2.50 a week, is $47.50 for the First Term of 19 weeks, and $52.50 for the Second Term of 21 weeks.

Under certain restrictions, students are permitted to take their meals in private families, and in this case boarding varies from $2.00 to $3.50 a week. In some cases select associates of students have been formed, whose expenses do not exceed $1.50 a week; while the arrangements for the purpose are perfectly satisfactory, and by some preferred to every other. Besides these economical arrangements, the College has the control of funds, for the aid of candidates for the ministry.

No student is permitted to take a room or to lodge out of the College buildings unless all the rooms belonging to the College are occupied.

New students pay a matriculation fee of five dollars and thirty-three cents for a copy of the printed laws.

When a student is dismissed from College for any cause, the whole amount advanced for board, washing, and fuel, from the time of dismission will be refunded to the order of his parent or guardian.

TERMS AND VACATIONS.

The College year is divided into two Terms or Sessions. The Annual Commencement is on the last Wednesday in June, and the first term of the next College year begins the 11th of August and closes on Thursday the 22d of December. The second term begins on Thursday the 9th of February, and ends on the last Wednesday of June—the day of the Annual Commencement.

It is particularly recommended that when practicable, all the students spend their vacations at home with their parents or friends; or when this is inconvenient, that they take boarding elsewhere than in Princeton. It is found that when a number of young persons are collected together without regular occupation or study, the temptations to idleness and dissipation are often too strong to be resisted.

It is highly important that the students should return to College in time to attend the first recitations or lectures of their respective classes, since an absence of a few days at the time when a new branch of study is commenced, seldom fails to embarrass the whole course, and in some cases it is impossible to make up the loss.

PUBLIC EXERCISES.

The Annual Commencement takes place on the last Wednesday in June.

On the day preceding the Commencement an oration is delivered before the two Literary Societies by a member of one of them. The orator for the current year is Benjamin H. Brewster, Esq., of Philadelphia, Pa., a member of the Whig Society.

On the evening preceding the Commencement, orations are pronounced by eight members of the Junior Class, four from each Hall.

The Annual Meeting of the Alumni Association of Nassau Hall is held in the College Chapel on Commencement day.

Communications for this Society may be sent to W. C. Alexander, Esq., Princeton.

APPENDIX.

TERMS OF ADMISSION.

CANDIDATES for admission to the Freshman, or lowest class, are examined in Cæsar's Commentaries (5 books), Sallust, Virgil (Eclogues, and six Books of the Æneid), Cicero's Select Orations contained in the volume in Usum Delphini, Mair's Introduction to Latin Syntax, the Gospels in the Greek Testament, Dalzel's Collectanea Graeca Minora, or Jacob's Greek Reader, or other Authors equivalent in quantity, together with Latin and Greek Grammar, including Latin Prosody; also, on English Grammar Arithmetic, the Elements of Algebra, (through simple equations), Geography, ancient and modern.

Every student admitted to a class higher than the Freshman, is examined on all the previous studies of the class which he wishes to enter.

An accurate and thorough acquaintance with the studies required for admission is indispensably necessary, in order to receive the full advantage of the College course.

It is found from experience, that Students imperfectly prepared, for the classes which they enter, are embarrassed in their future progress—and are seldom able to repair the want of solid preparatory instruction.

To prevent disappointment it should be distinctly understood, that an accurate and thorough knowledge of preliminary studies is more likely to ensure admission and to enable the Student to improve the advantages of this Institution, than a superficial acquaintance with some higher branches of literature and science.

In all cases testimonials of moral character are required; and if the Student has been a member of another College he must bring with him a certificate from the President or Faculty, that he is free from censure in that institution.

COURSE OF INSTRUCTION.

The whole course of instruction requires four years; namely, one year in each of the four classes into which the Students are divided.

The Freshman and Sophomore Classes are instructed by the Professors of Ancient and Modern Languages and of Mathematics, aided by the Tutors. The Junior and Senior Classes by the President and Professors.

The studies of the several Classes are as follows:

FRESHMAN CLASS.

First Term.

- Livy,
- Xenophon's Anabasis,
- Archæology,
- Latin and Greek Exercises,
- Algebra, (Hackley's),
- History,

Second Term.

- Horace, (Odes),
- Xenophon's Memorabilia,
- Latin and Greek Exercises,
- Algebra completed,
- Geometry, (Playfair's Euclid), commenced,
- History,

SOPHOMORE CLASS.

First Term.

- Horace, (Satires and Epistles),
- Demosthenes de Corona,
- Latin and Greek Exercises,
- Ratio and Proportion, (Alexander's),
- Geometry, (Playfair's Euclid), completed,
- Plane Trigonometry,
- Archæology,

Second Term.

- Cicero de Officiis, de Amicitia, et de Senectute,
- Homer's Iliad
- Plane and Spherical Trigonometry; with their applications to Mensuration, Surveying, Navigation, &c.
- Mathematical and Physical Geography.

JUNIOR CLASS.

First Term.

- Rhetoric, (Whately and Blair),
- Trench on Words,
- Analytical Geometry, including Conic Sections, (Young's),
- Tacitus, (Germania and Agricola),
- Euripides,
- Evidences of Christianity, (Alexander's).

Second Term.

- Rhetoric,
- Differential and Integral Calculus, (Alexander's),
- Mechanics,
- Juvenal and Persius,
- Sophocles, (Œdipus Tyrannus,)
- Natural Theology, (Paley's,)
- Agassiz and Gould's Zoölogy,
- Civil Architecture,
- Botany.

SENIOR CLASS.

First Term.

- Logic,
- Philosophy of Mind,
- Natural Philosophy,
- Astronomy,
- Chemistry,
- Aristotle's Art of Poetry.

Second Term.

- Moral Philosophy,
- Constitutional Law,
- Astronomy,
- Chemistry,
- Mineralogy,
- Geology,
- Zoology,
- General Review of Studies.

All the classes have Bible recitations on the Sabbath, and also a recitation in the Greek Testament, or on the Evidences of Christianity, on Monday morning.

All the Students are required frequently to produce original essays. Those of the three lower classes pronounce orations, in the presence of their respective classes. The members of the Senior Class deliver orations of their own composition as often as the Faculty may direct.

LECTURES.

In addition to the recitations of the several Classes, the following courses of lectures are delivered on the principal branches of science and literature, namely, a course on

Moral Philosophy,	By the PRESIDENT.
Greek Literature,	Prof. MACLEAN.
Geology,	Prof. HENRY.
Chemistry,	Prof. TORREY.
Mineralogy,	Do.
Botany,	Do.
Astronomy,	Prof. ALEXANDER.
Mathematical and Physical Geography,	Do.
Rhetoric,	Prof. HOPE.
English Literature,	Do.
Anatomy and Physiology,	Do.
Mechanical Philosophy,	Prof. McCULLOH.
Physics,	Do.
History,	Prof. MOFFAT.
Architecture,	Prof. GIGER.
Zoology,	Dr. SCHANCK.

Gentlemen not connected with the College have the privilege of attending the above lectures by making application to the several lecturers.

Other lectures are frequently given at the same hours in which the recitations are heard, and are therefore attended by none except the members of the several Classes.

EXAMINATIONS.

Four public examinations take place during the College year: one in the middle, and one at the close of each session. Absence from these examinations is found to be very injurious to the improvement of a student, and renders him liable to be placed in a lower class. Reports respecting the behavior, and scholarship of the students, are sent to the parents or guardians after each examination.

English Grammar, Arithmetic, and Geography, being required for admission, are not included in the College course of instruction; but in order to secure attention to these studies, indispensably necessary in every situation of life, the Classes are examined on them twice a year, and deficiencies, if any exist, are reported to parents and guardians.

PUBLIC WORSHIP.

Prayers are offered in the College Chapel every morning and evening, when one of the Faculty officiates, and all the Students are required to be present. They are also required to attend worship in the Chapel on Sunday, except such as have the permission to attend service in town.

LIBRARIES.

The College Library contains ten thousand volumes, and is opened on Monday and Tuesday of each week for the accommodation of the Students. Resident Graduates have the privilege of taking out books upon the same terms as Under Graduates. In the libraries belonging to the two literary societies there are nine thousand volumes. The total number of volumes, therefore, in the three libraries, is nineteen thousand.

APPARATUS.

EXPENSES.

The stated Expenses of the College each session, paid in advance, including Tuition, Room Rent, Fuel, Library, Servant's Wages, Washing are $55.50.

A deduction of $3.00 from the above bill, is made in favour of those students who dispense with all attendance of servants in their private rooms.

The price of Board in the College Refectory, for the First Term of 19 weeks is $57.00, and for the Second Term of 21 weeks is $63.00.

Students are permitted to take their meals in private families, and in this case boarding varies from $2.25 to $3.50 a week. In some cases select clubs of students have been formed, whose expenses do not exceed $2.00 a week; while the arrangements for the purpose are perfectly satisfactory, and by some preferred to every other. Besides these economical arrangements, the College has the control of funds, for the aid of candidates for the ministry.

No student is permitted to take a room or to lodge out of the College buildings unless all the rooms belonging to the College are occupied.

New students pay a matriculation fee of five dollars and thirty-three cents for a copy of the printed laws.

When a student is dismissed from College for any cause, the whole amount advanced for board, washing, and fuel, from the time of dismission will be refunded to the order of his parent or guardian.

TERMS AND VACATIONS.

The College year is divided into two Terms or Sessions. The Annual Commencement is on the last Wednesday in June, and the first term of the next College year begins the 10th of August and closes on Thursday the 21st of December. The second term begins on Thursday the 1st of February, and ends on the last Wednesday in June—the day of the Annual Commencement.

It is particularly recommended that when practicable, all the students spend their vacations at home with their parents or friends; or when this is inconvenient, that they take boarding elsewhere than in Princeton. It is found that when a number of young persons are collected together without regular occupation or study, the temptations to idleness and dissipation are often too strong to be resisted.

It is highly important that the students should return to College in time to attend the first recitations or lectures of their respective classes, since an absence of a few days at the time when a new branch of study is commenced, seldom fails to embarrass the whole course, and in some cases it is impossible to make up the loss.

PUBLIC EXERCISES.

THE ANNUAL COMMENCEMENT takes place on the last Wednesday in June.

On the day preceding the Commencement an oration is delivered before the two Literary Societies by a member of one of them. The orator for the current year is PHILIP R. FENDALL, Esq., of Washington City, D. C., a member of the Cliosophic Society.

On the evening preceding the Commencement, orations are pronounced by eight members of the Junior Class, four from each Hall.

The Annual Meeting of the Alumni Association of Nassau Hall is held in the College Chapel on Commencement day.

Communications for this Society may be sent to W. C. Alexander, Esq., Princeton.

APPENDIX.

TERMS OF ADMISSION.

Candidates for admission to the Freshman, or lowest class, are examined in Cæsar's Commentaries (5 books), Sallust, Virgil, (Eclogues, and six Books of the Æneid), Cicero's Select Orations contained in the volume in Usum Delphini, Mair's Introduction to Latin Syntax, the Gospels in the Greek Testament, Dalzel's Collectanea Graeca Minora, or Jacob's Greek Reader, or other Authors equivalent in quantity, together with Latin and Greek Grammar, including Latin Prosody; also, on English Grammar, Arithmetic, the Elements of Algebra, (through simple equations), Geography, ancient and modern.

Every student admitted to a class higher than the Freshman, is examined on all the previous studies of the class which he wishes to enter.

An accurate and thorough acquaintance with the studies required for admission is indispensably necessary, in order to receive the full advantage of the College course.

It is found from experience, that Students imperfectly prepared for the classes which they enter, are embarrassed in their future progress—and are seldom able to repair the want of solid preparatory instruction.

To prevent disappointment it should be distinctly understood, that an accurate and thorough knowledge of preliminary studies is more likely to ensure admission and to enable the Student to improve the advantages of this Institution, than a superficial acquaintance with some higher branches of literature and science.

In all cases testimonials of moral character are required; and if the Student has been a member of another College he must bring with him a certificate from the President or Faculty, that he is free from censure in that institution.

COURSE OF INSTRUCTION.

The whole course of instruction requires four years; namely, one year in each of the four classes into which the Students are divided.

The Freshman and Sophomore classes are instructed by the Professors of Ancient and Modern Languages and of Mathematics, aided by the Tutors. The Junior and Senior Classes by the President and Professors.

The studies of the several Classes are as follows:

TERMS OF ADMISSION.

CANDIDATES for admission to the Freshman, or lowest class, are examined in Cæsar's Commentaries (5 books), Sallust, Virgil, (Eclogues, and six Books of the Æneid), Cicero's Select Orations contained in the volume in Usum Delphini, Mair's Introduction to Latin Syntax, the Gospels in the Greek Testament, Bullions' or Felton's Greek Reader, and one book of the Anabasis, or other authors equivalent in quantity, together with Latin and Greek Grammar, including Latin Prosody; also, on English Grammar, Arithmetic, the Elements of Algebra, (through simple equations), Geography, ancient and modern.

Every Student admitted to a class higher than the Freshman, is examined on all the previous studies of the class which he wishes to enter.

An accurate acquaintance with the studies required for admission is indispensably necessary, in order to receive the full advantage of the College course.

It is found from experience, that Students imperfectly prepared for the classes which they enter, are embarrassed in their future progress, and are seldom able to repair the want of solid preparatory instruction.

To prevent disappointment, it should be distinctly understood, that a thorough knowledge of preliminary studies is more likely to ensure admission and to enable the Student to improve the advantages of this Institution, than a superficial acquaintance with some higher branches of literature and science.

In all cases testimonials of moral character are required; and if the Student has been a member of another College, he must bring with him a certificate from the President or Faculty, that he is free from censure in that institution.

COURSE OF INSTRUCTION.

The whole course of instruction requires four years; namely, one year in each of the four classes into which the Students are divided.

The Freshman and Sophomore classes are instructed by the Professors of Ancient and Modern Languages and of Mathematics, aided by the Tutors. The Junior and Senior classes by the President and Professors.

The studies of the several Classes are as follows:

FRESHMAN CLASS.

FIRST TERM.

- Livy,
- Xenophon's Anabasis,

- Chemistry,
- Mineralogy,
- Geology,
- Zoology,
- General Review of Studies.

All the classes have Bible recitations on the Sabbath, and also a recitation in the Greek Testament, or on the Evidences of Christianity, on Monday morning.

All the Students are required frequently to produce original essays. Those of the three lower classes pronounce orations, in the presence of their respective classes. The members of the Senior Class deliver orations of their own composition, as often as the Faculty may direct.

LECTURES.

In addition to the recitations of the several Classes, the following courses of lectures are delivered on the principal branches of science and literature, namely, a course on

Religion, Natural and Revealed,	By the President.
Physics,	Prof. Henry.
Mechanical Philosophy,	Prof. Alexander.
Physics,	Do.
Astronomy,	Do.
Rhetoric,	Prof. Hope.
English Literature,	Do.

Civil History,	Prof. Matile.
Fine Arts,	Rev. Mr. Dod.
Chemistry,	Dr. Schanck.
Zoology,	Do.
Anatomy and Physiology,	Do.
Mineralogy,	Do.
Botany,

Gentlemen not connected with the College have the privilege of attending the above lectures by making application to the several lecturers.

Other lectures are frequently given at the same hours in which the recitations are heard, and are therefore attended by none except the members of the several Classes.

EXAMINATIONS.

Four public examinations take place during the College year; one in the middle, and one at the close of each session. Absence from these examinations is found to be very injurious to the improvement of a student, and renders him liable to be placed in a lower class. Reports respecting the behaviour, and scholarship of the students, are sent to the parents or guardians after each examination.

English Grammar, Arithmetic, and Geography, being required for admission, are not included in the College course of instruction; but in order to secure attention to these studies, indispensably necessary in every situation of life, the Classes are examined on them twice a year, and deficiencies, if any exist, are reported to the parents and guardians.

PUBLIC WORSHIP.

Prayers are offered in the College Chapel every morning and evening, when one of the Faculty officiates, and all the Students are required to be present. They are also required to attend worship in the Chapel on the Sabbath, except such as have permission to attend service in town.

LIBRARIES.

The College Library contains ten thousand six hundred volumes, and is opened on Monday and Tuesday of each week for the accommodation of the Students. Resident Graduates have the privilege of taking out books upon the same terms as Under Graduates. In the libraries belonging to the two literary societies there are nine thousand volumes. The total number of volumes, therefore, in the three libraries, is nineteen thousand six hundred.

APPARATUS.

EXPENSES.

The stated Expenses of the College each session, paid in advance, including Tuition, Room Rent, Fuel, Library, Servant's Wages, Washing, are $55.50.

A deduction of $3.00 from the above bill, is made in favor of those students who dispense with all attendance of servants in their private rooms.

The price of Board varies from $2.00 to $4.00. All bills for board must be paid in advance to the Treasurer of the College; and paid in full for the session. If any student change his place of boarding, without the consent of the President of the College, he shall forfeit the sum of $5 to be paid to the Treasurer.

No Student is permitted to take a room, or to lodge out of the College buildings, unless all the rooms belonging to the College are occupied.

New Students pay a matriculation fee of five dollars, and thirty-three cents for a copy of the printed laws.

Each member of the Senior Class is required to pay $9.50 for a diploma at the beginning of the second session of the Senior year, when he pays the other college bills.

When a Student is dismissed from College for any cause, the whole amount advanced for board, washing, and fuel, from the time of dismission will be refunded to the order of his parent or guardian.

Note:—"Nassau Hall," the edifice destroyed by fire last year, will be reoccupied at the beginning of the next College session, in August.

TERMS AND VACATIONS.

The College year is divided into two Terms or Sessions. The Annual Commencement is on the last Wednesday in June, and the first term of the next College year begins the 7th of August and closes on Thursday the 18th of December. The second term begins on Thursday the 29th of January, and ends on the last Wednesday in June—the day of the Annual Commencement.

It is particularly recommended that when practicable, all the students spend their vacations at home with their parents or friends; or when this is inconvenient, that they take boarding elsewhere than in Princeton. It is found that when a number of young persons are collected together without regular occupation or study, the temptations to idleness and dissipation are often too strong to be resisted.

It is highly important that the students should return to College in time to attend the first recitations or lectures of their respective classes, since an absence of a few days at the time when a new branch of study is commenced, seldom fails to embarrass the whole course, and in some cases it is impossible to make up the loss.

PUBLIC EXERCISES.

The Annual Commencement takes place on the last Wednesday in June.

On the day preceding the Commencement an oration is delivered before the two Literary Societies by a member of one of them. The orator for the current year is James Chesnut, Esq., of Camden, S. C., a member of the Cliosophic Society.

On the evening preceding the Commencement, orations are pronounced by eight members of the Junior Class, four from each Hall.

The Annual Meeting of the Alumni Association of Nassau Hall is held in the College Chapel on Commencement day.

Communications for this Society may be sent to W. C. Alexander, Esq., Princeton.

SOPHOMORES,.....84.

7. Any town or district contributing one or more scholarships, may offer the privilege of such scholarships, as a premium for superior attainments; provided always that such persons shall be fully prepared, in the judgment of the Faculty, for the classes into which they seek admission.

8. The proceeds of all vacant scholarships, to be at the disposal of the Trustees.

The advantages sought for, in the founding of these scholarships, are,—

1. To extend the prosperity and usefulness of the Institution by means of an endowment which, besides strengthening and enlarging its educational provisions, may place its advantages within reach of a large, important, and growing class of young men, who could not otherwise enjoy the privilege.

2. To prevent the deterioration of education by inadequate provisions, and, to stimulate the preparatory and academic training of students, by offering the privilege of a free education, as an inducement and reward, to higher preparation.

3. To elevate by this means the standard of liberal and professional training, wherever the influence of the College may reach.

Persons desiring to found such scholarships, while not in a condition to pay down the Principal, may do so by transmitting sixty dollars annually, or thirty dollars semi-annually, to any officer of the College, and securing the Principal, $1000, by Bequest, or in whatever form they may prefer. In such case, the scholarship would, of course, lapse on the failure of the parties, to pay the amount in question.

It is believed that the founding of such Scholarships will prove a most efficient means of promoting the interests of the Institution, and the cause of liberal and professional education in the country. The co-operation of the friends of Princeton, especially of the Alumni, is earnestly solicited, for the purpose of enlarging this Fund, whether by donations of their own, or by seeking to call out the benevolence of such friends, as may have it in their power, to promote these great objects, by gift, or bequest.

Besides this form of endowment, a friend of the College has signified his purpose to endow one of the Professorships, in the sum of $25,000. If this munificent example should be followed, in the case of other leading Professorships, the scope and power of the Institution would be greatly enhanced, while its provisions would be thereby brought within the reach of a much larger number of students.

PROHIBITED SECRET SOCIETIES.

THE following resolutions in regard to Secret Societies were passed, unanimously, by the Trustees of the College, at their meeting on the 28th and 29th of June, 1855.

RESOLVED, That with respect to prohibited secret societies, the Trustees approve of the action of the Faculty in their requiring students about to enter College, to pledge themselves NOT to join any secret societies: and that they urge the Faculty to put an end to these secret societies.

RESOLVED, That the President be directed at the opening of the next session of the College, to announce publicly to the students; that the subject of prohibited secret societies was deliberately considered by the Trustees: and the Faculty were, by a unanimous vote, required promptly to dismiss any student known after that date to be a member of such an association.

FREE SCHOLARSHIPS.

THE attention of Teachers and other friends of the College, and especially of students preparing for admission, is invited to the provision furnished by these scholarships, for bringing the advantages of the Institution within the reach of such students as may qualify themselves to win such distinction. Under these conditions, the attainment of a free education becomes an honor to the holder, because it is an evidence of a superior preparation.

The competition for such of these scholarships as are at the disposal of the Faculty, at the close of the present term, or at the beginning of the next, will be conducted on the following principles, viz:

1. Preference will always be given to applicants for the Freshman Class.

2. The relative attainments in all cases to be determined by the Faculty.

3. The successful competitors to retain their scholarships during their College course, unless forfeited by neglect of study, or by improper conduct.

4. Candidates must in all cases present testimonials of good moral conduct.

5. Any person or persons contributing a Thousand Dollars shall have the privilege of giving a name to such scholarship; and in case any contributor shall prefer to do so, he may retain the right to nominate the incumbent.

6. Any Church contributing a Thousand Dollars, may, if they desire it, place upon that foundation the sons of their ministers; or, in lieu of that, may nominate some candidate for the ministry, to receive its avails.

7. Any town or district contributing one or more scholarships, may offer the privilege of such scholarships, as a premium for superior attainments; provided always that such persons shall be fully prepared, in the judgment of the Faculty, for the classes into which they seek admission.

8. The proceeds of all vacant scholarships, to be at the disposal of the Trustees.

The advantages sought for, in the founding of these scholarships, are,—

1. To extend the prosperity and usefulness of the Institution by means of an endowment which, besides strengthening and enlarging its educational provisions, may place its advantages within reach of a large, important, and growing class of young men, who could not otherwise enjoy the privilege.

2. To prevent the deterioration of education by inadequate provisions, and, to stimulate the preparatory and academic training of students, by offering the privilege of a free education, as an inducement and reward, to higher preparation.

3. To elevate by this means the standard of liberal and professional training, wherever the influence of the College may reach.

Persons desiring to found such scholarships, while not in a condition to pay down the Principal, may do so by transmitting sixty dollars annually, or thirty dollars semi-annually, to any officer of the College, and securing the Principal, $1000, by Bequest, or in whatever form they may prefer. In such case, the scholarship would, of course, lapse on the failure of the parties, to pay the amount in question.

It is believed that the founding of such Scholarships will prove a most efficient means of promoting the interests of the Institution, and the cause of liberal and professional education in the country. The co-operation of the friends of Princeton, especially of the Alumni, is earnestly solicited, for the purpose of enlarging this Fund, whether by donations of their own, or by seeking to call out the benevolence of such friends, as may have it in their power, to promote these great objects, by gift, or bequest.

Besides this form of endowment, a friend of the College has signified his purpose to endow one of the Professorships, in the sum of $25,000. If this munificent example should be followed, in the case of other leading Professorships, the scope and power of the Institution would be greatly enhanced, while its provisions would be thereby brought within the reach of a much larger number of students.

TERMS OF ADMISSION.

CANDIDATES for admission to the Freshman, or lowest class, are examined in Cæsar's Commentaries (5 books), Sallust, Virgil, (Eclogues, and six Books of the Æneid), Cicero's Select Orations contained in the volume in Usum Delphini, Mair's Introduction to Latin Syntax, the Gospels in the Greek Testament, Bullion's or Felton's Greek Reader, and one book of the Anabasis or other authors equivalent in quantity, together with Latin and Greek Grammar, including Latin Prosody; also, on English Grammar, Arithmetic, the Elements of Algebra, (through simple equations), Geography, ancient and modern.

Every Student admitted to a class higher than the Freshman, is examined on all the previous studies of the class which he wishes to enter.

An accurate acquaintance with the studies required for admission is indispensably necessary, in order to receive the full advantage of the College course.

It is found from experience, that Students imperfectly prepared for the classes which they enter, are embarrassed in their future progress, and are seldom able to repair the want of solid preparatory instruction.

To prevent disappointment, it should be distinctly understood, that a thorough knowledge of preliminary studies is more likely to ensure admission and to enable the Student to improve the advantages of this Institution, than a superficial acquaintance with some higher branches of literature and science.

In all cases testimonials of moral character are required; and if the Student has been a member of another College, he must bring with him a certificate from the President or Faculty, that he is free from censure in that institution.

COURSE OF INSTRUCTION.

The whole course of instruction requires four years; namely, one year in each of the four classes into which the Students are divided.

The Freshman and Sophomore classes are instructed by the Professors of Ancient and Modern Languages and of Mathematics, aided by the Tutors. The Junior and Senior classes by the President and Professors.

The studies of the several Classes are as follows:

FRESHMAN CLASS.

FIRST TERM.

- Livy,

- Chemistry,
- Mineralogy,
- Geology,
- Zoology,
- General Review of Studies.

All the classes have Bible recitations on the Sabbath, and also a recitation in the Greek Testament, or on the Evidences of Christianity, on Monday morning.

All the Students are required frequently to produce original essays. Those of the three lower classes pronounce orations, in the presence of their respective classes. The members of the Senior Class deliver orations of their own composition, as often as the Faculty may direct.

LECTURES.

In addition to the recitations of the several Classes, the following courses of lectures are delivered on the principal branches of science and literature, namely, a course on

Religion, Natural and Revealed,	By the President.
Physics,	Prof. Henry.
Mechanical Philosophy,	Prof. Alexander.
Physics,	Do.
Astronomy,	Do.

Chemistry,	Dr. Schaeffer.
Zoology,	Do.
Anatomy and Physiology,	Do.
Mineralogy,	Do.
Botany,

Gentlemen not connected with the College have the privilege of attending the above lectures by making application to the several lecturers.

Other lectures are frequently given at the same hours in which the recitations are heard, and are therefore attended by none except the members of the several Classes.

EXAMINATIONS.

Four public examinations take place during the College year; one in the middle, and one at the close of each session. Absence from these examinations is found to be very injurious to the improvement of a student, and renders him liable to be placed in a lower class. Reports respecting the behaviour, and scholarship of the students, are sent to the parents or guardians after each examination.

English Grammar, Arithmetic, and Geography, being required for admission, are not included in the College course of instruction; but in order to secure attention to these studies, indispensably necessary in every situation of life, the Classes are examined on them twice a year, and deficiencies, if any exist, are reported to the parents and guardians.

PUBLIC WORSHIP.

Prayers are offered in the College Chapel every morning and evening, when one of the Faculty officiates, and all the Students are required to be present. They are also required to attend worship in the Chapel on the Sabbath, except such as have permission to attend service in town.

LIBRARIES.

The College Library contains ten thousand eight hundred volumes, and is opened on Monday and Tuesday of each week for the accommodation of the Students. Resident Graduates have the privilege of taking out books upon the same terms as Under Graduates. In the libraries belonging to the two literary societies there are nine thousand volumes. The total number of volumes, therefore, in the three libraries, is nineteen thousand eight hundred.

APPARATUS.

The College possesses a valuable set of Astronomical, Philosophical and Chemical Apparatus, a well-selected Mineralogical Cabinet, a Museum of Natural History, a large collection of drawings for the illustration of the lectures on Architecture, Natural Philosophy, Astronomy, and a full-sized Maniken for the illustration of the lectures on Natural Theology and Anatomy.

To the Apparatus and materials of the Chemical Department, a large and very valuable addition has recently been made by the purchase of Dr. Torrey's Apparatus and Chemical materials, selected by him during the many years that he was Professor of Chemistry, in the City of New York.

About two thousand specimens have been added to the mineralogical Cabinet from collections made by Dr. Torrey, and the late Rev. Dr. Johnston, of Newburgh, N. Y.

Through the liberality of Caleb H. Shipman, Esq., of Newark, N. J., a valuable beginning of a Geological Museum has been made by a Collection of three hundred species of Fossils, most of which are represented by numerous specimens. These Fossils, collected in the various geological formations of the state of New York, and carefully determined, possess a peculiar interest for the history of life in the earliest geological periods of our globe, so fully developed in the rocks of North America.

EXPENSES.

The stated Expenses of the College each session, paid in advance, including Tuition, Room Rent, Fuel, Library, Servant's Wages, Washing, are $55.50.

A deduction of $3.00 from the above bill, is made in favor of those students who dispense with all attendance of servants in their private rooms.

The price of Board varies from $2.00 to $4.00. All bills for board must be paid in advance to the Treasurer of the College; and paid in full for the session. If any student change his place of boarding, without the consent of the President of the College, he shall forfeit the sum of $5 to be paid to the Treasurer.

No Student is permitted to take a room, or to lodge out of the College buildings, unless all the rooms belonging to the College are occupied.

New Students pay a matriculation fee of five dollars, and thirty-three cents for a copy of the printed laws.

Each member of the Senior Class is required to pay $9.50 for a diploma at the beginning of the second session of the Senior year, when he pays the other college bills.

When a Student is dismissed from College for any cause, the whole amount advanced for board, washing, and fuel, from the time of dismission will be refunded to the order of his parent or guardian.

TERMS AND VACATIONS.

The College year is divided into two Terms or Sessions. The Annual Commencement is on the last Wednesday in June, and the first term of the next College year begins the 13th of August and closes on Thursday the 24th of December. The second term begins on Thursday the 4th of February, and ends on the last Wednesday in June—the day of the Annual Commencement.

It is particularly recommended that when practicable, all the students spend their vacations at home with their parents or friends; or when this is inconvenient, that they take boarding elsewhere than in Princeton. It is found that when a number of young persons are collected together without regular occupation or study, the temptations to idleness and dissipation are often too strong to be resisted.

It is highly important that the students should return to College in time to attend the first recitations or lectures of their respective classes, since an absence of a few days at the time when a new branch of study is commenced, seldom fails to embarrass the whole course, and in some cases it is impossible to make up the loss.

PUBLIC EXERCISES.

The Annual Commencement takes place on the last Wednesday in June.

On the day preceding the Commencement an oration is delivered before the two Literary Societies by a member of one of them. The orator for the current year is the Hon. William C. Alexander, of Princeton, N. J., a member of the American Whig Society.

On the evening preceding the Commencement, orations are pronounced by eight members of the Junior Class, four from each Hall.

The Annual Meeting of the Alumni Association of Nassau Hall is held in the College Chapel on Commencement day.

Communications for this Society may be sent to W. C. ALEXANDER, Esq., Princeton.

PROHIBITED SECRET SOCIETIES.

THE following resolutions in regard to Secret Societies were passed, unanimously, by the Trustees of the College, at their meeting on the 28th and 29th of June, 1855.

RESOLVED, That with respect to prohibited secret societies, the Trustees approve of the action of the Faculty in their requiring students about to enter College, to pledge themselves NOT to join any secret societies: and that they urge the Faculty to put an end to these secret societies.

RESOLVED, That the President be directed at the opening of the next session of the College, to announce publicly to the students; that the subject of prohibited secret societies was deliberately considered by the Trustees: and the Faculty were, by a unanimous vote, required promptly to dismiss any student known after that date to be a member of such an association.

FREE SCHOLARSHIPS.

THE attention of Teachers and other friends of the College, and especially of students preparing for admission, is invited to the provision furnished by these scholarships, for bringing the advantages of the Institution within the reach of such students as may qualify themselves to win such distinction. Under these conditions, the attainment of a free education becomes an honor to the holder, because it is an evidence of a superior preparation.

The competition for such of these scholarships as are at the disposal of the Faculty, at the close of the present term, or at the beginning of the next, will be conducted on the following principles, viz:

1. Preference will always be given to applicants for the Freshman Class.
2. The relative attainments in all cases to be determined by the Faculty.
3. The successful competitors to retain their scholarships during their College course unless forfeited by neglect of study, or by improper conduct.
4. Candidates must in all cases present testimonials of good moral conduct.
5. Any person or persons contributing a Thousand Dollars shall have the privilege of giving a name to such scholarship; and in case any contributor shall prefer to do so, he may retain the right to nominate the incumbent.
6. Any Church contributing a Thousand Dollars, may, if they desire it, place upon that foundation the sons of their ministers; or, in lieu of that, may nominate some candidate for the ministry, to receive its avails.

7. Any town or district contributing one or more scholarships, may d the privilege of such scholarships. as a premium for superior attainment provided always that such persons shall be fully prepared, in the judgment the Faculty, for the classes into which they seek admission.

8. The proceeds of all vacant scholarships, to be at the disposal of Trustees.

THE advantages sought for, in the founding of these scholarships, are,—

1. To extend the prosperity and usefulness of the Institution by means of endowment which, besides strengthening and enlarging its educational pro sions, may place its advantages within reach of a large, important, and gro ing class of young men, who could not otherwise enjoy the privilege.

2. To prevent the deterioration of education by inadequate provisions, to stimulate the preparatory and academic training of students, by offering privilege of a free education, as an inducement and reward, to hig preparation.

3. To elevate by this means the standard of liberal and professional trai wherever the influence of the College may reach.

Persons desiring to found such scholarships, while not in a condition to down the Principal, may do so by transmitting sixty dollars annually, or dollars semi-annually, to any officer of the College, and securing the Prin $1000, by Bequest, or in whatever form they may prefer. In such cas scholarship would, of course lapse on the failure of the parties, to pay amount in question.

It is believed that the founding of such Scholarships will prove a efficient means of promoting the interests of the Institution, and the ca liberal and professional education in the country. The co-operation of friends of Princeton, especially of the Alumni, is earnestly solicited, for purpose of enlarging this Fund, whether by donations of their own, or seeking to call out the benevolence of such friends, as may have it in power, to promote these great objects, by gift, or bequest.

Besides this form of endowment, a friend of the College has signifi purpose to endow one of the PROFESSORSHIPS, in the sum of $25,000. T munificent example should be followed, in the case of other leading Pro ships, the scope and power of the Institution would be greatly enha while its provisions would be thereby brought within the reach of a larger number of students.

APPENDIX.

TERMS OF ADMISSION.

CANDIDATES for admission to the Freshman, or lowest class, are examined in Cæsar's Commentaries (5 books), Sallust, Virgil, (Eclogues, and six Books of the Æneid), Cicero's Select Orations contained in the volume in Usum Delphini, Mair's Introduction to Latin Syntax, the Gospels in the Greek Testament, Bullion's or Felton's Greek Reader, and one book of the Anabasis, or other authors equivalent in quantity, together with Latin and Greek Grammar, including Latin Prosody; also, on English Grammar, Arithmetic, the Elements of Algebra, (through simple equations), Geography, ancient and modern.

Every Student admitted to a class higher than the Freshman, is examined on all the previous studies of the class which he wishes to enter.

An accurate acquaintance with the studies required for admission is indispensably necessary, in order to receive the full advantage of the College course.

It is found from experience, that Students imperfectly prepared for the classes which they enter, are embarrassed in their future progress, and are seldom able to repair the want of solid preparatory instruction.

To prevent disappointment, it should be distinctly understood, that a thorough knowledge of preliminary studies is more likely to ensure admission and to enable the Student to improve the advantages of this Institution, than a superficial acquaintance with some higher branches of literature and science.

In all cases testimonials of moral character are required; and if the Student has been a member of another College, he must bring with him a certificate from the President or Faculty, that he is free from censure in that institution.

COURSE OF INSTRUCTION.

The whole course of instruction requires four years; namely, one year in each of the four classes into which the Students are divided.

The Freshman and Sophomore classes are instructed by the Professors of Ancient and Modern Languages and of Mathematics, aided by the Tutors. The Junior and Senior classes by the President and Professors.

The studies of the several Classes are as follows:

FRESHMAN CLASS.

FIRST TERM.

- Livy,
- Herodotus,

Gentlemen not connected with the College have the privilege of attending the above lectures by making application to the several lecturers.

Other lectures are frequently given at the same hours in which the recitations are heard, and are therefore attended by none except the members of the several Classes.

EXAMINATIONS.

Four public examinations take place during the College year; one in the middle, and one at the close of each session. Absence from these examinations is found to be very injurious to the improvement of a student, and renders him liable to be placed in a lower class. Reports respecting the behaviour, and scholarship of the students, are sent to the parents or guardians after each examination.

English Grammar, Arithmetic, and Geography, being required for admission, are not included in the College course of instruction; but in order to secure attention to these studies, indispensably necessary in every situation of life, the Classes are examined on them twice a year, and deficiencies, if any exist, are reported to the parents and guardians.

PUBLIC WORSHIP.

Prayers are offered in the College Chapel every morning and evening, when one of the Faculty officiates, and all the Students are required to be present. They are also required to attend worship in the Chapel on the Sabbath, except such as have permission to attend service in town.

LIBRARIES.

The College Library contains eleven thousand volumes, and is opened on Monday and Tuesday of each week for the accommodation of the Students. Resident Graduates have the privilege of taking out books upon the same terms as Under Graduates. In the libraries belonging to the two literary societies there are ten thousand volumes. The total number of volumes, therefore, in the three libraries, is twenty-one thousand.

APPARATUS.

The College possesses a valuable set of Astronomical, Philosophical and Chemical Apparatus, a well-selected Mineralogical Cabinet, a Museum of Natural History, a large collection of drawings for the illustration of the lectures on Architecture, Natural Philosophy, Astronomy, and a full-sized Maniken for the illustration of the lectures on Natural Theology and Anatomy.

To the Apparatus and materials of the Chemical Department, a large and very valuable addition has recently been made by the purchase of Dr. Torrey's Apparatus and Chemical materials, selected by him during the many years that he was Professor of Chemistry, in the City of New York.

About two thousand specimens have been added to the mineralogical Cabinet from collections made by Dr. Torrey, and the late Rev. Dr. Johnston, of Newburgh, N. Y.

Through the liberality of Caleb H. Shipman, Esq., of Newark, N. J., a valuable beginning of a Geological Museum has been made by a Collection of three hundred species of Fossils, most of which are represented by numerous specimens. These Fossils, collected in the various geological formations of the state of New York, and carefully determined, possess a peculiar interest for the history of life in the earliest geological periods of our globe, so fully developed in the rocks of North America.

EXPENSES.

The Expenses of the College each session, paid in advance, including Tuition, Room Rent, Fuel, Library, Servant's Wages, Washing, vary from $57 to $66.

A deduction of $3.00 from the above sums is made in favor of those students who dispense with all attendance of servants in their private rooms.

The price of Board varies from $2.00 to $4.00. All bills for board must be paid in advance to the Treasurer of the College; and paid in full for the session. If any student change his place of boarding, without the consent of the President of the College, he shall forfeit the sum of $5 to be paid to the Treasurer.

No Student is permitted to take a room, or to lodge out of the College buildings, unless all the rooms belonging to the College are occupied.

New Students pay a matriculation fee of five dollars, and thirty-three cents for a copy of the printed laws.

Each member of the Senior Class is required to pay $9.50 for a diploma at the beginning of the second session of the Senior year, when he pays the other college bills.

When a Student is dismissed from College for any cause, the whole amount advanced for board, washing, and fuel, from the time of dismission will be refunded to the order of his parent or guardian.

TERMS AND VACATIONS.

The College year is divided into two Terms or Sessions. The Annual Commencement is on the last Wednesday in June, and the first term of the next College year begins the 12th of August and closes on Thursday the 23rd of December. The second term begins on Thursday the 3rd of February, and ends on the last Wednesday in June—the day of the Annual Commencement.

It is particularly recommended that when practicable, all the students spend their vacations at home with their parents or friends; or when this is inconvenient, that they take boarding elsewhere than in Princeton. It is found that when a number of young persons are collected together without regular occupation or study, the temptations to idleness and dissipation are often too strong to be resisted.

It is highly important that the students should return to College in time to attend the first recitations or lectures of their respective classes, since an absence of a few days at the time when a new branch of study is commenced, seldom fails to embarrass the whole course, and in some cases it is impossible to make up the loss.

PUBLIC EXERCISES.

The Annual Commencement takes place on the last Wednesday in June.

On the day preceding the Commencement an oration is delivered before the two Literary Societies by a member of one of them. The orator for the current year is the Hon. James Pollock, ll.d., of Pennsylvania, a member of the Cliosophic Society.

On the evening preceding the Commencement, orations are pronounced by eight members of the Junior Class, four from each Hall.

The Annual Meeting of the Alumni Association of Nassau Hall is held in the College Chapel on Commencement day.

Communications for this Society may be sent to W. C. ALEXANDER, Esq. Princeton.

PROHIBITED SECRET SOCIETIES.

THE following resolutions in regard to Secret Societies were passed, unanimously, by the Trustees of the College, at their meeting on the 28th and 29th of June, 1855.

RESOLVED, That with respect to prohibited secret societies, the Trustees approve of the action of the Faculty in their requiring students about to enter College, to pledge themselves NOT to join any secret societies: and that they urge the Faculty to put an end to these secret societies.

RESOLVED, That the President be directed at the opening of the next session of the College, to announce publicly to the students; that the subject of prohibited secret societies was deliberately considered by the Trustees: and the Faculty were, by a unanimous vote, required promptly to dismiss any student known after that date to be a member of such an association.

FREE SCHOLARSHIPS.

THE attention of Teachers and other friends of the College, and especially of students preparing for admission, is invited to the provision furnished by these scholarships, for bringing the advantages of the Institution within the reach of such students as may qualify themselves to win such distinction. Under these conditions, the attainment of a free education becomes an honor to the holder, because it is an evidence of a superior preparation.

The competition for such of these scholarships as are at the disposal of the Faculty, at the close of the present term, or at the beginning of the next, will be conducted on the following principles, viz:

1. Preference will always be given to applicants for the Freshman Class.
2. The relative attainments in all cases to be determined by the Faculty.
3. The successful competitors to retain their scholarships during their College course unless forfeited by neglect of study, or by improper conduct.
4. Candidates must in all cases present testimonials of good moral conduct.
5. Any person or persons contributing a Thousand Dollars shall have the privilege of giving a name to such scholarship; and in case any contributor shall prefer to do so, he may retain the right to nominate the incumbent.
6. Any Church contributing a Thousand Dollars, may, if they desire it, place upon that foundation the sons of their ministers; or, in lieu of that, may nominate some candidate for the ministry, to receive its avails.

7. Any town or district contributing one or more scholarships, may offer the privilege of such scholarships, as a premium for superior attainments; provided always that such persons shall be fully prepared, in the judgment of the Faculty, for the classes into which they seek admission.

8. The proceeds of all vacant scholarships, to be at the disposal of the Trustees.

THE advantages sought for, in the founding of these scholarships, are,—

1. To extend the prosperity and usefulness of the Institution by means of an endowment which, besides strengthening and enlarging its educational provisions, may place its advantages within reach of a large, important, and growing class of young men, who could not otherwise enjoy the privilege.

2. To prevent the deterioration of education by inadequate provisions, and to stimulate the preparatory and academic training of students, by offering the privilege of a free education, as an inducement and reward, to higher preparation.

3. To elevate by this means the standard of liberal and professional training wherever the influence of the College may reach.

Persons desiring to found such scholarships, while not in a condition to pay down the Principal, may do so by transmitting sixty dollars annually, or thirty dollars semi-annually, to any officer of the College, and securing the Principal, $1000, by Bequest, or in whatever form they may prefer. In such case, the scholarship would, of course, lapse on the failure of the parties to pay the amount in question.

It is believed that the founding of such Scholarships will prove a most efficient means of promoting the interests of the Institution, and the cause of liberal and professional education in the country. The co-operation of the friends of Princeton, especially of the Alumni, is earnestly solicited, for the purpose of enlarging this Fund, whether by donations of their own, or by seeking to call out the benevolence of such friends, as may have it in their power, to promote these great objects, by gift, or bequest.

Besides this form of endowment, a few friends of the College have secured for the endowment of three PROFESSORSHIPS, the sum of $75,000. If these examples of munificent liberality should be followed, the scope and power of the Institution would be greatly enhanced: while its provisions would be thereby brought within the reach of a much larger number of students.

APPENDIX.

TERMS OF ADMISSION.

CANDIDATES for admission to the Freshman, or lowest class, are examined in Cæsar's Commentaries (5 books), Sallust, Virgil, (Eclogues, and six Books of the Æneid), Cicero's Select Orations contained in the volume in Usum Delphini, Mair's Introduction to Latin Syntax, the Gospels in the Greek Testament, Bullion's or Felton's Greek Reader, and two books of the Anabasis, or other authors equivalent in quantity, together with Latin and Greek Grammar, including Latin Prosody; also, on English Grammar, Arithmetic, Hackley's Algebra, (through simple equations), Geography, ancient and modern.

Every Student admitted to a class higher than the Freshman, is examined on all the previous studies of the class which he wishes to enter.

An accurate acquaintance with the studies required for admission is indispensably necessary, in order to receive the full advantage of the College course.

It is found from experience, that Students imperfectly prepared for the classes which they enter, are embarrassed in their future progress, and are seldom able to repair the want of solid preparatory instruction.

To prevent disappointment, it should be distinctly understood, that a thorough knowledge of preliminary studies is more likely to ensure admission and to enable the Student to improve the advantages of this Institution, than a superficial acquaintance with some higher branches of literature and science.

In all cases testimonials of moral character are required; and if the Student has been a member of another College, he must bring with him a certificate from the President or Faculty, that he is free from censure in that institution.

COURSE OF INSTRUCTION.

The whole course of instruction requires four years; namely, one year in each of the four classes into which the Students are divided.

The Freshman and Sophomore classes are instructed by the Professors of Ancient and Modern Languages and of Mathematics, aided by the Tutors. The Junior and Senior classes by the President and Professors.

The studies of the several Classes are as follows:

FRESHMAN CLASS.

FIRST TERM.

- Livy,
- Herodotus,
- Archæology,
- Latin and Greek Exercises,
- Algebra, (Hackley's), completed,
- Biblical History and Geography, (Coleman's).

- History.

SENIOR CLASS.

FIRST TERM.

- Butler's Analogy,
- Natural Philosophy,
- Astronomy,
- Chemistry,
- Geology,
- Rhetoric, (Whately's),
- Aristotle's Art of Poetry,
- Longinus.

SECOND TERM.

- Butler's Analogy,
- Moral Philosophy, (Alexander's,)
- Constitutional Law,
- Natural Philosophy,
- Astronomy,
- Political Economy,
- Chemistry,
- Mineralogy,
- Geology,
- Zoology,
- General Review of Studies.

All the classes have Bible recitations on the Sabbath, and also a recitation in the Greek Testament, or on the Evidences of Christianity, on Monday morning.

All the Students are required frequently to produce original essays. Those of the three lower classes pronounce orations, in the presence of their respective classes. The members of the Senior Class deliver orations of their own composition, as often as the Faculty may direct.

LECTURES.

In addition to the recitations of the several Classes, the following courses of lectures are delivered on the principal branches of science and literature, namely, a course on

Religion, Natural and Revealed,	By the President.
Physics,	Prof. Henry.
Mechanical Philosophy,	Prof. Alexander.
Physics,	Do.
Astronomy,	Do.
Rhetoric,	Prof. Hope.
English Literature,	Do.
Political Economy,	Do.
Æsthetics,	Prof. Moffat.
Greek Literature,	Do.

Mathematics,	Prof. Duffield.
Fine Arts,	Rev. Mr. Dod.
Chemistry,	Dr. Schanck.
Zoology,	Do.
Anatomy and Physiology	Do.
Mineralogy,	Do.
Botany,

Gentlemen not connected with the College have the privilege of attending the above lectures by making application to the several lecturers.

Other lectures are frequently given at the same hours in which the recitations are heard, and are therefore attended by none except the members of the several Classes.

EXAMINATIONS.

Four public examinations take place during the College year; one in the middle, and one at the close of each session. Absence from these examinations is found to be very injurious to the improvement of a student, and renders him liable to be placed in a lower class. Reports respecting the behaviour, and scholarship of the students, are sent to the parents or guardians after each examination.

English Grammar, Arithmetic, and Geography, being required for admission, are not included in the College course of instruction; but in order to secure attention to these studies, indispensably necessary in every situation of life, the Classes are examined on them twice a year, and deficiencies, if any exist, are reported to the parents and guardians.

PUBLIC WORSHIP.

Prayers are offered in the College Chapel every morning and evening, when one of the Faculty officiates, and all the Students are required to be present. They are also required to attend worship in the Chapel on the Sabbath, except such as have permission to attend service in town.

LIBRARIES.

The College Library contains eleven thousand four hundred volumes, and is opened on Monday and Tuesday of each week for the accommodation of the Students. Resident Graduates have the privilege of taking out books upon the same terms as Under Graduates. In the libraries belonging to the two literary societies there are ten thousand volumes. The total number of volumes, therefore, in the three libraries, is twenty-one thousand four hundred.

APPARATUS.

The College possesses a valuable set of Astronomical, Philosophical and Chemical Apparatus, a well-selected Mineralogical Cabinet, a Museum of Natural History, a large collection of drawings for the illustration of the lectures on Architecture, Natural Philosophy, Astronomy, and a full-sized Manikin for the illustration of the lectures on Natural Theology and Anatomy.

To the Apparatus and materials of the Chemical Department, a large and very valuable addition has recently been made by the purchase of Dr. Torrey's Apparatus and Chemical materials, selected by him during the many years that he was Professor of Chemistry, in the City of New York.

About two thousand specimens have been added to the mineralogical Cabinet from collections made by Dr. Torrey, and the late Rev. Dr. Johnston, of Newburgh, N. Y.

Through the liberality of Caleb H. Shipman, Esq., of Newark, N. J., a valuable beginning of a Geological Museum has been made by a Collection of three hundred species of Fossils, most of which are represented by numerous specimens. These Fossils, collected in the various geological formations of the state of New York, and carefully determined, possess a peculiar interest for the history of life in the earliest geological periods of our globe, so fully developed in the rocks of North America.

EXPENSES.

The Expenses of the College each session, paid in advance, including Tuition, Room Rent, Fuel, Library, Servant's Wages, Washing, vary from $57 to $66.

A deduction of $3.00 from the above sums is made in favor of those students who dispense with all attendance of servants in their private rooms.

The price of Board varies from $2.00 to $4.00. All bills for board must be paid in advance to the Treasurer of the College; and paid in full for the session. If any student change his place of boarding, without the consent of the President of the College, he shall forfeit the sum of $5 to be paid to the Treasurer.

No Student is permitted to take a room, or to lodge out of the College buildings, unless all the rooms belonging to the College are occupied.

Every student, occupying a room in the College buildings, furnishes his own room.

New Students pay a matriculation fee of five dollars, and thirty-three cents for a copy of the printed laws.

Each member of the Senior Class is required to pay $9.50 for a diploma at the beginning of the second session of the Senior year, when he pays the other college bills.

When a Student is dismissed from College for any cause, the whole amount advanced for board, washing, and fuel, from the time of dismission will be refunded to the order of his parent or guardian.

TERMS AND VACATIONS.

The College year is divided into two Terms or Sessions. The Annual Commencement is on the last Wednesday in June, and the first term of the next College year begins the 11th of August and closes on Thursday the 22d of December. The second term begins on Thursday the 2d of February, and ends on the last Wednesday in June—the day of the Annual Commencement.

It is particularly recommended that when practicable, all the students spend their vacations at home with their parents or friends; or when this is inconvenient, that they take boarding elsewhere than in Princeton. It is found that when a number of young persons are collected together without regular occupation or study, the temptations to idleness and dissipation are often too strong to be resisted.

It is highly important that the students should return to College in time to attend the first recitations or lectures of their respective classes, since an absence of a few days at the time when a new branch of study is commenced seldom fails to embarrass the whole course, and in some cases it is impossible to make up the loss.

PUBLIC EXERCISES.

The Annual Commencement takes place on the last Wednesday in June.

On the day preceding the Commencement an oration is delivered before the two Literary Societies by a member of one of them. The orator (elect) for the current year is the Rev. Joshua Hall McIlvaine, D. D., of Rochester, New York, a member of the American Whig Society.

On the evening preceding the Commencement, orations are pronounced by eight members of the Junior Class, four from each Hall.

The Annual Meeting of the Alumni Association of Nassau Hall is held in the College Chapel on Commencement day.

Communications for this Society may be sent to W. C. ALEXANDER, Esq., Princeton.

PROHIBITED SECRET SOCIETIES.

THE following resolutions in regard to Secret Societies were passed, unanimously, by the Trustees of the College, at their meeting on the 28th and 29th of June, 1855.

RESOLVED, That with respect to prohibited secret societies, the Trustees approve of the action of the Faculty in their requiring students about to enter College, to pledge themselves NOT to join any secret societies: and that they urge the Faculty to put an end to these secret societies.

RESOLVED, That the President be directed at the opening of the next session of the College, to announce publicly to the students, that the subject of prohibited secret societies was deliberately considered by the Trustees, and the Faculty were, by a unanimous vote, required promptly to dismiss any student known after that date to be a member of such an association.

FREE SCHOLARSHIPS.

THE attention of Teachers and other friends of the College, and especially of students preparing for admission, is invited to the provision furnished by these scholarships, for bringing the advantages of the Institution within the reach of such students as may qualify themselves to win such distinction. Under these conditions, the attainment of a free education becomes an honor to the holder, because it is an evidence of a superior preparation.

The competition for such of these scholarships as are at the disposal of the Faculty, at the close of the present term, or at the beginning of the next, will be conducted on the following principles, viz:

1. Preference will always be given to applicants for the Freshman Class.
2. The relative attainments in all cases to be determined by the Faculty.
3. The successful competitors to retain their scholarships during their College course unless forfeited by neglect of study, or by improper conduct.
4. Candidates must in all cases present testimonials of good moral conduct
5. Any person or persons contributing a Thousand Dollars shall have the privilege of giving a name to such scholarship; and in case any contributor shall prefer to do so, he may retain the right to nominate the incumbent.

6. Any Church contributing a Thousand Dollars, may, if they desire it, place upon that foundation the sons of their ministers; or, in lieu of that, may nominate some candidate for the ministry, to receive its avails.

7. Any town or district contributing one or more scholarships, may offer the privilege of these scholarships, as a premium for superior attainments; provided always that such persons shall be fully prepared, in the judgment of the Faculty, for the classes into which they seek admission.

8. The proceeds of all vacant scholarships, to be at the disposal of the Trustees.

The advantages sought for, in the founding of these scholarships, are—

1. To extend the prosperity and usefulness of the Institution by means of an endowment which, besides strengthening and enlarging its educational provisions, may place its advantages within reach of a large, important, and growing class of young men, who could not otherwise enjoy the privilege.

2. To prevent the deterioration of education by inadequate provisions, and to stimulate the preparatory and academic training of students, by offering the privilege of a free education, as an inducement and reward, to higher preparation.

3. To elevate by this means the standard of liberal and professional training wherever the influence of the College may reach.

Persons desiring to found such scholarships, while not in a condition to pay down the Principal, may do so by transmitting sixty dollars annually, or thirty dollars semi-annually, to any officer of the College, and securing the Principal, $1000, by Bequest, or in whatever form they may prefer. In such case, the scholarships would, of course, lapse on the failure of the parties to pay the amount in question.

It is believed that the founding of such Scholarships will prove a most efficient means of promoting the interests of the Institution, and the cause of liberal and professional education in the country. The co-operation of the friends of Princeton, especially of the Alumni, is earnestly solicited, for the purpose of enlarging this Fund, whether by donations of their own, or by seeking to call out the benevolence of such friends, as may have it in their power, to promote these great objects, by gift, or bequest.

Besides this form of endowment, a few friends of the College have secured for the endowment of three Professorships, the sum of $75,000. If these examples of munificent liberality should be followed, the scope and power of the institution would be greatly enhanced: while its provisions would be thereby brought within the reach of a much larger number of students.

APPENDIX.

TERMS OF ADMISSION.

CANDIDATES for admission to the Freshman, or lowest class, are examined in Cæsar's Commentaries (5 books), Sallust, Virgil, (Eclogues, and six books of the Æneid), Cicero's Select Orations contained in the volume in Usum Delphini, Mair's Introduction to Latin Syntax, the Gospels in the Greek Testament, Bullion's or Felton's Greek Reader, and two books of the Anabasis, or other authors equivalent in quantity, together with Latin and Greek Grammar, including Latin Prosody; also, on English Grammar, Arithmetic, Algebra, (through simple equations), Geography, ancient and modern.

Candidates can be examined at any time during the college Sessions: but it is recommended that they apply for admission at the beginning of a term.

Every Student admitted to a class higher than the Freshman, is examined on the previous studies of the class which he wishes to enter.

An accurate acquaintance with the studies required for admission is indispensably necessary, in order to receive the full advantage of the College course.

It is found from experience, that Students imperfectly prepared for the classes which they enter, are embarrassed in their future progress, and are seldom able to repair the want of solid preparatory instruction.

To prevent disappointment, it should be distinctly understood, that a thorough knowledge of preliminary studies is more likely to insure admission and to enable the Student to improve the advantages of this Institution, than a superficial acquaintance with some higher branches of literature and science.

In all cases testimonials of moral character are required; and if the Student has been a member of another College, he must bring with him a certificate from the President or Faculty, that he is free from censure in that institution.

COURSE OF INSTRUCTION.

The whole course of instruction requires four years; namely one year in each of the four classes into which the students are divided.

The Freshmen and Sophomore classes are instructed by the Professors of Ancient and Modern Languages and of Mathematics, aided by the Tutors. The Junior and Senior Classes by the President and Professors.

The Studies of the several classes are as follows:

FRESHMAN CLASS.

FIRST TERM.

- Livy,
- Herodotus,
- Archæology,
- Latin and Greek Exercises,
- Algebra, (Hackley's), completed,

- Longinus.

SECOND TERM.

- Butler's Analogy,
- Moral Philosophy, (Alexander's),
- Constitutional Law,
- Natural Philosophy,
- Astronomy,
- Political Economy,
- Chemistry,
- Mineralogy,
- Geology,
- Zoology,
- General Review of Studies.

All the Classes have Bible recitations on the Sabbath, and also a recitation in the Greek Testament, or on the Evidences of Christianity, on Monday morning.

All the Students are required frequently to produce original essays. Those of the three lower classes pronounce orations, in the presence of their respective classes. The members of the Senior Class deliver orations of their own composition, as often as the faculty may direct.

LECTURES.

In addition to the recitations of the several Classes, the following courses of Lectures are delivered on the principal branches of science and literature. namely, a course on

Religion, Natural and Revealed	By the President.
Physics,	Prof. Henry.
Mechanical Philosophy,	Prof. Alexander.
Physics,	Do.
Astronomy,	Do.
* Rhetoric
* English Literature,	Do.

Mathematics,	Prof. Duffield.
Fine Arts,	Rev. Mr. Dod.
Chemistry,	Dr. Schaeck.
Zoology,	Do.
Anatomy and Physiology,	Do.
Mineralogy,	Do.
Botany,

Gentlemen not connected with the College have the privilege of attending the above lectures by making application to the several lecturers.

Other lectures are frequently given at the same hours in which the recitations are heard, and are therefore attended by none except the members of the several Classes.

*Dr. Hope lectured on these subjects during the first term of the College year.

EXAMINATIONS.

Four public examinations take place during the College year: one in the middle, and one at the close of each session. Absence from these examinations is found to be very injurious to the improvement of a student, and renders him liable to be placed in a lower class. Reports respecting the behavior, and scholarship of the students, are sent to the parents or guardian, after each examination.

English Grammar, Arithmetic, and Geography, being required for admission, are not included in the College course of instruction; but in order to secure attention to these studies, indispensably necessary in every situation of life, the Classes are examined on them twice a year, and deficiencies, if any exist, are reported to the parents and guardians.

PUBLIC WORSHIP.

Prayers are offered in the College Chapel every morning and evening, when one of the Faculty officiates, and all the Students are required to be present. They are also required to attend worship in the Chapel on the Sabbath, except such as have permission to attend service in town

LIBRARIES.

The College Library contains eleven thousand seven hundred volumes, and is opened on Monday and Tuesday of each week for the accommodation of the Students. Resident Graduates have the privilege of taking out books upon the same terms as Under Graduates. In the libraries belonging to the two literary societies there are ten thousand volumes. The total number of volumes, therefore, in the three libraries, is twenty one thousand seven hundred.

APPARATUS.

The College possesses a valuable set of Astronomical, Philosophical and Chemical Apparatus, a well-selected Mineralogical Cabinet, a Museum of Natural History, a large collection of drawings for the illustration of the lectures on Architecture, Natural Philosophy, Astronomy, and a full-sized Maniken for the illustration of the lectures on Natural Theology and Anatomy.

To the Apparatus and materials of the Chemical Department, a large and very valuable addition has recently been made by the purchase of Dr. Torrey's Apparatus and Chemical materials, selected by him during the many years that he was Professor of Chemistry, in the City of New York.

About two thousand specimens have been added to the mineralogical Cabinet from collections made by Dr. Torrey, and the late Rev. Dr. Johnston of Newburgh, N. Y.

Through the liberality of Caleb H. Shipman, Esq., of Newark, N. J., a valuable beginning of a Geological Museum has been made by a Collection of three hundred species of Fossils, most of which are represented by numerous specimens. These Fossils, collected in the various geological formations of the state of New York, and carefully determined, possess a peculiar interest for the history of life in the earliest geological periods of our globe, so fully developed in the rocks of North America.

EXPENSES.

The Expenses of the College each session, paid in advance, including Tuition, Room Rent, Fuel, Library, Servant's Wages, Washing, vary from $57 to $66.

A deduction of $3.00 from the above sums is made in favor of those students who dispense with all attendance of servants in their private rooms.

The price of Board varies from $2.00 to $4.00. All bills for board must be paid in advance to the Treasurer of the College; and paid in full for the session. If any student change his place of boarding, without the consent of the President of the College, he shall forfeit the sum of $5 to be paid to the Treasurer.

No student is permitted to take a room, or to lodge out of the College buildings, unless all the rooms belonging to the College are occupied.

Every Student, occupying a room in the College buildings, furnishes his own room.

New Students pay a matriculation fee of five dollars, and thirty-three cents for a copy of the printed laws.

Each member of the Senior Class is required to pay $9.50 for a diploma at the beginning of the second session of the Senior year, when he pays the other college bills.

When a Student is dismissed from College for any cause, the whole amount advanced for board, washing, and fuel, from the time of dismission will be refunded to the order of his parent or guardian.

TERMS AND VACATIONS.

The College year is divided into two Terms or Sessions. The Annual Commencement is on the last Wednesday in June, and the first term of the next College year begins the 9th of August and closes on Thursday the 20th of December. The second term begins on Thursday the 31st of January, and ends on the last Wednesday in June—the day of the Annual Commencement.

It is particularly recommended that when practicable, all the students spend their vacations at home with their parents or friends; or when this is inconvenient, that they take boarding elsewhere than in Princeton. It is found that when a number of young persons are collected together without regular occupation or study, the temptations to idleness and dissipation are often too strong to be resisted.

It is highly important that the students should return to College in time to attend the first recitations or lectures of their respective classes, since an absence of a few days at the time when a new branch of study is commenced seldom fails to embarrass the whole course, and in some cases it is impossible to make up the loss.

PUBLIC EXERCISES.

The Annual Commencement takes place on the last Wednesday in June.

On the day preceding the Commencement an oration is delivered before the two Literary Societies by a member of one of them. The Orator for this year will be chosen by the Cliosophic Society.

On the evening preceding the Commencement, orations are pronounced by eight members of the Junior Class, four from each Hall.

The Annual Meeting of the Alumni Association of Nassau Hall is held in the College Chapel on Commencement day.

Communications for this Society may be sent to W. C. Alexander, Esq., Princeton.

PROHIBITED SECRET SOCIETIES.

THE following resolutions in regard to Secret Societies were passed unanimously, by the Trustees of the College, at their meeting on the 28th and 29th of June, 1855.

RESOLVED, That with respect to prohibited secret societies, the Trustees approve of the action of the Faculty in their requiring students about to enter College, to pledge themselves NOT to join any secret societies: and that they urge the Faculty to put an end to these secret societies.

RESOLVED, That the President be directed at the opening of the next session of the College, to announce publicly to the students, that the subject of prohibited secret societies was deliberately considered by the Trustees, and the Faculty were, by a unanimous vote, required promptly to dismiss any student known after that date to be a member of such an association.

FREE SCHOLARSHIPS.

THE attention of Teachers and other friends of the College, and especially of students preparing for admission, is invited to the provision furnished by these scholarships, for bringing the advantages of the Institution within the reach of such students as may qualify themselves to win such distinction. Under these conditions, the attainment of a free education becomes an honor to the holder, because it is an evidence of a superior preparation.

The competition for such of these scholarships as are at the disposal of the Faculty, at the close of the present term, or at the beginning of the next, will be conducted on the following principles, viz:

1. Preference will always be given to applicants for the Freshman Class.
2. The relative attainments in all cases to be determined by the Faculty.
3. The successful competitors to retain their scholarships during the College course unless forfeited by neglect of study, or by improper conduct.
4. Candidates must in all cases present testimonials of good moral conduct.
5. Any person or persons contributing a Thousand Dollars shall have the privilege of giving a name to such scholarship; and in case any contributor shall prefer to do so, he may retain the right to nominate the incumbent.
6. Any Church contributing a Thousand Dollars, may if they desire it, place upon that foundation the sons of their ministers; or, in lieu of that, may nominate some candidate for the ministry, to receive its avails

7. Any town or district contributing one or more scholarships, may offer the privilege of such scholarships, as a premium for superior attainments; provided always that such persons shall be fully prepared, in the judgment of the Faculty, for the classes into which they seek admission.

8. The proceeds of all vacant scholarships, to be at the disposal of the Trustees.

The advantages sought for, in the founding of these scholarships, are—

1. To extend the prosperity and usefulness of the Institution by means of an endowment which, besides strengthening and enlarging its educational provisions, may place its advantages within reach of a large, important, and growing class of young men, who could not otherwise enjoy the privilege.

2. To prevent the deterioration of education by inadequate provisions, and to stimulate the preparatory and academic training of students, by offering the privilege of a free education, as an inducement and reward, to higher preparation.

3. To elevate by this means the standard of liberal and professional training wherever the influence of the College may reach.

Persons desiring to found such scholarships, while not in a condition to pay down the Principal, may do so by transmitting sixty dollars annually, or thirty dollars semi-annually, to any officer of the College, and securing the Principal, $1000, by Bequest, or whatever form they may prefer. In such case, the scholarships would, of course. lapse on the failure of the parties to pay the amount in question.

It is believed that the founding of such Scholarships will prove a most efficient means of promoting the interests of the Institution, and the cause of liberal and professional education in the country. The co-operation of the friends of Princeton, especially of the Alumni, is earnestly solicited, for the purpose of enlarging this Fund, whether by donations of their own, or by seeking to call out the benevolence of such friends, as may have it in their power to promote these great objects, by gift, or bequest.

Besides this form of endowment, a few friends of the College have secured for the endowment of three Professorships, the sum of $75,000. If these examples of munificent liberality should be followed, the scope and power of the institution would be greatly enhanced: while its provisions would be thereby brought within the reach of a much larger number of students.

Terms of Admission.

CANDIDATES for admission to the Freshman, or lowest class, are examined in Cæsar's Commentaries (5 books), Sallust, Virgil, (Eclogues, and six books of the Æneid), Cicero's Select Orations contained in the volume in Usum Delphini, Mair's Introduction to Latin Syntax, the Gospels in the Greek Testament, Bullion's or Felton's Greek Reader, and two books of the Anabasis, or other authors equivalent in quantity, together with Latin and Greek Grammar, including Latin Prosody; also, on English Grammar, Arithmetic, Algebra, (through simple equations), Geography, ancient and modern.

Candidates can be examined at any time during the college Sessions: but it is recommended that they apply for admission at the beginning of a term.

Every Student admitted to a class higher than the Freshman, is examined on the previous studies of the class which he wishes to enter.

An accurate acquaintance with the studies required for admission is indispensably necessary, in order to receive the full advantage of the College course.

It is found from experience, that Students imperfectly prepared for the classes which they enter, are embarrassed in their future progress, and are seldom able to repair the want of solid preparatory instruction.

To prevent disappointment, it should be distinctly understood, that a thorough knowledge of preliminary studies is more likely to insure admission and to enable the Student to improve the advantages of this Institution, than a superficial acquaintance with some higher branches of literature and science.

In all cases testimonials of moral character are required; and if the Student has been a member of another College, he must bring with him a certificate from the President or Faculty, that he is free from censure in that institution.

Course of Instruction.

The whole course of instruction requires four years; namely, one year in each of the four classes into which the Students are divided.

The Freshmen and Sophomore classes are instructed by the Professors of Ancient and Modern Languages and of Mathematics, aided by the Tutors. The Junior and Senior Classes by the President and Professors.

The Studies of the several classes are as follows:

- Rhetoric, (Longinus,)
- Geology,
- Zoology,
- General Review of Studies.

All the Classes have Bible recitations on the Sabbath, and also a recitation in the Greek Testament, or on the Evidences of Christianity, on Monday morning.

All the Students are required frequently to produce original essays. Those of the three lower classes pronounce orations in the presence of their respective classes. The members of the Senior Class deliver orations of their own composition, as often as the faculty may direct.

Lectures.

In addition to the recitations of the several Classes, the following courses of Lectures are delivered on the principal branches of Science and Literature, namely, a course on

Religion, Natural and Revealed,	By the President.
Physics,	Prof. Henry.
Mechanical Philosophy,	Prof. Alexander.
Physics,	Do.
Astronomy,	Do.
Æsthetics,	Prof. Moffatt.
Greek Literature,	Do.
Intellectual Philosophy,	Prof. Atwater.
Moral Philosophy,	Do.
Logic,	Do.
Physical Geography,	Prof. Guyot.
Geology,	Do.
Roman Literature,	Prof. Giger.
Architecture,	Do.
Mathematics,	Prof. Duffield.
Chemistry,	Dr. Schanck,
Zoology,	Do.
Anatomy and Physiology,	Do.
Mineralogy,	Do.
Botany,
Rhetoric,	Prof. McIlvaine.
English Literature,	Do.
Political Economy,	Do.

Gentlemen not connected with the College have the privilege of attending the above lectures by making application to the several lecturers.

Other lectures are frequently given at the same hours in which the recitations are heard, and are therefore attended by none except the members of the several Classes.

Examinations.

FOUR public examinations take place during the College year; one in the middle, and one at the close of each session Absence from these examinations is found to be very injurious to the improvement of a student, and renders him liable to be placed in a lower class. Reports respecting the behavior, and scholarship of the students, are sent to the parents or guardian, after each examination.

English Grammar, Arithmetic, and Geography, being required for admission, are not included in the College course of instruction; but in order to secure attention to these studies, indispensably necessary in every situation of life, the Classes are examined on them twice a year, and deficiencies, if any exist, are reported to the parents and guardians.

Public Worship.

PRAYERS are offered in the College Chapel every morning and evening, when one of the Faculty officiates, and all the students are required to be present. They are also required to attend worship in the Chapel on the Sabbath, except such as have permission to attend service in town.

Libraries.

THE College Library contains twelve thousand volumes, and is opened on Monday and Tuesday of each week for the accommodation of the Students. Resident Graduates have the privilege of taking out books upon the same terms as Under Graduates. In the libraries belonging to the two literary societies, there are ten thousand volumes. The total number of volumes, therefore, in the three libraries, is twenty-two thousand.

Apparatus.

The College possesses a valuable set of Astronomical, Philosophical and Chemical Apparatus, a well-selected mineralogical Cabinet, a Museum of Natural History, a large collection of drawings for the illustration of the lectures on Architecture, Natural Philosophy, Astronomy, and a full-sized Maniken for the illustration of the lectures on Natural Theology and Anatomy.

To the Apparatus and materials of the Chemical Department, a large and very valuable addition has recently been made by the purchase of Dr. Torrey's Apparatus and Chemical materials, selected by him during the many years that he was Professor of Chemistry, in the City of New York.

About two thousand specimens have been added to the mineralogical Cabinet from collections made by Dr. Torrey, and the late Rev. Dr. Johnston, of Newburgh, N. Y.

Through the liberality of Caleb H. Shipman, Esq., of Newark, N. J., a valuable beginning of a Geological Museum has been made by a collection of three hundred species of Fossils, most of which are represented by numerous specimens. These Fossils, collected in the various geological formations of the State of New York, and carefully determined, possess a peculiar interest in relation to the history of life in the earliest geological periods of our globe, so fully developed in the rocks of North America.

A considerable addition has been made to the Geological collection, through the liberality of Gov. Olden ; viz, several series of Fossils, containing nearly a thousand species, and numerous casts of large and rare Reptiles.

Expenses.

The Expenses of the College each session, for Tuition, Room Rent, Fuel, Library, Servant's Wages, Washing, vary from $57 to $66, and are required to be paid in advance.

A deduction of $3.00 from the above sums is made in favor of those students who dispense with all attendance of servants in their private rooms.

The price of Board varies from $2.25 to $4.00. All bills for board must be paid in advance to the Treasurer of the College; and paid in full for the session. If any student change his place of boarding, without the consent of the President of the College, he shall forfeit the sum of $5.00 to be paid to the Treasurer.

No student is permitted to take a room, or to lodge out of the College buildings, unless all the rooms belonging to the College are occupied.

Every student occupying a room in the College buildings, furnishes his own room.

New students pay a matriculation fee of five dollars, and twenty-five cents for a copy of the printed laws.

Each member of the Senior Class is required to pay $9.50 for a diploma at the beginning of the second session of the Senior year, when he pays the other College bills.

When a student is dismissed from College for any cause, the whole amount advanced for board, washing, and fuel, from the time of dismission will be refunded to the order of his parent or guardian.

Terms and Vacations.

The College year is divided into two Terms or Sessions. The Annual Commencement is on the last Wednesday in June, and the first term of the next College year begins on the 8th of August, and closes on Thursday, the 19th of December. The second term begins on Thursday, the 30th of January, and ends on the last Wednesday in June—the day of the Annual Commencement.

It is particularly recommended that when practicable, all the students spend their vacations at home with their parents or friends; or when this is inconvenient, that they take boarding elsewhere than in Princeton. It is found that when a number of young persons are collected together without regular occupation or study, the temptations to idleness and dissipation are often too strong to be resisted.

It is highly important that the students should return to College in time to attend the first recitations or lectures of their respective classes, since an absence of a few days at the time when a new branch of study is commenced seldom fails to embarrass the whole course, and in some cases it is impossible to make up the loss.

Public Exercises.

The Annual Commencement takes place on the last Wednesday in June.

On the day preceding the Commencement, an oration is delivered before the two Literary Societies by a member of one of them. The orator for this year will be chosen by the American Whig Society.

On the evening preceding the Commencement, orations are pronounced by eight members of the Junior Class, four from each Hall.

The Annual Meeting of the Alumni Association of Nassau Hall, is held in the College Chapel, on the day preceding the Commencement.

Communications for this Society may be sent to W. C. Alexander, Esq. Princeton.

Prohibited Secret Societies.

THE following resolutions in regard to Secret Societies, were passed, unanimously, by the Trustees of the College, at their meeting on the 28th and 29th of June, 1855.

RESOLVED, That with respect to prohibited secret societies, the Trustees approve of the action of the Faculty, in their requiring students about to enter College, to pledge themselves NOT to join any secret societies: and that they urge the Faculty to put an end to these secret societies.

RESOLVED, That the President be directed at the opening of the next session of the College, to announce publicly to the students, that the subject of prohibited secret societies was deliberately considered by the Trustees, and the Faculty were, by a unanimous vote, required promptly to dismiss any student known after that date to be a member of such an association.

Free Scholarships.

THE attention of teachers and other friends of the College, and especially of students preparing for admission, is invited to the provision furnished by these scholarships, for bringing the advantages of the Institution within the reach of such students as may qualify themselves to win such distinction. Under these conditions, the attainment of a free education becomes an honor to the holder, because it is an evidence of superior scholarship.

The competition for such of these scholarships as are at the disposal of the Faculty, at the close of the present term, or at the beginning of the next, will be conducted on the following principles, viz:

1. Preference will always be given to applicants for the Freshman Class.
2. The relative attainments in all cases to be determined by the Faculty.
3. The successful competitors to retain their scholarships during the College course, unless forfeited by neglect of study, or by improper conduct.
4. Candidates must in all cases present testimonials of good moral conduct.
5. Any person or persons contributing a Thousand Dollars, shall have the privilege of giving a name to such scholarship; and in case any contributor shall prefer to do so, he may retain the right to nominate the incumbent.
6. Churches contributing a Thousand Dollars each, may, if they desire it, place upon that foundation, the sons of their ministers; or, in lieu of that, may nominate some candidate for the ministry, to receive its avails.
7. Any town or district contributing one or more scholarships, may offer the privilege of such scholarships, as a premium for superior attainments provided always that such persons shall be fully prepared, in the judgment of the Faculty, for the classes into which they seek admission.

8. The proceeds of all vacant scholarships, to be at the disposal of the Trustees.

THE advantages sought for, in founding these scholarships, are—

1. To extend the prosperity and usefulness of the Institution by means of an endowment which, besides strengthening and enlarging its educational provisions, may place its advantages within the reach of a large, important, and increasing class of young men, who could not otherwise enjoy the privilege.

2. To prevent the deterioration of education in consequence of inadequate provisions, and to stimulate the preparatory training of students by offering the privilege of a free tuition in college, as an inducement and reward, to higher preparation.

3. To elevate by this means the standard of liberal and professional training wherever the influence of the College may reach.

Persons desiring to found such scholarships, may, if they prefer it, do so by transmitting sixty dollars annually, or thirty dollars semi-annually, to any officer of the College, and securing the Principal, $1000, by Bequest, or in whatever form they may prefer. In such case, the scholarships would, of course, lapse on the failure of the parties to pay the amount in question.

It is believed that the founding of such Scholarships will prove a most efficient means of promoting the interests of the Institution, and the cause of liberal and professional education in the country. The co-operation of the friends of Princeton, especially of the Alumni, is earnestly solicited, for the purpose of enlarging this Fund, either by donations of their own, or by seeking to call out the benevolence of such friends, as may have it in their power, to promote these great objects, by gift, or bequest.

Besides this form of endowment, a few friends of the College have secured for the endowment of three PROFESSORSHIPS, the sum of $75,000. If these examples of munificent liberality should be followed, the scope and power of the institution would be greatly enhanced: while its provisions would be thereby brought within the reach of a much larger number of students.

Appendix.

Terms of Admission.

Candidates for admission to the Freshman, or lowest class, are examined in Cæsar's Commentaries (5 books), Sallust, Virgil, (Eclogues, and six books of the Æneid), Cicero's Select Orations contained in the volume in Usum Delphini, Mair's Introduction to Latin Syntax, the Gospels in the Greek Testament, Bullion's or Felton's Greek Reader, and two books of the Anabasis, or other authors equivalent in quantity, together with Latin and Greek Grammar, including Latin Prosody; also, on English Grammar, Arithmetic, Algebra, (through simple equations), Geography, ancient and modern.

Candidates can be examined at any time during the college Sessions: but it is recommended that they apply for admission at the beginning of a term.

Every Student admitted to a class higher than the Freshman, is examined on the previous studies of the class which he wishes to enter.

An accurate acquaintance with the studies required for admission is indispensably necessary, in order to receive the full advantage of the College course.

It is found from experience, that Students imperfectly prepared for the classes which they enter, are embarrassed in their future progress, and are seldom able to repair the want of solid preparatory instruction.

To prevent disappointment, it should be distinctly understood, that a thorough knowledge of preliminary studies is more likely to insure admission and to enable the Student to improve the advantages of this Institution, than a superficial acquaintance with some higher branches of literature and science.

In all cases testimonials of moral character are required; and if the Student has been a member of another College, he must bring with him a certificate from the President or Faculty, that he is free from censure in that institution.

All the Classes have Bible recitations on the Sabbath, and also a recitation in the Greek Testament, or on the Evidences of Christianity, on Monday morning.

All the students are required frequently to produce original essays. Those of the three lower classes pronounce orations in the presence of their respective classes. The members of the Senior Class deliver orations of their own composition, as often as the faculty may direct.

Lectures.

In addition to the recitations of the several Classes, the following courses of Lectures are delivered on the principal branches of Science and Literature, namely, a course on

Religion, Natural and Revealed,	By the President.
Physics,	Prof. Henry.
Mechanical Philosophy,	Prof. Alexander.
Physics,	Do.

Rhetoric,	Prof. McIlvaine.
English Literature,	Do.
Political Economy,	Do.

Gentlemen not connected with the College have the privilege of attending the above lectures by making application to the several lecturers.

Other lectures are frequently given at the same hours in which the recitations are heard, and are therefore attended by none except the members of the several Classes.

Examinations.

Four public examinations take place during the College year; one in the middle, and one at the close of each session Absence from these examinations is found to be very injurious to the improvement of a student, and renders him liable to be placed in a lower class. Reports respecting the behavior, and scholarship of the students, are sent to the parents or guardian, after each examination.

English Grammar, Arithmetic, and Geography, being required for admission, are not included in the College course of instruction; but in order to secure attention to these studies, indispensably necessary in every situation of life, the Classes are examined on them twice a year, and deficiencies, if any exist, are reported to the parents and guardians.

Public Worship.

Prayers are offered in the College Chapel every morning and evening, when one of the Faculty officiates, and all the students are required to be present. They are also required to attend worship in the Chapel on the Sabbath, except such as have permission to attend service in town.

Libraries.

The College Library contains twelve thousand two hundred volumes, and is opened on Monday of each week for the accommodation of the Students. Resident Graduates have the privilege of taking out books upon the same terms as Under Graduates. In the libraries belonging to the two literary societies, there are ten thousand volumes. The total number of volumes, therefore, in the three libraries, is twenty-two thousand two hundred.

Apparatus.

THE College possesses a valuable set of Astronomical, Philosophical and Chemical Apparatus, a well-selected mineralogical Cabinet, a Museum of Natural History, a large collection of drawings for the illustration of the lectures on Architecture, Natural Philosophy, Astronomy, and a full-sized Maniken for the illustration of the lectures on Natural Theology and Anatomy.

To the Apparatus and materials of the Chemical Department, a large and very valuable addition has recently been made by the purchase of Dr. Torrey's Apparatus and Chemical materials, selected by him during the many years that he was Professor of Chemistry, in the City of New York.

About two thousand specimens have been added to the mineralogical Cabinet from collections made by Dr. Torrey, and the late Rev. Dr. Johnston, of Newburgh, N Y.

Through the liberality of Caleb H. Shipman, Esq., of Newark, N. J., a valuable beginning of a Geological Museum has been made by a collection of three hundred species of Fossils, most of which are represented by numerous specimens. These Fossils, collected in the various geological formations of the State of New York, and carefully determined, possess a peculiar interest in relation to the history of life in the earliest geological periods of our globe, so fully developed in the rocks of North America.

A considerable addition has been made to the Geological collection, through the liberality of Gov. Olden ; viz, several series of Fossils, containing nearly a thousand species, and numerous casts of large and rare Reptiles.

Expenses.

THE Expenses of the College each session, for Tuition, Room Rent, Fuel, Library, Servant's Wages, Washing, vary from $57 to $66, and are required to be paid in advance.

A deduction of $3.00 from the above sums is made in favor of those students who dispense with all attendance of servants in their private rooms.

The price of Board varies from $2 25 to $4.00. All bills for board must be paid in advance to the Treasurer of the College; and paid in full for the session. If any student change his place of boarding, without the consent of the President of the College, he shall forfeit the sum of $5.00 to be paid to the Treasurer.

No student is permitted to take a room, or to lodge out of the College buildings, unless all the rooms belonging to the College are occupied.

Every student occupying a room in the College buildings, furnishes his own room.

New students pay a matriculation fee of five dollars, and twenty-five cents for a copy of the printed laws.

Each member of the Senior Class is required to pay $9.50 for a diploma at the beginning of the second session of the Senior year, when he pays the other College bills.

When a student is dismissed from College for any cause, the whole amount advanced for board, washing, and fuel, from the time of dismission will be refunded to the order of his parent or guardian.

Terms and Vacations.

The College year is divided into two Terms or Sessions. The Annual Commencement is on the last Wednesday in June, and the first term of the next College year begins on the 14th of August, and closes on Thursday, the 18th of December. The second term begins on Thursday, the 29th of January, and ends on the last Wednesday in June—the day of the Annual Commencement.

It is particularly recommended that when practicable, all the students spend their vacations at home with their parents or friends; or when this is inconvenient, that they take boarding elsewhere than in Princeton. It is found that when a number of young persons are collected together without regular occupation or study, the temptations to idleness and dissipation are often too strong to be resisted.

It is highly important that the students should return to College in time to attend the first recitations or lectures of their respective classes, since an absence of a few days at the time when a new branch of study is commenced seldom fails to embarrass the whole course, and in some cases it is impossible to make up the loss.

Public Exercises.

The Annual Commencement takes place on the last Wednesday in June.

On the evening preceding the Commencement, orations are pronounced by eight members of the Junior Class, four from each Hall.

The Annual Meeting of the Alumni Association of Nassau Hall, is held in the College Chapel, on the day preceding the Commencement.

Communications for this Society may be sent to W. C. Alexander, Esq., Princeton.

Degree of Master of Arts.

THE degree of A.M. is conferred in course, on every graduate of three years' standing, who, in the interval, shall have sustained a good moral character, and been pursuing professional or other studies; and who shall make application, personally or by letter, at least one day previous to the Annual Commencement.

Prohibited Secret Societies.

THE following resolutions in regard to Secret Societies, were passed unanimously, by the Trustees of the College, at their meeting on the 28th and 29th of June, 1855.

RESOLVED, That with respect to prohibited secret societies, the Trustees approve of the action of the Faculty, in their requiring students about to enter College, to pledge themselves NOT to join any secret societies: and that they urge the Faculty to put an end to these secret societies.

RESOLVED, That the President be directed at the opening of the next session of the College, to announce publicly to the students, that the subject of prohibited secret societies was deliberately considered by the Trustees, and the Faculty were, by a unanimous vote, required promptly to dismiss any student known after that date to be a member of such an association.

Free Scholarships.

THE attention of teachers and other friends of the College, and especially of students preparing for admission, is invited to the provision furnished by these scholarships, for bringing the advantages of the Institution within the reach of such students as may qualify themselves to win such distinction. Under these conditions, the attainment of a free education becomes an honor to the holder, because it is an evidence of superior scholarship.

The competition for such of these scholarships as are at the disposal of the Faculty, at the close of the present term, or at the beginning of the next, will be conducted on the following principles, viz:

2. The relative attainments in all cases to be determined by the Faculty.

3. The successful competitors to retain their scholarships during the College course, unless forfeited by neglect of study, or by improper conduct.

4. Candidates must in all cases present testimonials of good moral conduct.

5. Any person or persons contributing a Thousand Dollars, shall have the privilege of giving a name to such scholarship; and in case any contributor shall prefer to do so, he may retain the right to nominate the incumbent.

6. Churches contributing a Thousand Dollars each, may, if they desire it, place upon that foundation, the sons of their ministers; or, in lieu of that, may nominate some candidate for the ministry, to receive its avails.

7. Any town or district contributing one or more scholarships, may offer the privilege of such scholarships, as a premium for superior attainments; provided always that such persons shall be fully prepared, in the judgment of the Faculty, for the classes into which they seek admission.

8. The proceeds of all vacant scholarships, to be at the disposal of the Trustees.

The advantages sought for, in founding these scholarships, are—

1. To extend the prosperity and usefulness of the Institution, by mea ns of an endowment, which, besides strengthening and enlarging its educational provisions, may place its advantages within the reach of a large, important and increasing class of young men, who could not otherwise enjoy the privilege.

2. To prevent the deterioration of education in consequence of inadequate provisions, and to stimulate the preparatory training of students by offering the privilege of a free tuition in college, as an inducement and reward, to higher preparation.

3. To elevate by this means the standard of liberal and professional training wherever the influence of the College may reach.

Persons desiring to found such scholarships, may, if they prefer, do so by transmitting sixty dollars annually, or thirty dollars semi-annually, to any officer of the College, and securing the Principal, $1000 by Bequest, or in whatever form they may prefer. In such case, the scholarships would, of course, lapse on the failure of the parties to pay the amount in question.

It is believed that the founding of such Scholarships will prove a most efficient means of promoting the interests of the Institution and the cause of liberal and professional education in the country. The co-operation of the friends of Princeton, especially the Alumni, is earnestly solicited, for the purpose of enlarging this Fund, either by donations of their own, or by seeking to call out the benevolence of such friends, as may have it in their power to promote these great objects, by gift, or bequest.

Besides this form of endowment, a few friends of the College have secured for the endowment of three Professorships, the sum of $75,000. If these examples of munificent liberality should be followed, the scope and power of the institution would be greatly enhanced: while its provisions would be thereby brought within the reach of a much larger number of students.

Appendix.

Terms of Admission.

CANDIDATES for admission to the Freshman, or lowest class, are examined in Cæsar's Commentaries (5 books), Sallust, Virgil, (Eclogues, and six books of the Æneid), Cicero's Select Orations contained in the volume in Usum Delphini, Mair's Introduction to Latin Syntax, the Gospels in the Greek Testament, Bullion's or Felton's Greek Reader, and two books of the Anabasis, or other authors equivalent in quantity, together with Latin and Greek Grammar, including Latin Prosody; also, on English Grammar, Arithmetic, Algebra, (through simple equations), Geography, ancient and modern.

Candidates can be examined at any time during the college Sessions: but it is recommended that they apply for admission at the beginning of a term.

Every Student admitted to a class higher than the Freshman, is examined on the previous studies of the class which he wishes to enter.

An accurate acquaintance with the studies required for admission is indispensably necessary, in order to receive the full advantage of the College course.

It is found from experience, that Students imperfectly prepared for the classes which they enter, are embarrassed in their future progress, and are seldom able to repair the want of solid preparatory instruction.

To prevent disappointment, it should be distinctly understood, that a thorough knowledge of preliminary studies is more likely to insure admission and to enable the Student to improve the advantages of this Institution, than a superficial acquaintance with some higher branches of literature and science.

In all cases testimonials of moral character are required; and if the Student has been a member of another College, he must bring with him a certificate from the President or Faculty, that he is free from censure in that institution.

Course of Instruction.

The whole course of instruction requires four years; namely, one year in each of the four classes into which the Students are divided.

The Freshmen and Sophomore classes are instructed by the Professors of Ancient and Modern Languages and of Mathematics, aided by the Tutors. The Junior and Senior classes by the President and Professors.

The Studies of the several classes are as follows:

- General Review of Studies.

All the Classes have Bible recitations on the Sabbath, and also a recitation in the Greek Testament, or on the Evidences of Christianity, on Monday morning.

All the students are required frequently to produce original essays. Those of the three lower classes pronounce orations in the presence of their respective classes. The members of the Senior Class deliver orations of their own composition, as often as the faculty may direct.

Lectures.

In addition to the recitations of the several Classes, the following courses of Lectures are delivered on the principal branches of Science and Literature, namely, a course on

Religion, Natural and Revealed,	By the President.
Physics,	Prof. Henry.
Physics,	Prof. Alexander.

Anatomy and Physiology,	Do.
Mineralogy,	Do.
Botany,
Rhetoric,	Prof. McIlvaine.
English Literature,	Do.
Political Economy,	Do.

Gentlemen not connected with the College have the privilege of attending the above lectures by making application to the several lecturers.

Other lectures are frequently given at the same hours in which the recitations are heard, and are therefore attended by none except the members of the several Classes.

Examinations.

Four public examinations take place during the College year; one in the middle, and one at the close of each session Absence from these examinations is found to be very injurious to the improvement of a student, and renders him liable to be placed in a lower class. Reports respecting the behavior, and scholarship of the students, are sent to the parents or guardian, after each examination.

English Grammar, Arithmetic, and Geography, being required for admission, are not included in the College course of instruction; but in order to secure attention to these studies, indispensably necessary in every situation of life, the Classes are examined on them twice a year, and deficiencies, if any exist, are reported to the parents and guardians.

Public Worship.

Prayers are offered in the College Chapel every morning and evening, when one of the Faculty officiates, and all the students are required to be present. They are also required to attend worship in the Chapel on the Sabbath, except such as have permission to attend service in town.

Libraries.

The College Library contains twelve thousand four hundred volumes, and is opened on Monday of each week for the accommodation of the Students. Resident Graduates have the privilege of taking out books upon the same terms as Under Graduates. In the libraries belonging to the two literary societies, there are ten thousand volumes. The total number of volumes, therefore, in the three libraries, is twenty-two thousand four hundred.

Apparatus.

The College possesses a valuable set of Astronomical, Philosophical and Chemical Apparatus, a well-selected mineralogical Cabinet, a Museum of Natural History, a large collection of drawings for the illustration of the lectures on Architecture, Natural Philosophy, Astronomy, and a full-sized Maniken for the illustration of the lectures on Natural Theology and Anatomy.

To the Apparatus and materials of the Chemical Department, a large and very valuable addition has recently been made by the purchase of Dr. Torrey's Apparatus and Chemical materials, selected by him during the many years that he was Professor of Chemistry, in the City of New York.

About two thousand specimens have been added to the mineralogical Cabinet from collections made by Dr. Torrey, and the late Rev. Dr. Johnston, of Newburgh, N. Y.

Through the liberality of Caleb H. Shipman, Esq., of Newark, N. J., a valuable beginning of a Geological Museum has been made by a collection of three hundred species of Fossils, most of which are represented by numerous specimens. These Fossils, collected in the various geological formations of the State of New York, and carefully determined, possess a peculiar interest in relation to the history of life in the earliest geological periods of our globe so fully developed in the rocks of North America.

A considerable addition has been made to the Geological collection, through the liberality of Gov. Olden; viz, several series of Fossils, containing nearly a thousand species, and numerous casts of large and rare Reptiles.

Expenses.

The Expenses of the College each session, for Tuition, Room Rent, Fuel, Library, Servant's Wages, Washing, vary from $57 to $66, and are required to be paid in advance.

A deduction of $2.00 from the above sums is made in favor of those students who dispense with all attendance of servants in their private rooms.

The price of Board varies from $2.25 to $4.00. All bills for board must be paid in advance to the Treasurer of the College; and paid in full for the session. If any student change his place of boarding, without the consent of the President of the College, he shall forfeit the sum of $5.00 to be paid to the Treasurer.

No student is permitted to take a room, or to lodge out of the College buildings, unless all the rooms belonging to the College are occupied.

Every student occupying a room in the College buildings, furnishes his own room.

4. Candidates must in all cases present testimonials of good moral conduct.

5. Any person or persons contributing a Thousand Dollars, shall have the privilege of giving a name to such scholarship; and in case any contributor shall prefer to do so, he may retain the right to nominate the incumbent.

6. Churches contributing a Thousand Dollars each, may, if they desire it, place upon that foundation, the sons of their ministers; or, in lieu of that, may nominate some candidate for the ministry, to receive its avails.

7. Any town or district contributting one or more scholarships, may offer the privilege of such scholarships, as a premium for superior attainments; provided always that such persons shall be fully prepared, in the judgment of the Faculty, for the classes into which they seek admission.

8. The proceeds of all vacant scholarships, to be at the disposal of the Trustees.

THE advantages sought for, in founding these scholarships, are—

1. To extend the prosperity and usefulness of the Institution, by means of an endowment, which, besides strengthening and enlarging its educational provisions, may place its advantages within the reach of a large, important and increasing class of young men, who could not otherwise enjoy the privilege.

2. To prevent the deterioration of education in consequence of inadequate provisions, and to stimulate the preparatory training of students by offering the privilege of a free tuition in college, as an inducement and reward, to higher preparation.

3. To elevate by this means the standard of liberal and professional training wherever the influence of the College may reach.

Persons desiring to found such scholarships, may, if they prefer do so by transmitting sixty dollars annually, or thirty dollars semi-annually, to any officer of the College, and securing the Principal, $1000 by Bequest, or in whatever form they may prefer. In such case, the scholarships would, of course, lapse on the failure of the parties to pay the amount in question.

It is believed that the founding of such Scholarships will prove a most efficient means of promoting the interests of the Institution and the cause of liberal and professional education in the country. The co-operation of the friends of Princeton, especially the Alumni, is earnestly solicited, for the purpose of enlarging this Fund, either by donations of their own, or by seeking to call out the benevolence of such friends, as may have it in their power to promote these great objects, by gift, or bequest.

Besides this form of endowment, a few friends of the College have secured for the endowment of three PROFESSORSHIPS, the sum of $75,000. If these examples of munificent liberality should be followed, the scope and power of the institution would be greatly enhanced: while its provisions would be thereby brought within the reach of a much larger number of students.

Degree of Master of Arts.

THE degree of A.M. is conferred in course, on every graduate of three years' standing, who, in the interval, shall have sustained a good moral character, and been pursuing professional or other studies; and who shall make application, personally or by letter, at least one day previous to the Annual Commencement.

Prohibited Secret Societies.

THE following resolutions in regard to Secret Societies, were passed unanimously, by the Trustees of the College, at their meeting on the 28th and 29th of June, 1855.

RESOLVED, That with respect to prohibited secret societies, the Trustees approve of the action of the Faculty, in their requiring students about to enter College, to pledge themselves NOT to join any secret societies: and that they urge the Faculty to put an end to these secret societies.

RESOLVED, That the President be directed at the opening of the next session of the College, to announce publicly to the students, that the subject of prohibited secret societies was deliberately considered by the Trustees, and the Faculty were, by a unanimous vote, required promptly to dismiss any student known after that date to be a member of such an association.

Free Scholarships.

THE attention of teachers and other friends of the College, and especially of students preparing for admission, is invited to the provision furnished by these scholarships, for bringing the advantages of the Institution within the reach of such students as may qualify themselves to win such distinction. Under these conditions, the attainment of a free education becomes an honor to the holder, because it is an evidence of superior scholarship.

The competition for such of these scholarships as are at the disposal of the Faculty, at the close of the present term, or at the beginning of the next, will be conducted on the following principles, viz:

2. The relative attainments in all cases to be determined by the Faculty.

3. The successful competitors to retain their scholarships during the College course, unless forfeited by neglect of study, or by improper conduct.

4. Candidates must in all cases present testimonials of good moral conduct.

5. Any person or persons contributing a Thousand Dollars, shall have the privilege of giving a name to such scholarship; and in case any contributor shall prefer to do so, he may retain the right to nominate the incumbent.

6. Churches contributing a Thousand Dollars each, may, if they desire it, place upon that foundation, the sons of their ministers; or, in lieu of that, may nominate some candidate for the ministry, to receive its avails.

7. Any town or district contributing one or more scholarships, may offer the privilege of such scholarships, as a premium for superior attainments; provided always that such persons shall be fully prepared, in the judgment of the Faculty, for the classes into which they seek admission.

8. The proceeds of all vacant scholarships, to be at the disposal of the Trustees.

Terms of Admission.

CANDIDATES for admission to the Freshman, or lowest class, are examined in Cæsar's Commentaries (5 books), Sallust, Virgil, (Eclogues, and six books of the Æneid), Cicero's Select Orations contained in the volume in Usum Delphini, Mair's Introduction to Latin Syntax, the Gospels in the Greek Testament, Bullion's or Felton's Greek Reader, and two books of the Anabasis, or other authors equivalent in quantity, together with Latin and Greek Grammar, including Latin Prosody; also, on English Grammar, Arithmetic, Algebra, (through simple equations), Geography, ancient and modern.

Candidates can be examined at any time during the college Sessions: but it is recommended that they apply for admission at the beginning of a term.

Every Student admitted to a class higher than the Freshman, is examined on the previous studies of the class which he wishes to enter.

An accurate acquaintance with the studies required for admission is indispensably necessary, in order to receive the full advantage of the College course.

It is found from experience, that Students imperfectly prepared for the classes which they enter, are embarrassed in their future progress, and are seldom able to repair the want of solid preparatory instruction.

To prevent disappointment, it should be distinctly understood, that a thorough knowledge of preliminary studies is more likely to insure admission, and to enable the Student to improve the advantages of this Institution, than a superficial acquaintance with some higher branches of literature and science.

In all cases testimonials of moral character are required; and if the Student has been a member of another College, he must bring with him a certificate from the President or Faculty, that he is free from censure in that institution.

Course of Instruction.

The whole course of instruction requires four years; namely, one year in each of the four classes into which the Students are divided.

The Freshmen and Sophomore classes are instructed by the Professors of Ancient and Modern Languages and of Mathematics, aided by the Tutors. The Junior and the Senior classes by the President and Professors.

The studies of the several classes are as follows:

FRESHMAN CLASS.

FIRST TERM.

- Livy,
- Herodotus, (1st Book,)
- Archæology,
- Latin and Greek Exercises, (Arnold's Lat. Prose),
- Algebra, completed,

- Constitutional Law,
- Natural Philosophy,
- Astronomy,
- Chemistry,
- Political Economy,
- Elocution, (Hope's),
- Geology,
- Zoology,
- Quintilian,
- General Review of Studies.

All the Classes have Bible recitations on the Sabbath, and also a recitation in the Greek Testament, or on the Evidences of Christianity, on Monday morning.

All the students are required frequently to produce original essays. Those of the three lower classes pronounce orations in the presence of their respective classes. The members of the Senior Class deliver orations of their own composition, as often as the faculty may direct.

Lectures.

In addition to the recitations of the several Classes, the following courses of Lectures are delivered on the principal branches of Science and Literature, namely, a course on

Religion, Natural and Revealed,	By the President.
Physics,	Prof. Henry.
Mechanical Philosophy,	Prof. Alexander.
Physics,	Do.
Astronomy,	Do.
Æsthetics,	Prof. Moffat.
Greek Literature,	Do.

Zoology,	Do.
Anatomy and Physiology,	Do.
Mineralogy,	Do.
Botany,
Rhetoric,	Prof. McIlvaine.
English Literature,	Do.
Political Economy,	Do.

Gentlemen not connected with the College have the privilege of attending the above lectures by making application to the several lecturers.

Other lectures are frequently given at the same hours in which the recitations are heard, and are therefore attended by none except the members of the several Classes.

Examinations.

Four public examinations take place during the College year; one in the middle, and one at the close of each session. Absence from these examinations is found to be very injurious to the improvement of a student, and renders him liable to be placed in a lower class. Reports respecting the behavior, and scholarship of the students, are sent to the parents or guardian, after each examination.

English Grammar, Arithmetic, and Geography, being required for admission, are not included in the College course of instruction; but in order to secure attention to these studies, indispensably necessary in every situation of life, the Classes are examined on them twice a year, and deficiencies, if any exist, are reported to the parents and guardians.

Public Worship.

Apparatus.

The College possesses a valuable set of Astronomical, Philosophical and Chemical Apparatus, a well-selected mineralogical Cabinet, a Museum of Natural History, a large collection of drawings for the illustration of the lectures on Architecture, Natural Philosophy, Astronomy, and a full-sized Maniken for the illustration of the lectures on Natural Theology and Anatomy.

To the Apparatus and materials of the Chemical Department, a large and very valuable addition has recently been made by the purchase of Dr. Torrey's Apparatus and Chemical materials, selected by him during the many years that he was Professor of Chemistry, in the City of New York.

About two thousand specimens have been added to the mineralogical Cabinet from collections made by Dr. Torrey, and the late Rev. Dr. Johnston, of Newburgh, N Y.

Through the liberality of Caleb H. Shipman, Esq., of Newark, N. J., a valuable beginning of a Geological Museum has been made by a collection of three hundred species of Fossils, most of which are represented by numerous specimens. These Fossils, collected in the various geological formations of the State of New York, and carefully determined, possess a peculiar interest in relation to the history of life in the earliest geological periods of our globe, so fully developed in the rocks of North America.

A considerable addition has been made to the Geological collection, through the liberality of Gov. Olden ; viz, several series of Fossils, containing nearly a thousand species, and numerous casts of large and rare Reptiles.

New collections of fossils of all classes and another set of valuable Casts of large fossil animals, imported from Europe, besides smaller collections from America, have swelled the number of species in the Museum to about 2500. A collection of very fine specimens of coal plants has been contributed by Col. Chas. Scranton ; another considerable collection of shells, living and fossil, by John H. Janeway, M. D. ; another of fossils from Ohio, by W. J. P. Morrison, of the class of 1861 ; select specimens of Rocks and Ores, by Mr. Wm. L. Mactier ; Fossil bones from the Marl of New Jersey, by Dr. J. S. Schanck ; besides minor contributions by several of the graduates, Messrs. F. L. Shearer, W. E. Honeyman, D. W. Guy, J. B. Vredenburgh, and others. A collection of over 5000 specimens of Alpine Rocks was presented by Dr. Guyot.

A series of large relief Maps and models, physical and geological, of mountains and volcanoes, imported from abroad and executed with great care, forms another feature of interest.

Libraries.

The College Library contains twelve thousand six hundred volumes, and is opened on Monday of each week for the accommodation of the Students. Resident Graduates have the privilege of taking out books upon the same terms as Under Graduates. In the libraries belonging to the two literary societies, there are ten thousand volumes. The total number of volumes, therefore, in the three libraries, is twenty-two thousand six hundred.

Expenses.

The Expenses of the College each session, for Tuition, Room Rent, Fuel, Library, Servant's Wages, Washing, vary from $57 to $66, and are required to be paid in advance.

A deduction of $2.00 from the above sums is made in favor of those students who dispense with all attendance of servants in their private rooms.

The price of Board varies from $2.75 to $4.00. All bills for board must be paid in advance to the Treasurer of the College; and paid in full for the session. If any student change his place of boarding, without the consent of the President of the College, he shall forfeit the sum of $5.00 to be paid to the Treasurer.

No student is permitted to take a room, or to lodge out of the College buildings, unless all the rooms belonging to the College are occupied.

Every student occupying a room in the College buildings, furnishes his own room.

New students pay a matriculation fee of five dollars, and twenty-five cents for a copy of the printed laws.

Each member of the Senior Class is required to pay $9.50 for a diploma at the beginning of the second session of the Senior year, when he pays the other College bills.

When a student is dismissed from College for any cause, the whole amount advanced for board, washing, and fuel, from the time of dismission will be refunded to the order of his parent or guardian.

The degree of A. M. is conferred in course, on every graduate of three years' standing, who, in the interval, shall have sustained a good moral character, and been pursuing professional or other studies; and who shall make application, personally or by letter, at least one day previous to the Annual Commencement.

Terms and Vacations.

The College year is divided into two Terms or Sessions. The Annual Commencement is on the last Wednesday in June, and the first term of the next College year begins on the 18th of August, and closes on Thursday, the 22nd of December. The second term begins on Thursday, the 2nd of February, and ends on the last Wednesday in June—the day of the Annual Commencement.

It is particularly recommended that when practicable, all the students spend their vacations at home with their parents or friends; or when this is inconvenient, that they take boarding elsewhere than in Princeton. It is found that when a number of young persons are collected together without regular occupation or study, the temptations to idleness and dissipation are often too strong to be resisted.

It is highly important that the students should return to College in time to attend the first recitations or lectures of their respective classes, since an absence of a few days at the time when a new branch of study is commenced seldom fails to embarrass the whole course, and in some cases it is impossible to make up the loss.

Public Exercises.

The Annual Commencement takes place on the last Wednesday in June.

On the day preceding the Commencement, an oration is delivered before the two Literary Societies by a member of one of them. The orator for the current year is the Rev. David Stevenson, of Indianapolis, Ind.

On the evening preceding the Commencement, orations are pronounced by eight members of the Junior Class, four from each Hall.

The Annual Meeting of the Alumni Association of Nassau Hall, is held in the College Chapel, on the day preceding the Commencement.

Communications for this Society may be sent to W. C. Alexander, Esq., Princeton.

Prohibited Secret Societies.

The following resolutions in regard to Secret Societies, were passed unanimously, by the Trustees of the College, at their meeting on the 28th and 29th of June, 1855.

Resolved, That with respect to prohibited secret societies, the Trustees approve of the action of the Faculty, in their requiring students about to enter College, to pledge themselves not to join any secret societies: and that they urge the Faculty to put an end to these secret societies.

Resolved, That the President be directed at the opening of the next session of the College, to announce publicly to the students, that the subject of prohibited secret societies was deliberately considered by the Trustees, and the Faculty were, by a unanimous vote, required promptly to dismiss any student known after that date to be a member of such an association.

Free Scholarships and other Endowments.

Some friends of the College have endowed a number of scholarships of One Thousand Dollars each, which are designed to extend the usefulness and privileges of the Institution on the following terms and conditions:

1. The donor of each scholarship has the privilege of naming it, and of selecting the student who shall enjoy its income, subject in all cases to the rules and regulations of the College.

2. Whenever a scholarship is vacant, its income is to be at the disposal of the Board of Trustees.

3. Scholarships may be maintained by the annual payment of sixty dollars as interest, until the principal sum of One Thousand Dollars is paid. In this case, they lapse, of course, when the annual interest fails, unless the principal sum has been paid.

4. Those who are placed upon these scholarships must be fully prepared for admission to College, and when admitted, must conform to its laws and regulations. In all cases of competing claims for scholarships at the disposal of the Faculty, the preference shall be given to those best prepared for College. The relative attainments in all cases to be determined by the Faculty, and other things being equal, preference is to be given to such as enter the Freshman Class.

5. Candidates must, in all cases, present testimonials of good moral character.

6. Churches contributing a Thousand Dollars each, may, if they desire it, place upon that foundation, the sons of their ministers; or, in lieu of that, may nominate some other candidate to receive its avails.

The advantages of such scholarships in increasing the resources of the Institution, extending its privileges to many young men of promise who would otherwise fail of them, and in elevating the standard of liberal education, are obvious. The founding of them must greatly promote the interests of the College, and the thorough and liberal training of its students. The cooperation of the friends of Princeton, especially the Alumni, is earnestly solicited, for the purpose of enlarging this Fund, either by their own donations, or by inducing others to contribute to it, whether by gift or bequest.

Besides this form of endowment, the friends of the College have been engaged during the past year in increasing the Fund for the direct support of its Professors and Teachers. One gentleman, John I. Blair, Esq., of Blairstown, N. J., has endowed the Professorship of Geology and Physical Geography, by the munificent donation of Thirty Thousand Dollars. A sum of over Fifty Thousand Dollars additional has been added to this sustentation Fund, by donations from other friends of the Institution. The scholarships which have been also given, raise the entire fund contributed and subscribed during the past year, by the liberality of friends and graduates, to more than One Hundred Thousand Dollars. Of this amount more than four-fifths have already been paid.

The guardians of the College, grateful for this seasonable liberality of its friends which ensures its stability and safety, invite the attention of all interested, to the forms in which judicious donations and endowments may yet increase its educational resources and equipments. Funds for largement of the Library, Apparatus, Cabinets: for Prizes to stimul in the various departments; for the endowment of scholarships, a isting Professorships, or the founding of new ones, will all cont maintain and advance the usefulness of the Institution.

Terms of Admission.

Candidates for admission to the Freshman, or lowest class, are examined in Cæsar's Commentaries (5 books), Sallust, Virgil, (Eclogues, and six books of the Æneid), Cicero's Select Orations contained in the volume in Usum Delphini, Mair's Introduction to Latin Syntax, the Gospels in the Greek Testament, Bullion's or Felton's Greek Reader, and two books of the Anabasis, or other authors equivalent in quantity, together with Latin (Harkness') and Greek Grammar, including Latin Prosody; also, on English Grammar, Arithmetic, Algebra, (through simple equations), Geography, ancient and modern.

Candidates can be examined at any time during the college Sessions: but it is recommended that they apply for admission at the beginning of a term.

Every Student admitted to a class higher than the Freshman, is examined on the previous studies of the class which he wishes to enter.

An accurate acquaintance with the studies required for admission is indispensably necessary, in order to receive the full advantage of the College course.

It is found from experience, that Students imperfectly prepared for the classes which they enter, are embarrassed in their future progress, and are seldom able to repair the want of solid preparatory instruction.

To prevent disappointment, it should be distinctly understood, that a thorough knowledge of preliminary studies is more likely to insure admission and to enable the Student to improve the advantages of this Institution, than a superficial acquaintance with some higher branches of literature and science.

In all cases testimonials of moral character are required; and if the Student has been a member of another College, he must bring with him a certificate from the President or Faculty, that he is free from censure in that institution.

Course of Instruction.

The whole course of instruction requires four years; namely, one year in each of the four classes into which the Students are divided.

The Freshmen and Sophomore classes are instructed by the Professors of Ancient and Modern Languages and of Mathematics, aided by the Tutors. The Junior and the Senior classes by the President and Professors.

The studies of the several classes are as follows:

FRESHMAN CLASS.

FIRST TERM.

- Livy,
- Herodotus, (1st Book,)

- Geology,
- Zoology,
- Quintilian,
- General Review of Studies.

All the Classes have Bible recitations on the Sabbath, and also a recitation in the Greek Testament, or on the Evidences of Christianity, on Monday morning.

All the students are required frequently to produce original essays. Those of the three lower classes pronounce orations in the presence of their respective classes. The members of the Senior Class deliver orations of their own composition, as often as the faculty may direct.

Lectures.

In addition to the recitations of the several Classes, the following courses of Lectures are delivered on the principal branches of Science and Literature, namely, a course on

Religion, Natural and Revealed, ...	By the President.
Mechanical Philosophy, ...	Prof. Alexander.
Physics, ...	Do.
Astronomy, ...	Do.
Intellectual Philosophy, ...	Prof. Atwater.
Moral Philosophy, ...	Do.
Logic, ...	Do.
Physical Geography, ...	Prof. Guyot.

Chemistry, ...	Dr. Schanck.
Zoology, ...	Do.
Anatomy and Physiology, ...	Do.
Mineralogy, ...	Do.
Botany, ...
Rhetoric, ...	Prof. McIlvaine.
Political Economy, ...	Do.
Æsthetics, ...	Prof. Moffat.
Greek Literature, ...	Do.
English Literature, ...	Dr. Hart.

Gentlemen not connected with the College have the privilege of attending the above lectures by making application to the several lecturers.

Other lectures are frequently given at the same hours in which the recitations are heard, and are therefore attended by none except the members of the several Classes.

Apparatus.

The College possesses a valuable set of Astronomical, Philosophical and Chemical Apparatus, a well-selected mineralogical Cabinet, a Museum of Natural History, a large collection of drawings for the illustration of the lectures on Architecture, Natural Philosophy, Astronomy, and a full-sized Maniken for the illustration of the lectures on Natural Theology and Anatomy.

To the Apparatus and materials of the Chemical Department, a large and very valuable addition has recently been made by the purchase of Dr. Torrey's Apparatus and Chemical materials, selected by him during the many years that he was Professor of Chemistry, in the City of New York.

About two thousand specimens have been added to the mineralogical Cabinet from collections made by Dr. Torrey, and the late Rev. Dr. Johnston, of Newburgh, N Y.

Through the liberality of Caleb H. Shipman, Esq., of Newark, N. J., a valuable beginning of a Geological Museum has been made by a collection of three hundred species of Fossils, most of which are represented by numerous specimens. These Fossils, collected in the various geological formations of the State of New York, and carefully determined, possess a peculiar interest in relation to the history of life in the earliest geological periods of our globe so fully developed in the rocks of North America.

A considerable addition has been made to the Geological collection, through the liberality of Gov. Olden ; viz, several series of Fossils, containing nearly a thousand species, and numerous casts of large and rare Reptiles.

New collections of fossils of all classes and another set of valuable Casts of large fossil animals, imported from Europe, besides smaller collections from America, have swelled the number of species in the Museum to about 2500. A collection of very fine specimens of coal plants has been contributed by Col. Chas. Scranton ; another considerable collection of shells, living and fossil, by John H. Janeway, M. D. ; another of fossils from Ohio, by W. J. P. Morrison, of the class of 1861 ; another of fossils from the marl beds of New Jersey, Illinois and Iowa, by Mr. Augustine Breese, of the class of 1865; a large vertebra of a whale and fossils from Acquia Creek, Va., by Mr. Clay Macauley, of the class of 1864 ; specimens of the gold-bearing rocks of Colorado and Idaho, by Mr. John Maclean, Jr., a rare shell, by Captain Lavender, and a collection of fossils from Indiana, by the late Rev. Jos. W. Pierson. A collection of over 5000 specimens of Alpine Rocks was presented by Dr. Guyot.

A series of large relief Maps and models, physical and geological, of mountains and volcanoes, imported from abroad and executed with great care, forms another feature of interest.

Examinations.

Four public examinations take place during the College year; one in the middle, and one at the close of each session. Absence from these examinations is found to be very injurious to the improvement of a student, and renders him liable to be placed in a lower class. Reports respecting the behavior, and scholarship of the students, are sent to the parents or guardian, after each examination.

English Grammar, Arithmetic, and Geography, being required for admission, are not included in the College course of instruction; but in order to secure attention to these studies, indispensably necessary in every situation of life, the Classes are examined on them twice a year, and deficiencies, if any exist, are reported to the parents and guardians.

Public Worship.

Prayers are offered in the College Chapel every morning and evening, when one of the Faculty officiates, and all the students are required to be present. They are also required to attend worship in the Chapel on the Sabbath, except such as have permission to attend service in town.

Libraries.

The College Library contains twelve thousand eight hundred volumes, and is opened on Monday of each week for the accommodation of the Students. Resident Graduates have the privilege of taking out books upon the same terms as Under Graduates. In the libraries belonging to the two literary societies, there are ten thousand volumes. The total number of volumes, therefore, in the three libraries, is twenty-two thousand eight hundred.

Expenses.

The Expenses of the College each session, for Tuition, Room Rent, Fuel, Library, Servant's Wages, Washing, vary from $57 to $66, and are required to be paid in advance.

A deduction of $2.00 from the above sums is made in favor of those students who dispense with all attendance of servants in their private rooms.

The price of Board varies from $3.75 to $6.00. All bills for board must be paid in advance to the Treasurer of the College; and paid in full for the session. If any student change his place of boarding, without the consent of the President of the College, he shall forfeit the sum of $5.00 to be paid to the Treasurer.

No student is permitted to take a room, or to lodge out of the College buildings, unless all the rooms belonging to the College are occupied.

Every student occupying a room in the College buildings, furnishes his own room.

New students pay a matriculation fee of five dollars, and twenty-five cents for a copy of the printed laws.

Each member of the Senior Class is required to pay $9.50 for a diploma at the beginning of the second session of the Senior year, when he pays the other College bills.

When a student is dismissed from College for any cause, the whole amount advanced for board, washing, and fuel, from the time of dismission will be refunded to the order of his parent or guardian.

The degree of A. M. is conferred in course, on every graduate of three years' standing, who, in the interval, shall have sustained a good moral character, and pursued professional or other studies; and who shall make application for the degree, personally or by letter, at least one day previous to the Annual Commencement.

Terms and Vacations.

The College year is divided into two Terms or Sessions. The Annual Commencement is on the last Wednesday in June, and the first term of the next College year begins on the 17th of August, and closes on Thursday, the 21st of December. The second term begins on Thursday, the 1st of February, and ends on the last Wednesday in June—the day of the Annual Commencement.

It is particularly recommended that when practicable, all the students spend their vacations at home with their parents or friends; or when this is inconvenient, that they take boarding elsewhere than in Princeton. It is found that when a number of young persons are collected together without regular occupation or study, the temptations to idleness and dissipation are often too strong to be resisted.

It is highly important that the students should return to College in time to attend the first recitations or lectures of their respective classes, since an absence of a few days at the time when a new branch of study is commenced seldom fails to embarrass the whole course, and in some cases it is impossible to make up the loss.

Public Exercises.

The Annual Commencement takes place on the last Wednesday in June.

On the day preceding the next Commencement, the Cliosophic Society will celebrate its Hundredth Anniversary. Among the exercises will be a Memoir of the Hon. Wm. Paterson, LL. D., by William Paterson, Esq., of Perth Amboy; a History of the Cliosophic Society, by Prof. G. Musgrave Giger, D. D., of Princeton, and an Oration by the Rev. Edward N. Kirk, D. D., of Boston, Mass.

On the evening preceding the Commencement, orations are pronounced by eight members of the Junior Class, four from each Hall. The orators for this year are, from the

AMERICAN WHIG SOCIETY,

Otto Bergner, Cal., J. Hall McIlvaine, N. J.,
H. Melville Gurley, D. C., M. Wilbur Tate, Pa.,

THE CLIOSOPHIC SOCIETY,

John M Allis, N. Y., John A. Cobb, N. J.,
Austin B. Blair, N. J., David B. Hunt, N. J.

The Annual Meeting of the Alumni Association of Nassau Hall, is held in the College Chapel, on the day preceding the Commencement.

Communications for this Society may be sent to W. C. Alexander, Esq., Princeton.

Honorary Appointments.

The highest Honorary Appointments at the Commencement of 1864 were,

Edward D. Ledyard,	Valedictory,
Wilberforce Freeman,	Latin Salutatory,
W. S. C. Webster,	English Salutatory,
Henry I. Sheldon,	Philosophical Oration,
William W. Curtiss,	Poem,
Samuel M. Gardner,	Philosophical Oration,
Richard S. Hunter,	Belles Lettres Oration.

Prohibited Secret Societies.

The following resolutions in regard to Secret Societies, were passed unanimously, by the Trustees of the College, at their meeting on the 28th and 29th of June, 1855.

Resolved, That with respect to prohibited secret societies, the Trustees approve of the action of the Faculty, in their requiring students about to enter College, to pledge themselves NOT to join any secret societies: and that they urge the Faculty to put an end to these secret societies.

Resolved, That the President be directed at the opening of the next session of the College, to announce publicly to the students, that the subject of prohibited secret societies was deliberately considered by the Trustees, and the Faculty were, by a unanimous vote, required promptly to dismiss any student known after that date to be a member of such an association.

Free Scholarships and other Endowments.

Some friends of the College have endowed a number of scholarships of One Thousand Dollars each, which are designed to extend the usefulness and privileges of the Institution on the following terms and conditions:

1. The donor of each scholarship has the privilege of naming it, and of selecting the student who shall enjoy its income, subject in all cases to the rules and regulations of the College.

2. Whenever a scholarship is vacant, its income is to be at the disposal of the Board of Trustees.

3. Scholarships may be maintained by the annual payment of sixty dollars as interest, until the principal sum of One Thousand Dollars is paid. In this case, they lapse, of course, when the annual interest fails, unless the principal sum has been paid.

4. Those who are placed upon these scholarships must be fully prepared for admission to College, and when admitted, must conform to its laws and regulations. In all cases of competing claims for scholarships at the disposal of the Faculty, the preference shall be given to those best prepared for College. The relative attainments in all cases to be determined by the Faculty, and other things being equal, preference is to be given to such as enter the Freshman Class.

5. Candidates must, in all cases, present testimonials of good moral character.

6 Churches contributing a Thousand Dollars each, may, if they desire it, place upon that foundation, the sons of their ministers; or, in lieu of that, may nominate some other candidate to receive its avails.

The advantages of such scholarships in increasing the resources of the Institution, extending its privileges to many young men of promise who would otherwise fail of them, and in elevating the standard of liberal education, are obvious. The founding of them must greatly promote the interests of the College, and the thorough and liberal training of its students. The cooperation of the friends of Princeton, especially the Alumni, is earnestly solicited, for the purpose of enlarging this Fund, either by their own donations, or by inducing others to contribute to it, whether by gift or bequest.

Besides this form of endowment, the friends of the College have been engaged during the past year in increasing the Fund for the direct support of its Professors and Teachers. One gentleman, John I. Blair, Esq., of Blairstown, N. J., has endowed the Professorship of Geology and Physical Geography, by the munificent donation of Thirty Thousand Dollars. In addition to this, a single family has contributed Thirty-five Thousand Dollars as a fund for the support of the President. A sum of over Fifty Thousand Dollars additional has been added to the sustentation Fund, by donations from other friends of the Institution. The scholarships which have been also given, raise the entire fund contributed by the liberality of friends and graduates, to more than One Hundred and Thirty-five Thousand Dollars.

The guardians of the College, grateful for this seasonable liberality of its friends, which ensures its stability and safety, invite the attention of al interested, to the forms in which judicious donations and endowments may yet increase its educational resources and equipments. Funds for the enlargement of the Library, Apparatus, Cabinets: for Prizes to stimulate effort in the various departments: for the endowment of scholarships, and of existing Professorships, or the founding of new ones, will all contribute to maintain and advance the usefulness of the Institution.

APPENDIX.

Terms of Admission.

CANDIDATES for admission to the Freshmar, or lowest class, are examined in Cæsar's Commentaries (5 books), Sallust, Virgil, (Eclogues, and six books of the Æneid), Cicero's Select Orations contained in the volume in Usum Delphini, Mair's Introduction to Latin Syntax, the Gospels in the Greek Testament, Bullion's or Felton's Greek Reader, and two books of the Anabasis, or other authors equivalent in quantity, together with Latin and Greek Grammars, including Latin Prosody; also, on English Grammar, Arithmetic, Algebra, (through simple equations), Geography, ancient and modern.

Candidates can be examined at any time during the college Sessions: but it is recommended that they apply for admission at the beginning of a term.

Every Student admitted to a class higher than the Freshman, is examined on the previous studies of the class which he wishes to enter.

An accurate acquaintance with the studies required for admission is indispensably necessary, in order to receive the full advantage of the College course.

It is found from experience, that Students imperfectly prepared for the classes which they enter, are embarrassed in their future progress, and are seldom able to repair the want of solid preparatory instruction.

To prevent disappointment, it should be distinctly understood, that a thorough knowledge of preliminary studies is more likely to insure admission and to enable the Student to improve the advantages of this Institution, than a superficial acquaintance with some higher branches of literature and science.

In all cases testimonials of moral character are required; and if the Student has been a member of another College, he must bring with him a certificate from the President or Faculty, that he is free from censure in that institution.

Course of Instruction.

The whole course of instruction requires four years; namely, one year in each of the four classes into which the Students are divided.

The Freshmen and Sophomore classes are instructed by the Professors aided by the Tutors. The Junior and the Senior classes by the President and Professors.

The studies of the several classes are as follows:

FRESHMAN CLASS.

- Elocution, (Hope's),
- Geology,
- Zoology,
- Quintilian,
- General Review of Studies.

All the Classes have Bible recitations on the Sabbath, and also a recitation in the Greek Testament, or on the Evidences of Christianity, on Monday morning.

All the students are required frequently to produce original essays. Those of the three lower classes pronounce orations in the presence of their respective classes. The members of the Senior Class deliver orations of their own composition, as often as the faculty may direct.

Lectures.

In addition to the recitations of the several Classes, the following courses of Lectures are delivered on the principal branches of Science and Literature, namely, a course on

Religion, Natural and Revealed,	By the President.
Mechanical Philosophy,	Prof. Alexander.
Physics,	Do.
Astronomy,	Do.
Intellectual Philosophy,	Prof. Atwater.
Moral Philosophy,	Do.
Logic,	Do.
Physical Geography,	Prof. Guyot.
Geology,	Do.

Botany,
Rhetoric,	Prof. McIlvaine.
Political Economy,	Do.
The Relations of Science, Philosophy and Religion,	Prof. Shields.
Roman Literature,	Prof. Aiken.
Architecture,
Greek Literature,	Dr. Moffat.
English Literature,	Dr. Hart.
History,	Dr. Forsyth.

Gentlemen not connected with the College have the privilege of attending the above lectures by making application to the several lecturers.

Other lectures are frequently given at the same hours in which the recitations are heard, and are therefore attended by none except the members of the several Classes.

Apparatus.

The College possesses a valuable set of Astronomical, Philosophical and Chemical Apparatus, a well-selected mineralogical Cabinet, a Museum of Natural History, a large collection of drawings for the illustration of the lectures on Architecture, Natural Philosophy, Astronomy, and a full-sized Manikin for the illustration of the lectures on Natural Theology and Anatomy.

To the Apparatus and materials of the Chemical Department, a large and very valuable addition has been made by the purchase of Dr. Torrey's Apparatus and Chemical materials, selected by him during the many years that he was Professor of Chemistry, in the City of New York.

About two thousand specimens have been added to the mineralogical Cabinet from collections made by Dr. Torrey, and the late Rev. Dr. Johnston, of Newburgh, N. Y.

Through the liberality of Caleb H. Shipman, Esq., of Newark, N. J., a valuable beginning of a Geological Museum has been made by a collection of three hundred species of Fossils, most of which are represented by numerous specimens. These Fossils, collected in the various geological formations of the State of New York, and carefully determined, possess a peculiar interest in relation to the history of life in the earliest geological periods of our globe, so fully developed in the rocks of North America.

A considerable addition has been made to the Geological collection, through the liberality of Gov. Olden; viz, several series of Fossils, containing nearly a thousand species, and numerous casts of large and rare Reptiles.

New collections of fossils of all classes and another set of valuable Casts of large fossil animals, imported from Europe, besides smaller collections from America, have swelled the number of species in the Museum to about 2500. A collection of very fine specimens of coal plants has been contributed by Col. Chas. Scranton; another considerable collection of shells, living and fossil, by John H. Jaaeway, M. D.; another of fossils from Ohio, by W. J. P. Morrison, of the class of 1861; another of fossils from the marl beds of New Jersey, Illinois and Iowa, by Mr. Augustine Breese, of the class of 1865; a large vertebra of a whale and fossils from Acquia Creek, Va., by Mr. Clay Macauley, of the class of 1864; specimens of the gold-bearing rocks of Colorado and Idaho, by Mr. John Maclean, Jr., a rare shell, by Captain Lavender, and a collection of fossils from Indiana, by the late Rev. Jos. W. Pierson. A collection of over 5000 specimens of Alpine Rocks was presented by Dr. Guyot.

The shells have been recently arranged by Mr. Brown, the Curator of the Museum, who has also made valuable additions to the collections.

A series of large relief Maps and models, physical and geological, of mountains and volcanoes, imported from abroad and executed with great care, forms another feature of interest.

Examinations.

Four public examinations take place during the College year; one in the middle, and one at the close of each session. Absence from these examinations is found to be very injurious to the improvement of a student, and renders him liable to be placed in a lower class. Reports respecting the behavior, and scholarship of the students, are sent to the parents or guardian after each examination.

English Grammar, Arithmetic, and Geography, being required for admission are not included in the College course of instruction; but in order to secure attention to these studies indispensably necessary in every situation of life, the classes are examined on them twice a year, and deficiencies, if any exist, are reported to the parents and guardians.

Public Worship.

Prayers are offered in the College Chapel every morning and evening, when one of the Faculty officiates, and all the students are required to be present. They are also required to attend worship in the Chapel on the Sabbath, except such as have permission to attend service in town.

Libraries.

The College Library contains about fourteen thousand volumes, and is opened on Monday of each week for the accommodation of the Students. Resident Graduates have the privilege of taking out books upon the same terms as Under Graduates. In the libraries belonging to the two literary societies, there are ten thousand volumes. The total number of volumes, therefore, in the three libraries, is twenty-four thousand.

Expenses.

The Expenses of the College each session, for Tuition, Room Rent, Fuel, Library, Servant's Wages, Washing, vary from $57 to $66, and are required to be paid in advance.

A deduction of $2.00 from the above sums is made in favor of those students who dispense with all attendance of servants in their private rooms.

The price of Board varies from $4.00 to $6.00 per week. All bills for board must be paid in advance to the Treasurer of the College; and paid in full for the session. If any student change his place of boarding, without the consent of the President of the College, he shall forfeit the sum of $5.00 to be paid to the Treasurer.

No student is permitted to take a room, or to lodge out of the College buildings, unless all the rooms belonging to the College are occupied.

Every student occupying a room in the College buildings, furnishes his own room.

New students pay a matriculation fee of five dollars, and twenty-five cents for a copy of the printed laws.

Each member of the Senior Class is required to pay $9.50 for a diploma at the beginning of the second session of the Senior year, when he pays the other College bills.

When a student is dismissed from College for any cause, the whole amount advanced for board, washing and fuel, from the time of dismission, will be refunded to the order of his parent or guardian.

The degree of A. M. is conferred in course, on every graduate of three years' standing, who, in the interval, shall have sustained a good moral character, and pursued professional or other studies; and who shall make application for the degree, personally or by letter, at least one day previous to the Annual Commencement.

Terms and Vacations.

The College year is divided into two Terms or Sessions. The Annual Commencement is on the last Wednesday in June, and the first term of the next College year begins on the 16th of August, and closes on Thursday, the 20th of December. The second term begins on Thursday, the 31st of January, and ends on the last Wednesday in June—the day of the Annual Commencement.

It is particularly recommended that when practicable, all the students spend their vacations at home with their parents or friends; or when this is inconvenient, that they take boarding elsewhere than in Princeton. It is found that when a number of young persons are collected together without regular occupation or study, the temptations to idleness and dissipation are often too strong to be resisted.

It is highly important that the students should return to College in time to attend the first recitations or lectures of their respective classes, since an absence of a few days at the time when a new branch of study is commenced seldom fails to embarrass the whole course, and in some cases it is impossible to make up the loss.

Public Exercises.

THE ANNUAL COMMENCEMENT takes place on the last Wednesday in June.

On the day preceding the next Commencement, the REV. NOAH H. SCHENCK, D. D., of Baltimore, will deliver an oration before the American Whig and Cliosophic Societies. Dr. Schenck is a member of the American Whig Society.

On the day of the Annual Commencement, the REV. JOSEPH T. DURYEA, of New York, at the request of the Trustees of the College, will pronounce an oration on the restoration of the national Union, and commemorative of the Alumni and Under Graduates of the College, who fell in the national struggle.

CLIOSOPHIC SOCIETY,

WILLIAM FRAME, N. J.,	GIBSON LOWRIE, Ind.,
WILLIAM R. HENDERSON, Ind.,	CHARLES B. OGILVIE, Iow.,

THE AMERICAN WHIG SOCIETY,

R. FORSYTH LITTLE, N. Y.,	J. BOYD NIXON, N. J.,
SAMUEL M. MURPHEY, Del.,	WILLIAM H. THOMPSON, Pa.

The Annual Meeting of the Alumni Association of Nassau Hall, is held in the College Chapel, on the day preceding the Commencement.

Communications for this Society may be sent to W. C. ALEXANDER, ESQ., Princeton.

Prizes were awarded at the last Commencement to Messrs. Otto Bergner, H. Melville Gurley, David B. Hunt, and M. Wilbur Tate, Junior Orators on that occasion. The prizes are gold medals.

Honorary Appointments.

The highest Honorary Appointments at the Commencement of 1855 were,

Theodore W. Hunt,	Latin Salutatory.
Daniel N. Grummon,	Valedictory.
R. S. Roache.	English Salutatory.
Archibald Mac Martin,	Mathematical Oration.
Nicholas C. J. English,	Philosophical Oration.

William E. Guy,	Belles Lettres Oration.
Joseph P. Pennington,	Physical Oration.
Oscar Keen.	Classical Oration.
Robert Sloss,	Belles Lettres Oration.

Prohibited Secret Societies.

The following resolutions in regard to Secret Societies, were passed unanimously, by the Trustees of the College, at their meeting on the 28th and 29th of June, 1855.

Resolved, That with respect to prohibited secret societies, the Trustees approve of the action of the Faculty, in their requiring students about to enter College, to pledge themselves not to join any secret societies: and that they urge the Faculty to put an end to these secret societies.

Resolved, That the President be directed at the opening of the next session of the College, to announce publicly to the students, that the subject of prohibited secret societies was deliberately considered by the Trustees, and the Faculty were, by a unanimous vote, required promptly to dismiss any student known after that date to be a member of such an association.

Free Scholarships and other Endowments.

Some friends of the College have endowed a number of scholarships of One Thousand Dollars each, which are designed to extend the usefulness and privileges of the Institution on the following terms and conditions:

1. The donor of each scholarship has the privilege of naming it, and of selecting the student who shall enjoy its income, subject in all cases to the rules and regulations of the College.

2. Whenever a scholarship is vacant, its income is to be at the disposal of the Board of Trustees.

3. Scholarships may be maintained by the annual payment of sixty dollars as interest, until the principal sum of One Thousand Dollars is paid. In this case, they lapse, of course, when the annual interest fails, unless the principal sum has been paid.

4. Those who are placed upon these scholarships must be fully prepared for admission to College, and when admitted, must conform to its laws and regulations. In all cases of competing claims for scholarships at the disposal of the Faculty, the preference shall be given to those best prepared for College. The relative attainments in all cases to be determined by the Faculty, and other things being equal, preference is to be given to such as enter the Freshman Class.

5 Candidates must, in all cases, present testimonials of good moral character.

6. Churches contributing a Thousand Dollars each, may, if they desire it, place upon that foundation, the sons of their ministers, or, in lieu of that, may nominate some other candidate to receive its avails.

The advantages of such scholarships in increasing the resources of the Institution, extending its privileges to many young men of promise who would otherwise fail of them, and in elevating the standard of liberal education, are obvious. The founding of them must greatly promote the interests of the College, and the thorough and liberal training of its students. The cooperation of the friends of Princeton, especially the Alumni, is earnestly solicited, for the purpose of enlarging this Fund, either by their own donations, or by inducing others to contribute to it, whether by gift or bequest.

Besides this form of endowment, the friends of the College have been engaged during the past two years in increasing the Fund for the direct support of its Professors and Teachers. One gentleman, John I. Blair, Esq., of Blairstown, N. J., has endowed the Professorship of Geology and Physical Geography, by the munificent donation of Thirty Thousand Dollars. In addition to this, a single family has contributed Thirty-five Thousand Dollars as a fund for the support of the President. A sum of over Fifty Thousand Dollars additional has been added to the sustentation Fund, by donations from other friends of the Institution. The scholarships which have been also given, raise the entire fund contributed by the liberality of friends and graduates, to more than One Hundred and Thirty-five Thousand Dollars.

The guardians of the College, grateful for this seasonable liberality of its friends, which ensures its stability and safety, invite the attention of all interested, to the forms in which judicious donations and endowments may yet increase its educational resources and equipments. Funds for the enlargement of the Library, Apparatus, Cabinets: for Prizes to stimulate effort in the various departments: for the endowment of scholarships, and of existing Professorships, or the founding of new ones, will all contribute to maintain and advance the usefulness of the Institution.

The College is moreover in possession of a fund of Ten Thousand Dollars, for the building of an Astronomical Observatory; the munificent gift of Gen. N. Norris Halsted. The Trustees have purchased a site for the building, at an expense of Four Thousand Five Hundred Dollars; and the special committee having the matter in charge, will proceed with the erection of the Observatory, and the furnishing of it with instruments, as rapidly as the assistance of friends may permit.

APPENDIX.

Terms of Admission.

Candidates for admission to the Freshman, or lowest class, are examined in Cæsar's Commentaries (5 books), Sallust, Virgil, (Eclogues, and six books of the Æneid), Cicero's Select Orations contained in the volume in Usum Delphini, Mair's Introduction to Latin Syntax, the Gospels in the Greek Testament, Bullion's or Felton's Greek Reader, and two books of the Anabasis, or other authors equivalent in quantity, together with Latin and Greek Grammars, including Latin Prosody; also, on English Grammar, Arithmetic, Algebra, (through simple equations), Geography, ancient and modern.

Candidates can be examined at any time during the College Sessions: but it is recommended that they apply for admission at the beginning of a term.

Every student admitted to a class higher than the Freshman, is examined on the previous studies of the class which he wishes to enter.

An accurate acquaintance with the studies required for admission is indispensably necessary, in order to receive the full advantage of the College course.

It is found from experience, that students imperfectly prepared for the classes which they enter, are embarrassed in their future progress and are seldom able to repair the want of solid preparatory instruction.

To prevent disappointment, it should be distinctly understood, that a thorough knowledge of preliminary studies is more likely to insure admission and to enable the student to improve the advantages of this Institution, than a superficial acquaintance with some higher branches of literature and science.

In all cases testimonials of moral character are required; and if the student has been a member of another College, he must bring with him a certificate from the President or Faculty, that he is free from censure in that institution.

N. B. No one is admitted without an examination by members of the Faculty.

Course of Instruction.

The whole course of instruction requires four years; namely, one year in each of the four classes into which the students are divided.

The Freshman and Sophomore classes are instructed by the Professors aided by the Tutors. The Junior and the Senior classes by the President and Professors.

The studies of the several classes are as follows:

FRESHMAN CLASS.

First Term.

- Livy, (21st Book),
- Herodotus, (1st Book),
- Kuhner's Greek Grammar,
- Latin and Greek Exercises, (Arnold's Prose),
- Algebra, completed,
- Biblical History and Geography, Coleman's,
- Declamation and Composition, (Quackenbos').

Second and Third Terms.

- Macleane's Horace, (Odes),
- Xenophon's Memorabilia, (2 Books),
- Latin and Greek Exercises,
- Geometry, (Playfair's Euclid),
- Ratio and Proportion, (Alexander's),
- Biblical History and Geography.

SOPHOMORE CLASS.

First Term.

- Macleane's Horace, (Satires and Epistles),
- Demosthenes' Orations, (Philippics),
- Homer's Iliad,
- Latin and Greek Exercises.
- Plane and Spherical Trigonometry, Mensuration, Navigation, and Surveying,
- Rhetoric, (Day's Praxis,) commenced,
- Archæology,
- Hodge's Way of Life,
- Composition.

Second and Third Terms.

- Cicero, (Tusculan Disputations),
- Homer's Iliad, (4 Books),
- Æschylus, (Agamemnon),
- Analytical Geometry,
- History,
- Hodge's Way of Life,
- Rhetoric, (Day's Praxis), continued,
- Composition.

JUNIOR CLASS.

First Term.

- Logic, (Atwater's),
- Differential Calculus, (Alexander's),
- Tacitus, (Annals), and Latin Themes,
- Thucydides,
- Evidences of Christianity, (Alexander's),
- History,
- Declamation.

Second and Third Terms.

- Intellectual Philosophy, (McCosh's Intuitions),
- Integral Calculus,
- Mechanics,
- Natural Philosophy,
- Juvenal,
- Euripides, (Medea),
- Rhetoric, (Day's Elements),
- Natural Theology, (Paley's),
- Horæ Paulinæ, (Paley's),
- Physical Geography,
- History.

SENIOR CLASS.

First Term.

- Butler's Analogy,
- Natural Philosophy,
- Astronomy.
- Moral Philosophy, (Alexander's),
- Chemistry,
- Geology,
- Botany,
- Civil Architecture,
- Rhetoric, (Day's Elements), and Composition,
- Plato, (Apology of Socrates).

Second and Third Terms.

- Butler's Analogy,
- Constitutional Law,
- Natural Philosophy,
- Astronomy,
- Chemistry,
- Political Economy, (Carey's Manual),
- Elocution, (Hope's),
- Geology,
- Zoology,
- Quintilian,
- General Review of Studies.

All the Classes have Bible recitations on the Sabbath, and also a recitation in the Greek Testament, or on the Evidences of Christianity, on Monday morning.

All the students are required frequently to produce original essays. Those of the three lower classes pronounce orations in the presence of their respective classes. The members of the Senior Class deliver orations of their own composition, as often as the faculty may direct.

Lectures.

In addition to the recitations of the several Classes, the following course of Lectures are delivered on the principal branches of Science and Literature, namely, a course on

Evidences of Revealed Religion,	By the President.
Mechanical Philosophy,	Prof. Alexander.
Physics,	Do.
Astronomy,	Do.
Intellectual Philosophy,	Prof. Atwater.
Moral Philosophy,	Do.
Logic,	Do.
Physical Geography,	Prof. Guyot.
Geology,	Do.
Mathematics,	Prof. Duffield.
Mechanics,	Do.
Chemistry,	Prof. Schanck.
Zoology,	Do.
Anatomy and Physiology,	Do.
Mineralogy,	Do.
Botany,
Rhetoric,	Prof. McIlvaine.
Political Economy,	Do.
The Harmony of Science and Revealed Religion,	Prof. Shields.
Roman Literature,	Prof. Aiken.
Architecture,
Greek Literature,	Dr. Moffat.
English Literature,	Dr. Hart.
History,	Dr. Forsyth.

Gentlemen not connected with the College have the privilege of attending the above lectures by making application to the several lecturers.

Other lectures are frequently given at the same hours in which the recitations are heard, and are therefore attended by none except the members of the several Classes.

Apparatus.

The College possesses a valuable set of Astronomical, Philosophical and Chemical Apparatus, a well-selected Mineralogical Cabinet, a Museum of Natural History, a large collection of drawings for the illustration of the lectures on Architecture, Natural Philosophy, Astronomy, and a full-sized Manikin for the illustration of the lectures on Natural Theology and Anatomy.

To the Apparatus and materials of the Chemical Department, a large and very valuable addition has been made by the purchase of Dr. Torrey's Apparatus and Chemical materials, selected by him during the many years that he was Professor of Chemistry, in the City of New York.

About two thousand specimens have been added to the mineralogical Cabinet from collections made by Dr. Torrey, and the late Rev. Dr. Johnston, of Newburgh, N. Y.

Through the liberality of Caleb H. Shipman, Esq., Newark, N. J., a valuable beginning of a Geological Museum has been made by a collection of three hundred specimens of Fossils, most of which are represented by numerous specimens. These Fossils, collected in the various geological formations of the State of New York, and carefully determined, possess a peculiar interest in relation to the history of life in the earliest geological periods of our globe, so fully developed in the rocks of North America.

A considerable addition has been made to the Geological collection, through the liberality of Gov. Olden; viz: several series of Fossils, containing nearly a thousand species, and numerous casts of large and rare Reptiles.

New collections of fossils of all classes and another set of valuable Casts of large fossil animals, imported from Europe, besides smaller collections from America, have swelled the number of species in the Museum to about 2500. A collection of very fine specimens of coal plants has been contributed by Col. Chas. Scranton; another considerable collection of shells, living and fossil, by John H. Janeway, M. D.; another of fossils from Ohio, by W. J. P. Morrison, of the class of 1861; another of fossils from the marl beds of New Jersey, Illinois and Iowa, by Mr. Augustine Breese, of the class of 1865; a large vertebra of a whale and fossils from Acquia Creek, Va., by Mr. Clay Macauley, of the class of 1864; specimens of the gold-bearing rocks of Colorado and Idaho, by Mr. John Maclean, Jr., a rare shell, by Captain Lavender, and a collection of fossils from Indiana, by the late Rev. Jos. W. Pierson. A collection of over 5000 specimens of Alpine Rocks was presented by Dr. Guyot.

The shells have been recently arranged by Mr. Brown, the Curator of the Museum, who has also made valuable additions to the collections.

A series of large relief Maps and models, physical and geological, of mountains and volcanoes, imported from abroad and executed with great care, forms another feature of interest.

Examinations.

Three public examinations take place during the College year; one at the close of each session. Absence from these examinations is found to be very injurious to the improvement of a student, and renders him liable to be placed in a lower class. Reports respecting the behavior and scholarship of the students are sent to the parents or guardian after each examination.

English Grammar, Arithmetic, and Geography, being required for admission are not included in the College course of instruction; but in order to secure attention to these studies indispensably necessary in every situation of life, the classes are examined on them twice a year, and deficiencies, if any exist, are reported to the parents and guardians.

Public Worship.

PRAYERS are offered in the College Chapel every morning and evening, when one of the Faculty officiates, and all the students are required to be present. They are also required to attend worship in the Chapel on the Sabbath, except such as have permission to attend service in town.

Libraries.

THE College Library contains about fourteen thousand volumes, and is opened on Monday of each week for the accommodation of the Students. Resident Graduates have the privilege of taking out books upon the same terms as Under Graduates. In the Libraries belonging to the two literary societies, there are ten thousand volumes. The total number of volumes, therefore, in the three libraries, is twenty-four thousand.

Expenses.

THE charges for Tuition, Room Rent, Library, Servant's Wages, Washing, Fuel and Incidental Expenses, for the 1st term, and also for the 2d, vary from $57 to $70. But for the 3d term they will not exceed $20.

A deduction of $2.00 from the above sums is made in favor of those students who dispense with all attendance of servants in their private rooms.

The price of Board varies from $4.00 to $6.00 per week. All bills for board must be paid in advance to the Treasurer of the College; and paid in full for the session. If any student change his place of boarding, without the consent of the President of the College, he shall forfeit the sum of $5.00 to be paid to the Treasurer.

No student is permitted to take a room, or to lodge out of the College buildings, unless all the rooms belonging to the College are occupied.

Every student occupying a room in the College buildings, furnishes his own room.

New students pay a matriculation fee of five dollars, and twenty-five cents for a copy of the printed laws.

Each member of the Senior Class is required to pay $9.50 for a diploma at the beginning of the second session of the Senior year, when he pays the other College bills.

When a student is dismissed from College for any cause, the whole amount advanced for board, washing and fuel, from the time of dismission, will be refunded to the order of his parent or guardian.

The degree of A. M. is conferred in course, on every graduate of three years' standing, who, in the interval, shall have sustained a good moral character, and pursued professional or other studies; and who shall make application for the degree, personally or by letter, at least one day previous to the Annual Commencement.

Terms and Vacations.

The College year is divided into three Terms or Sessions. The first term of the next College year will begin on Thursday, the 22d of August, 1867, and will end on Thursday, the 12th of December. The second term will begin on Thursday, the 2d of January, 1868, and will end on Thursday, the 23d of April. The third term will begin on Thursday, the 7th of May, and will end on Wednesday, the 24th of June, 1868—the day of the Annual Commencement.

It is particularly recommended that when practicable, all the students spend their vacations at home with their parents or friends; or when this is inconvenient, that they take boarding elsewhere than in Princeton. It is found that when a number of young persons are collected together without regular occupation or study, the temptations to idleness and dissipation are often too strong to be resisted.

It is highly important that the students should return to College in time to attend the first recitations or lectures of their respective classes, since an absence of a few days at the time when a new branch of study is commenced seldom fails to embarrass the whole course, and in some cases it is impossible to make up the loss.

Public Exercises.

The Annual Commencement takes place on the last Wednesday in June.

On the day preceding the next Commencement, Prof. Edward D. Mansfield, LL.D., will deliver an oration before the Cliosophic and American Whig Societies. Dr. Mansfield is a member of the Cliosophic Society.

AMERICAN WHIG SOCIETY.

Edward C. Hood, N. J.,	Alexander R. Pendleton, Va.,
Dallas V. Mays, Pa.,	E. Marsh Turner, Va.,

THE CLIOSOPHIC SOCIETY.

Alfred H. Fahnestock, Ill.,	Huston Humphreys, Md.,
Samuel M. Hageman, N. J.,	Archibald McCullagh, N. J.

The Annual meeting of the Alumni Association of Nassau Hall, is held in the College Chapel, on the day preceding the Commencement. Communications for this Society may be sent to W. C. Alexander, Esq., Princeton.

Prizes were awarded at the last Commencement to Messrs. William Frame, J. Gibson Lowrie, Samuel M. Murphey, and Charles B. Ogilvie, Junior Orators on that occasion. The prizes are gold medals.

Honorary Appointments.

The highest Honorary Appointments at the Commencement of 1866, were

John K. Cowen,	Latin Salutatory.
Otto Bergner,	Valedictory.
John S. Sherrill.,	English Salutatory.
Robert Harbison,	Classical Oration.
John B. McPherson,	Philosophical Oration.
William Morsell,	Philosophical Oration.
Robert C. Dalzell,	Physical Oration.
R. W. Butterfield,	Physical Oration.

Bible Prizes.

A friend of the College, a lady of New York City, has given the College $1000, the yearly interest of which is to be expended in the purchase of two copies of Matthew Henry's Commentary on the Bible, to be presented to the two best biblical scholars of every Senior Class, at the end of their College course.

The Jerome Prizes.

Leonard W. Jerome, Esq., of New York City, has given to the Trustees of the College $5000, the interest of which is to be expended annually, for the purchase of two prizes to be awarded to members of the Senior Class, one from each Literary Society of the College, who shall be designated by a vote of their classmates as the most deserving on the score of gentlemanly conduct, which, as is justly considered by the donor, has its foundation in a due regard to the feelings of others. The selections made by the members of the class must have the approval of the Faculty.

Prohibited Secret Societies.

The following resolutions in regard to Secret Societies, were passed unanimously, by the Trustees of the College, at their meeting on the 28th and 29th of June, 1855.

RESOLVED, That with respect to prohibited secret societies, the Trustees approve of the action of the Faculty, in their requiring students about to enter College, to pledge themselves NOT to join any secret societies; and that they urge the Faculty to put an end to these secret societies.

RESOLVED, That the President be directed at the opening of the next session of the College, to announce publicly to the students, that the subject of prohibited secret societies was deliberately considered by the Trustees, and the Faculty were, by a unanimous vote, required promptly to dismiss any student known after that date to be a member of such an association.

Free Scholarships and other Endowments.

SOME friends of the College have endowed a number of scholarships of One Thousand Dollars each, which are designed to extend the usefulness and privileges of the Institution on the following terms and conditions:

1. The donor of each scholarship has the privilege of naming it, and of selecting the student who shall enjoy its income, subject in all cases to the rules and regulations of the College.

2. Whenever a scholarship is vacant, its income is to be at the disposal of the Board of Trustees.

3. Scholarships may be maintained by the annual payment of sixty dollars as interest, until the principal sum of One Thousand Dollars is paid. In this case, they lapse, of course, when the annual interest fails, unless the principal sum has been paid.

4. Those who are placed upon these scholarships must be fully prepared for admission to College, and when admitted, must conform to its laws and regulations. In all cases of competing claims for scholarships at the disposal of the Faculty, the preference shall be given to those best prepared for College. The relative attainments in all cases to be determined by the Faculty, and other things being equal, preference is to be given to such as enter the Freshman Class.

5. Candidates must, in all cases, present testimonials of good moral character.

6. Churches contributing a Thousand Dollars each, may, if they desire it, place upon that foundation, the sons of their ministers, or, in lieu of that, may nominate some other candidate to receive its avails.

The advantages of such scholarships in increasing the resources of the Institution, extending its privileges to many young men of promise who would otherwise fail of them, and in elevating the standard of liberal education, are obvious. The founding of them must greatly promote the interests of the College, and the thorough and liberal training of its students. The co-operation of the friends of Princeton, especially the Alumni, is earnestly solicited, for the purpose of enlarging this Fund, either by their own donations, or by inducing others to contribute to it, whether by gift or bequest.

Besides this form of endowment, the friends of the College have been engaged during the past three years in increasing the Fund for the direct support of its Professors and Teachers. One gentleman, John I. Blair, Esq., of Blairstown, N. J., has endowed the Professorship of Geology and Physical Geography, by the munificent donation of Thirty Thousand Dollars. In addition to this, a single family has contributed Thirty-five Thousand Dollars as a fund for the support of the President. A sum of over Fifty Thousand Dollars additional has been added to the Sustentation Fund, by donations from other friends of the Institution. The scholarships which have been also given, raise the entire fund contributed by the liberality of friends and graduates, to more than One Hundred and Thirty-five Thousand Dollars.

The guardians of the College, grateful for this seasonable liberality of its friends, which ensures its stability and safety, invite the attention of all interested, to the forms in which judicious donations and endowments may yet increase its educational resources and equipments. Funds for the enlargement of the Library, Apparatus, Cabinets; for Prizes to stimulate effort in the various departments; for the endowment of scholarships, and of existing Professorships, or the founding of new ones, will all contribute to maintain and advance the usefulness of the Institution.

The College is moreover in possession of a fund of Ten Thousand Dollars, for the building of an Astronomical Observatory; the munificent gift of Gen. N. Norris Halsted. The Trustees have purchased a site for the building, at an expense of Four Thousand Five Hundred Dollars. The foundation of the Observatory is already laid, and it is expected that the building will be completed in the course of the Summer.

N. B.—It having been ascertained that the sum above mentioned is not sufficient for the erection of the building, General Halsted has assumed the whole expense of its erection, and the furnishing of instruments will proceed as rapidly as the assistance of friends may permit.

APPENDIX.

Terms of Admission.

Candidates for admission to the Freshman, or lowest class, are examined in Cæsar's Commentaries (5 books), Sallust, Virgil, (Eclogues, and six books of the Æneid), Cicero's Select Orations, (six,) Arnold's Latin Prose Composition, twenty exercises, the Gospels in the Greek Testament, Bullion's or Felton's Greek Reader, and two books of the Anabasis, or other authors equivalent in quantity, together with Latin and Greek Grammars, including Latin Prosody; also, on English Grammar, Arithmetic, Algebra, (through simple equations), Geography, ancient and modern.

Examinations for admission will be held by the Faculty, on the Saturday and the Monday immediately preceding the Annual Commencement.

Candidates can be examined at any time during the College Sessions: but it is recommended that they apply for admission on the days above mentioned, or at the beginning of a term.

Every student admitted to a class higher than the Freshman, is examined on the previous studies of the class which he wishes to enter.

An accurate acquaintance with the studies required for admission is indispensably necessary, in order to receive the full advantage of the College course.

It is found from experience, that students imperfectly prepared for the classes which they enter, are embarrassed in their future progress and are seldom able to repair the want of solid preparatory instruction.

To prevent disappointment, it should be distinctly understood, that a thorough knowledge of preliminary studies is more likely to insure admission and to enable the student to improve the advantages of this Institution, than a superficial acquaintance with some higher branches of literature and science.

In all cases testimonials of moral character are required; and if the student has been a member of another College, he must bring with him a certificate from the President or Faculty, that he is free from censure in that institution.

N. B. No one is admitted without an examination by members of the Faculty.

Course of Instruction.

The whole course of instruction requires four years; namely, one year in each of the four classes into which the students are divided.

The Freshman and Sophomore classes are instructed by the Professors aided by the Tutors. The Junior and the Senior classes by the President and Professors.

The studies of the several classes are as follows:

FRESHMAN CLASS.

FIRST TERM.

- Livy, (21st Book),
- Herodotus, (1st Book),
- Kuhner's Greek Grammar,
- Latin and Greek Exercises, (Arnold's Prose),
- Algebra, completed,

- Juvenal,
- Euripides, (Medea),
- Rhetoric, (Day's Elements),
- Natural Theology, (Paley's),
- Horæ Paulinæ, (Paley's),
- Physical Geography,
- History.

SENIOR CLASS.

FIRST TERM.

- Butler's Analogy,
- Natural Philosophy,
- Astronomy,
- Moral Philosophy, (Alexander's),
- Chemistry,
- Geology,
- Botany,
- Civil Architecture,
- Rhetoric, (Day's Elements), and Composition,
- Plato, (Apology of Socrates).

SECOND TERM.

- Butler's Analogy,
- Constitutional Law,
- Natural Philosophy,
- Astronomy,
- Chemistry,
- Political Economy, (Carey's Manual,)
- Elocution, (Hope's).
- Geology,
- Zoology,
- Quintilian,
- General Review of Studies.

All the Classes have Bible recitations on the Sabbath, and also a recitation in the Greek Testament, or on the Evidences of Christianity, on Monday morning.

All the students are required frequently to produce original essays. Those of the three lower classes pronounce orations in the presence of their respective classes. The members of the Senior Class deliver orations of their own composition, as often as the faculty may direct.

Lectures.

In addition to the recitations of the several Classes, the following course of Lectures are delivered on the principal branches of Science and Literature, namely, a course on

Evidences of Revealed Religion,	By the President.
Mechanical Philosophy,	Prof. Alexander.
Physics,	Do.
Astronomy,	Do.
Intellectual Philosophy,	Prof. Atwater.
Moral Philosophy,	Do.
Logic,	Do.
Physical Geography,	Prof. Guyot.
Geology,	Do.
Mathematics,	Prof. Duffield.
Mechanics,	Do.
Chemistry,	Prof. Schanck.
Zoology,	Do.
Anatomy and Physiology,	Do.
Mineralogy,	Do.
Botany,
Rhetoric,	Prof. McIlvaine.
Political Economy,	Do.
The Harmony of Science and Revealed Religion,	Prof. Shields.
Roman Literature,	Prof. Aiken.
Architecture,
Greek Literature,	Dr. Moffat.
English Literature,	Dr. Hart.
History,	Dr. Forsyth.

Gentlemen not connected with the College have the privilege of attending the above lectures by making application to the several lecturers.

Other lectures are frequently given at the same hours in which the recitations are heard, and are therefore attended by none except the members of the several Classes.

Apparatus.

The College possesses a valuable set of Astronomical, Philosophical and Chemical Apparatus, a well-selected Mineralogical Cabinet, a Museum of Natural History, a large collection of drawings for the illustration of the lectures on Architecture, Natural Philosophy, Astronomy, and a full-sized Manikin for the illustration of the lectures on Natural Theology and Anatomy.

To the Apparatus and materials of the Chemical Department, a large and very valuable addition has been made by the purchase of Dr. Torrey's Apparatus and Chemical materials, selected by him during the many years that he was Professor of Chemistry, in the City of New York.

About two thousand specimens have been added to the mineralogical Cabinet from collections made by Dr. Torrey, and the late Rev. Dr. Johnston, of Newburgh, N. Y.

Through the liberality of Caleb H. Shipman, Esq., Newark, N. J., a valuable beginning of a Geological Museum has been made by a collection of three hundred specimens of Fossils, most of which are represented by numerous specimens. These Fossils, collected in the various geological formations of the State of New York, and carefully determined, possess a peculiar interest in relation to the history of life in the earliest geological periods of our globe, so fully developed in the rocks of North America.

A considerable addition has been made to the Geological collection, through the liberality of Gov. Olden; viz: several series of Fossils, containing nearly a thousand species, and numerous casts of large and rare Reptiles.

New collections of fossils of all classes and another set of valuable Casts of large fossil animals, imported from Europe, besides smaller collections from America, have swelled the number of species in the Museum to about 2500. A collection of very fine specimens of coal plants has been contributed by Col. Chas. Scranton; another considerable collection of shells, living and fossil, by John H. Janeway, M. D.; another of fossils from Ohio, by W. J. P. Morrison, of the class of 1861; another of fossils from the marl beds of New Jersey, Illinois and Iowa, by Mr. Augustine Breese, of the class of 1865; a large vertebra of a whale and fossils from Acquia Creek, Va., by Mr. Clay Macauley, of the class of 1864; specimens of the gold-bearing rocks of Colorado and Idaho, by Mr. John Maclean, Jr., a rare shell, by Captain Lavender, and a collection of fossils from Indiana, by the late Rev. Jos. W. Pierson. A collection of over 5000 specimens of Alpine Rocks was presented by Dr. Guyot.

The shells have been recently arranged by Mr. Brown, the Curator of the Museum, who has also made valuable additions to the collections.

A series of large relief Maps and models, physical and geological, of mountains and volcanoes, imported from abroad and executed with great care, forms another feature of interest.

Examinations.

Three public examinations take place during the College year; one at the close of each session. Absence from these examinations is found to be very injurious to the improvement of a student, and renders him liable to be placed in a lower class. Reports respecting the behavior and scholarship of the students are sent to the parents or guardian after each examination.

Public Worship.

Prayers are offered in the College Chapel every morning and evening, when one of the Faculty officiates, and all the students are required to be present. They are also required to attend worship in the Chapel on the Sabbath, except such as have permission to attend service in town.

Libraries.

The College Library contains about fourteen thousand volumes, and is opened on Monday of each week for the accommodation of the Students. Resident Graduates have the privilege of taking out books upon the same terms as Under Graduates. In the Libraries belonging to the two literary societies, there are ten thousand volumes. The total number of volumes, therefore, in the three libraries, is twenty-four thousand.

Expenses.

The charges for Tuition, Room Rent, Library, Servants' Wages, Washing, Fuel and Incidental Expenses, for the 1st term, vary from $53 to $69. But for the 2d and 3d terms, from $78 to $84.

A deduction of $2.00 from the above sums is made in favor of those students who dispense with all attendance of servants in their private rooms.

The price of Board varies from $4.00 to $6.00 per week. All bills for board must be paid in advance to the Treasurer of the College; and paid in full for the session. If any student change his place of boarding, without the consent of the President of the College, he shall forfeit the sum of $5.00 to be paid to the Treasurer.

No student is permitted to take a room, or to lodge out of the College buildings, unless all the rooms belonging to the College are occupied.

Every student occupying a room in the College buildings, furnishes his own room.

New students pay a matriculation fee of five dollars, and twenty-five cents for a copy of the printed laws.

Each member of the Senior Class is required to pay $9.50 for a diploma at the beginning of the second session of the Senior year, when he pays the other College bills, and also $5.00 toward defraying the expenses of Commencement.

When a student is dismissed from College for any cause, the whole amount advanced for board, washing and fuel, from the time of dismission, will be refunded to the order of his parent or guardian.

The degree of A. M. is conferred in course, on every graduate of three years' standing, who, in the interval, shall have sustained a good moral character, and pursued professional or other studies; and who shall make application for the degree, personally or by letter, at least one day previous to the Annual Commencement.

Terms and Vacations.

The College year is divided into three Terms or Sessions. The first term of the next College year will begin on Thursday, the 20th of August, 1868, and will end on Thursday, the 10th of December. The second term will begin on Thursday, the 7th of January, 1869, and will end on Thursday, the 29th of April. The third term will begin on Thursday, the 13th of May, and will end on Wednesday, the 30th of June, 1869—the day of the Annual Commencement.

It is particularly recommended that when practicable, all the students spend their vacations at home with their parents or friends; or when this is inconvenient, that they take boarding elsewhere than in Princeton. It is found that when a number of young persons are collected together without regular occupation or study, the temptations to idleness and dissipation are often too strong to be resisted.

It is highly important that the students should return to College in time to attend the first recitations or lectures of their respective classes, since an absence of a few days at the time when a new branch of study is commenced seldom fails to embarrass the whole course, and in some cases it is impossible to make up the loss.

Public Exercises.

The Annual Commencement takes place on the last Wednesday in June.

On the day preceding the next Commencement, Thomas N. McCarter, Esq., will deliver an oration before the American Whig and Cliosophic Societies. Mr. McCarter is a member of the American Whig Society.

AMERICAN WHIG SOCIETY,

James T. Finley, Ala.,	William H. Park, W. Va.,
John P. Irvin, Pa.,	Winfield S. Stites, N. J.

THE CLIOSOPHIC SOCIETY.

John W. Aitken, N. Y.,	James McLeod, Ireland,
John F. Hageman, Jr., N. J.,	Eugene F. Wells, N. Y.

The Annual meeting of the Alumni Association of Nassau Hall, is held in the College Chapel, on the day preceding the Commencement. Communications for this Society may be sent to W. C. Alexander, Esq., Princeton.

Prizes were awarded at the last Commencement to Messrs. Alfred H. Fahnestock, Edward C. Hood, Samuel M. Hageman, and Alexander Pendleton.

Honorary Appointments.

The highest Honorary Appointments at the Commencement of 1866, were

Lewis F. Stearns,	Latin Salutatory.
Richard W. Parker,	Valedictory.
Oliver M. Green,	English Salutatory.
Francis E. Marsh,	Philosophical Oration.
George Rigg,	Mathematical Oration.
Arthur R. Morris,	Philosophical Oration.
Wm. M. Johnson,	Classical Oration.
Richard G. Stretch,	Philosophical Oration.
John W. Swarts,	Metaphysical Oration.
Joseph L. Potter,	Physical Oration.
James G. Lowrie,	Belles Lettres Oration.

Bible Prizes.

A friend of the College, has given the College $1000, the yearly interest of which is to be expended in the purchase of two copies of Matthew Henry's Commentary on the Bible, to be presented to the two best biblical scholars of every Senior Class, at the end of their College course.

Prohibited Secret Societies.

The following resolutions in regard to Secret Societies, were passed unanimously, by the Trustees of the College, at their meeting on the 28th and 29th of June, 1855.

RESOLVED, That with respect to prohibited secret societies, the Trustees approve of the action of the Faculty, in their requiring students about to enter College, to pledge themselves NOT to join any secret societies; and that they urge the Faculty to put an end to these secret societies.

RESOLVED, That the President be directed at the opening of the next session of the College, to announce publicly to the students, that the subject of prohibited secret societies was deliberately considered by the Trustees, and the Faculty were, by a unanimous vote, required promptly to dismiss any student known after that date to be a member of such an association.

Free Scholarships and other Endowments.

SOME friends of the College have endowed a number of scholarships of One Thousand Dollars each, which are designed to extend the usefulness and privileges of the Institution on the following terms and conditions:

1. The donor of each scholarship has the privilege of naming it, and of selecting the student who shall enjoy its income, subject in all cases to the rules and regulations of the College.

2. Whenever a scholarship is vacant, its income is to be at the disposal of the Board of Trustees.

3. Scholarships may be maintained by the annual payment of sixty dollars as interest, until the principal sum of One Thousand Dollars is paid. In this case, they lapse, of course, when the annual interest fails, unless the principal sum has been paid.

4. Those who are placed upon these scholarships must be fully prepared for admission to College, and when admitted, must conform to its laws and regulations. In all cases of competing claims for scholarships at the disposal of the Faculty, the preference shall be given to those best prepared for College. The relative attainments in all cases to be determined by the Faculty, and other things being equal, preference is to be given to such as enter the Freshman Class.

5. Candidates must, in all cases, present testimonials of good moral character.

6. Churches contributing a Thousand Dollars each, may, if they desire it, place upon that foundation, the sons of their ministers, or, in lieu of that, may nominate some other candidate to receive its avails.

The advantages of such scholarships in increasing the resources of the Institution, extending its privileges to many young men of promise who would otherwise fail of them, and in elevating the standard of liberal education, are obvious. The founding of them must greatly promote the interests of the College, and the thorough and liberal training of its students. The co-operation of the friends of Princeton, especially of the Alumni, is earnestly solicited, for the purpose of enlarging this Fund, either by their own donations, or by inducing others to contribute to it, whether by gift or bequest.

Besides this form of endowment, the friends of the College have been engaged during the past four years in increasing the Fund for the direct support of its Professors and Teachers. One gentleman, John I. Blair, Esq., of Blairstown, N. J., has endowed the Professorship of Geology and Physical Geography, by the munificent donation of Thirty Thousand Dollars. In addition to this, a single family has contributed Thirty-five Thousand Dollars as a fund for the support of the President. A sum of over Fifty Thousand Dollars additional has been added to the Sustentation Fund, by donations from other friends of the Institution. The scholarships which have been also given, raise the entire funds contributed by the liberality of friends and graduates, to more than One Hundred and Thirty-five Thousand Dollars.

The guardians of the College, grateful for this seasonable liberality of its friends, which ensures its stability and safety, invite the attention of all interested, to the forms in which judicious donations and endowments may yet increase its educational resources and equipments. Funds for the enlargement of the Library, Apparatus, Cabinets; for Prizes to stimulate effort in the various departments; for the endowment of scholarships, and of existing Professorships, or the founding of new ones, will all contribute to maintain and advance the usefulness of the Institution.

The Halsted Observatory.

The Astronomical Observatory building, erected through the munificence of General N. N. Halsted, will be fully completed before the ensuing Commencement.

Prohibited Secret Societies.

The following resolutions in regard to Secret Societies, were passed unanimously, by the Trustees of the College, at their meeting on the 28th and 29th of June, 1855.

RESOLVED, That with respect to prohibited secret societies, the Trustees approve of the action of the Faculty, in their requiring students about to enter College, to pledge themselves NOT to join any secret societies; and that they urge the Faculty to put an end to these secret societies.

RESOLVED, That the President be directed at the opening of the next session of the College, to announce publicly to the students, that the subject of prohibited secret societies was deliberately considered by the Trustees, and the Faculty were, by a unanimous vote, required promptly to dismiss any student known after that date to be a member of such an association.

Free Scholarships and other Endowments.

SOME friends of the College have endowed a number of scholarships of One Thousand Dollars each, which are designed to extend the usefulness and privileges of the Institution on the following terms and conditions:

1. The donor of each scholarship has the privilege of naming it, and of selecting the student who shall enjoy its income, subject in all cases to the rules and regulations of the College.

2. Whenever a scholarship is vacant, its income is to be at the disposal of the Board of Trustees.

3. Scholarships may be maintained by the annual payment of sixty dollars as interest, until the principal sum of One Thousand Dollars is paid. In this case, they lapse, of course, when the annual interest fails, unless the principal sum has been paid.

4. Those who are placed upon these scholarships must be fully prepared for admission to College, and when admitted, must conform to its laws and regulations. In all cases of competing claims for scholarships at the disposal of the

4. Those who are placed upon these scholarships must be fully prepared for admission to College, and when admitted, must conform to its laws and regulations. In all cases of competing claims for scholarships at the disposal of the Faculty, the preference shall be given to those best prepared for College. The relative attainments in all cases to be determined by the Faculty, and other things being equal, preference is to be given to such as enter the Freshman Class.

5. Candidates must, in all cases, present testimonials of good moral character.

6. Churches contributing a Thousand Dollars each, may, if they desire it, place upon that foundation, the sons of their ministers, or, in lieu of that, may nominate some other candidate to receive its avails.

The advantages of such scholarships in increasing the resources of the Institution, extending its privileges to many young men of promise who would otherwise fail of them, and in elevating the standard of liberal education, are obvious. The founding of them must greatly promote the interests of the College, and the thorough and liberal training of its students. The co-operation of the friends of Princeton, especially of the Alumni, is earnestly solicited, for the purpose of enlarging this Fund, either by their own donations, or by inducing others to contribute to it, whether by gift or bequest.

Besides this form of endowment, the friends of the College have been engaged during the past four years in increasing the Fund for the direct support of its Professors and Teachers. One gentleman, John I. Blair, Esq., of Blairstown, N. J., has endowed the Professorship of Geology and Physical Geography, by the munificent donation of Thirty Thousand Dollars. In addition to this, a single family has contributed Thirty-five Thousand Dollars as a fund for the support of the President. A sum of over Fifty Thousand Dollars additional has been added to the Sustentation Fund, by donations from other friends of the Institution. The scholarships which have been also given, raise the entire funds contributed by the liberality of friends and graduates, to more than One Hundred and Thirty-five Thousand Dollars.

The guardians of the College, grateful for this seasonable liberality of its friends, which ensures its stability and safety, invite the attention of all interested, to the forms in which judicious donations and endowments may yet increase its educational resources and equipments. Funds for the enlargement of the Library, Apparatus, Cabinets; for Prizes to stimulate effort in the various departments; for the endowment of scholarships, and of existing Professorships, or the founding of new ones, will all contribute to maintain and advance the usefulness of the Institution.

The Halsted Observatory.

The Astronomical Observatory building, erected through the munificence of General N. N. Halsted, will be fully completed before the ensuing Commencement.
